UMATILLA LEADS STATE IN HONEY PRODUCTION

PENDLETON, July 12—There is a probability the next state convention of the Oregon bee keepers association will be held in Pendleton, in December. The last session was held at Salem and it is desired to hold the next meeting in Eastern Oregon as commercial honey raising is confined more to this section than Western Oregon. The selection of the meeting place rests with the officers, A. J. Sanford of Redmond, being president and H. A. Scullen, secretary-treasurer. At the present time this county ships about 20 cars of honey annually.

Umatilla county ranks first in Oregon in the production of honey. So says H. A. Scullen, O. A. C. bee specialist.

Other Oregon counties may have more bees than has Umatilla county Mr. Scullen states, but bee keepers of this county are good business men and the actual amount of honey produced is greater than in any other county in the state.

Most of the bees in this county are in the east and west ends and depend mostly on alfalfa blooms for their food.

CONSTANCE BINNEY IS AT ARCADE

A romance of the pawnshop is "The Magic Cup," Constance Binney's latest picture, now at the Arcade for the last time tonight. The heroine is a poor little New York working girl, and her magic cup is an old silver goblet, her one heirloom, which she pawns and later redeems, whenever she needs money.

A two-reel comedy, "Blue Sunday," is on the same program.

"COUNTY FAIR" IS COMING TO ARCADE

Maurice Tourneur's picturization of "The County Fair" comes to the Arcade theatre for three days commencing Thursday.

It's the big screen version of Neil Burgess' famous play which took the country by storm some season's back. The picturization is bigger and finer than the original story and it is a sure first winner both for its fine rural types, its quaint humor and the fun and excitement of a county fair ending with the greatest horse race that was ever staged for a screen production.

Wesley Barry, the freckled face boy hero of "Dinty," has a prominent part in "The County Fair."

FITZ MAURICE FILM IS AT SHERRY'S FOR TODAY ONLY

The photoplay attraction at the Sherry Theatre today will be "The Right to Love," produced by George Fitzmaurice and featuring Mae Murray and David Powell.

Miss Murray has the role of an American girl, who leads a wretched life with her husband, Sir Archibald Falkland. In an effort to compromise his wife so he may marry another woman, Sir Archibald installs Prince Stanislaus in his home. Colonel Richard Loring arrives in time to rescue her from the Prince, though in the resulting mix-up, Loring shoots Falk and dead.

"The Right to Love" is declared to abound in beautiful scenes, most of them made in Florida.

A comedy is also being shown.

Quoits an Ancient Game.

The game of quoits was probably played in the streets of Jamestown, St. Mary's City, Port Tobacco, Dumfries and Piscataway, ancient towns in tidewater Virginia and Maryland, by the early citizens of these places. It was no doubt played in the stable yard of the barnyard of southern and eastern homes more than a century before America began to think of a Declaration of Independence. White men in buckskin clothes and coonskin caps, and ladies nearly naked looked on as the players tested the horseshoes and did or did not "ring" the "hob."

Won't Miss It.

A woman may have an engagement with you and keep you waiting several hours, but if it's a train you are going to take she'll quite sure to get you to the depot an hour ahead of time.
