Dictionary's Last Word.

For a long time dictionary makers were content to stop at Zymology and Zymurgy, words that have to do with the science of fermentation. Then somebody came along with Zyxomma. Now the compilers of the Oxford dictionary, begun in 1844 by Murray and the English Philological society have found still another last word: Zyx. This is a Kentish dialect word, coming down from the Fourteenth century, and it means "seest." It hardly seems likely that Zyx will ever be ousted from its place as the last word in the English language.

Flowers Found New Homes. It is not generally known that the belladonna lily was procured from South America in 1828, while the Guernsey lily was brought from Japan and was first cultivated at the beginning of the Seventeenth century in the garden of an Englishman in Paris. This plant is said to have derived its name from the following episode. A ship, laden with ballus, was wrecked off the coast of Guernsey. A number of the ballus were cast upon the shore and took root in the soil, where they grow rapidly.

Friction Match First Used in 1827. The friction match, said to be the invention of John Walker, an English druggist, was introduced in the year 1827. Walker's match consisted of a wooden splint or stick or cardboard coated with sulphur and tipped with a mixture of sulphur and tipped with sulphide of antimony and powdered gum. The match was ignited by being drawn through a piece of bent sandpaper.

Musical Gifts of Boys and Girls. The higher musical endowments in male children are shown plainly in vocal and piano classes, where it seems inevitable that the most expert and brightest students are boys. For every musical girl, there appears to be five boys equally gifted. They have naturally a better idea of harmony and instinctively grasp musical values, which, in the majority of cases, become understood by their feminine rivals only by dint of hard study.—Exchange.

MAY POSTPONE ALBERS' TRIAL

PORTLAND, July 25.—Reports of the serious illness of J. Henry Albers, convicted violator of the espionage act, a mandate for whose retrial has been received from the Supreme Court at Washington, by Lester W. Humphries, has been verified by Dr. Joseph E. Wood, the government physician. Humphries announced today. Humphries said the doctor's report would be sent to Washington with the request for permission from the attorney general to postpone the trial. Should Albers' disability prove permanent, Humphries said he would ask a dismissal of the charges. Albers is reported to be totally blind and paralyzed on the left side.

ANOTHER PALMER BROTHER PASSES

George Palmer received a telegram Sunday morning stating that his brother, Andrew Palmer, of State Center, Iowa, had passed away. This is the second death in the Palmer family within a week, another brother, Adelbert Palmer, of this city, having passed to the beyond on Thursday evening. The funeral of Adelbert Palmer was held Sunday afternoon from the Henry Chapel. Besides George Palmer of this city, another brother survives, Harrison, of Tacoma, Washington. George Palmer was unable to attend the funeral in the east. His brother was 61 years of age, and an old soldier. He is survived by one daughter.

GREEKS INFLECT LOSSES. & SMYRNA, July 25.—The Turkish attempt to restore Eski-Shehr and Inezna failed. Severe losses were inflicted by the Greeks, one Endre of the Turkish division being captured. The fighting lasted forty-eight hours. The Greeks followed up their advantage energetically.

PIONEERS OF WALLOWA CO. HOLD MEETING

(Continued from Page One.) realize what wonderful things have been done in the same time." Passing on through history, he spoke of the early days of our national life; of the pioneers on the Atlantic coast, who though trained to believe that government came from God and was made manifest through one person, yet they founded a nation altogether opposed to the divine right of kings, a nation which believes the people have the right to rule, to worship God as they desire, to educate their children in their own way. He also spoke of that pioneer, Jef-

person, the strict constructionist who did not believe in increasing our territory, yet when Napoleon wanted to raise money and sell Louisiana, said that he "would stretch the constitution until it cracked if necessary to obtain that land."

Three of Five Left. Paying tribute to the heroes of 1801-65 he hurried on to the journey of Whitman and his 1,000 pioneers to their western homes. He paid a glowing tribute to the three men who were present, James Tulley, James Masterson, and Wesley White, all that were left of the first five settlers in our little valley. He spoke further of the fathers and mothers of those earlier days, and what endurance they showed in traveling over the rugged trail, of the hardships, sicknesses, and even death—for from those who crossed the plains thousands were called to the higher life. He also pictured the hostile Indians, and the homes and the hospitality of the early settlers.

"That the pioneer spirit of economy is still evidenced in Wallowa county is shown by the fact that this county has the most economical county court in the state and its road work is being done on the most economical basis of any. It is not paralleled in the state of Oregon. Today we are getting away from this spirit, I figured up the other day and found that all the income from the wheat, cattle and sheep in this state will not pay the cost of running the autos of the state." He also touched lightly on the problems of the present day, ending with the words of the poet, "March on! March on!"

Mrs. Elmer Waugh sang two selections, "Little Puff of Smoke, Good-bye," by Lardner and "Nothin' But Love," by Alsop, accompanied by Mrs. Edward Holmes on the piano. The report of the historical committee was given by Mrs. W. W. White, of Enterprise. The pioneers' book is in the making and when completed and ready to be handed over, will be well worth the while. A suggestion was made that a memorial committee be formed to keep those who are called from the ranks here to the Higher Life.

Special Pictures Taken.

Pictures were taken of all the pioneers present and several special pictures were made, such as the first couple married in the county, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schaeffer, who were married in 1873; the first white child born here, Mrs. F. C. Knott, nee Sarah Bramlett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Bramlett, born July 13, 1872. There were eleven present who came in during the year 1872. They were James Tulley, James Masterson, Wesley White, Robert Masterson and wife, Henry Schaeffer and wife, J. P. Johnson, E. Johnson, Mrs. Hayes and Mrs. Sarah Wright. The first death was that of a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Bramlett, and her grave can be seen today on a knoll on the side of Smith Mountain.

At the business meeting the following officers were re-elected: President, J. B. Olmstead; vice-president, Mrs. W. W. White; secretary-treasurer John McDonald. Historical committee is Mrs. W. W. White, Enterprise, chairman; Mrs. A. C. McCulley, of Joseph and Mrs. Mark Crow, of Lostine. Memorial committee, Mrs. Victoria Moody, of Enterprise, chairman; she to choose her co-workers.

In the evening the audience, facing the campfire, had a real community sing. This part of the entertainment was under the auspices of the Wallowa Woman's Club, directed by H. M. Vaught, accompanied by Mrs. Edward Holmes at the piano. Melodies of old were sung and some that are new, interspersed by stories, real and unreal, told by the pioneers themselves, James Masterson, James Tulley and Walter Pierce being the leading spirits. When expressions of appreciation had been adopted, announcement made that the next meeting would be held at Lostine, the meeting stood adjourned.

It needed but to have the suggestion made, when the seats were pushed together, forming a real floor, and the pioneers showed how the old quadrille was danced. The calls were given from memory and two or three sets were called and danced.

Grand Lodge Busy Body.

Approximately 1400 delegates attended the 1921 grand lodge of Elks at Los Angeles, reports Chas. R. Harding, who has returned after representing La Grande Lodge No. 433, B. P. O. E. The session was replete with interesting legislation, Chief among these of local interest, was the decision of that august body to not put financial support behind the Bend hunting lodge scheme. The committee recommended it but the lodge turned it down as out of jurisdiction, but sanctioned such a move by the state association provided that body could finance it. The grand lodge also voted to build a $2,400,000 memorial at Chicago, wherein will be housed the executive offices of the lodge and from which will be published an Elks monthly paper on their own printing plant.

Mr. Harding reports plenty of amusement and entertainment but primarily it was a work convention, and a profitable one, at that. Many of the nation's biggest men were active in the affairs of the floor.
