COAL MINERS ARE IDLE IN THE EAST

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 4.—Unemployment of 150,000 coal miners daily, with many thousands others idle much of the time, is reported by officers of the United Mine Workers of America, who assert the idleness is due to lack of a market for coal. State officials here in touch with the coal trade and the coal operators also maintain there is no market for coal, adding that a famine is threatened unless the household consumers lay in their winter supply now.

Indiana mines, which produce approximately 25,000,000 tons annually, are estimated by officials to have turned out about 10,000,000 tons for the first half of the year, with the average monthly production falling below 1,500,000 tons the last three months. More than half of the time lost this year is rated by the operators, to have been due to "no market." For the country as a whole, the soft coal production is said to be 65,000,000 tons behind the average of the last four years. Hard coal production is said to be slightly higher than in the last several years.

Thousands of miners have not worked enough to be listed in the membership of the union, but the exact number has not been announced although in Indiana it is known that the union loss in membership at present exceeds 12,000. The present total membership is between 37,000 and 38,000, as compared with more than 29,000 at the opening of the year. Union officials say the only strike or lockout situation are in Mingo county, W. Va., and the state of Washington.

Garry Littlejohn, Indiana state mine inspector, declares the 300 mines in Indiana are working less than half time, and he says a fuel famine is NOT to be unexpected unless the domestic consumers begin storing the winter supply of coal now.

LOANS FOR LIVE STOCK INDUSTRY

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 4.—Under an amendment to the farm loan bank act introduced by Senator Borah, the government's lien against lands on reclamation projects, for construction charges will not be regarded as a first mortgage in the consideration of applications for loans. Under the present law lenders on reclamation projects, who are still indebted to the government for construction charges cannot borrow money from farm loan banks. Senators on all of the western projects have been petitioning for a change in the law.

He will investigate and report to congress upon the following subjects: The cause of the present condition of agriculture; the cause of the difference between the prices of agricultural products paid to the producer and the ultimate cost paid by the consumer; the comparative condition of industries other than agriculture; the relation of prices of commodities other than agricultural products to such products; the marketing and transportation facilities of the country.

THE BRANDING IRON AT SHERY THEATRE

Seldin is a more notable cast enlisted for a screen production, than those who enacted the latest Goldwyn motion picture, "The Branding Iron," a Reginald Barker production, which comes to the Sherry Theatre Friday and Saturday.

In this picture the roles are so distinctive, the types so pronounced, and the situations so tense and dramatic as to require ability of the highest rank.

Barbara Castleton, in the role of Joan Carver, about whom the story centers, never had a role which offered more opportunity for her distinctive talents.

Russell Simpson is cast in the role of John Carter, the dissolute, utterly degraded father of Joan.

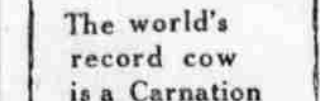

Richard Tucker, who plays the role of Prosper Gail, had a successful stage career before he went into motion pictures. He has appeared in many of the most notable of recent screen productions, among them the Goldenweird picture, "Dangerous Days," another Reginald Barker production. Sydney Answorth, who enacts the role of Prosper Moreno, has an enviable reputation on the stage and screen.

Albert Roscoe, playing the role of the Rev. Frank Hollis, is a well known leading man with many screen successes to his record.

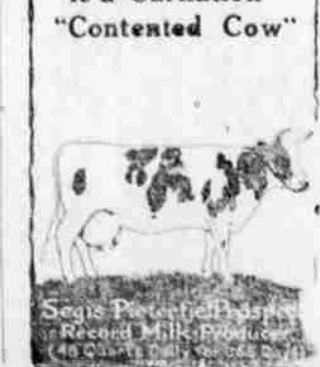

"The Branding Iron" is the story of a young girl, Joan Carver, who is branded by an infatuated husband, who believed her to be unfaithful.

The screams of Joan, as the iron seared her left arm, brought Prosper Gail to the ranchhouse, gun in hand. Unhesitatingly he levelled his rifle and ended the torture of Joan by removing the cause. With her husband shot, acting upon the suggestion of Prosper, Joan left the ranch in a weakened condition, and fainted before she arrived at the home of Prosper.

She awoke to find herself in a warm, comfortable, and luxurious room, furnished in Oriental fashion. The dramatic situations in this picture are gripping, and the powerful love theme around which the story develops are thrilling—and will not be easily forgotten.

CONNIE TILMADGE AT THE ARCADE THEATRE

Tomorrow there will be seen on the screen of the Arcade Theatre "Mamma's Affair," presented by Joseph M. Schenck and released by Associated First National, in which Constance Talmadge is the star. This picture will also be shown at the Matinee Saturday, but not Saturday night.

It is a delightful comedy, one of the most pleasing vehicles in which the legion of Constance Talmadge's admirers have yet seen her. It is from the pen of Rachel Barton Butler and won the annual prize offered by Harvard University for the best play written by a student. New York and other cities have already endorsed the play as presented on the stage.

All the clever lines which gave the play such vogue are preserved in the laughable titles.

Miss Talmadge not only repeats her former triumphs, but actually ascends to new heights in her interpretation of the role of Eve, it is said.

The cast is carefully chosen and deserves mention for its perfectly poised support. Kenneth Harlan, who is Miss Talmadge's leading man, plays the role of Doctor Harmon, little Shannon essays the role of Mrs. Orrin, the mother of Eve, Katherine Kaezel interprets the character of Mrs. Marchant, the sympathetic friend of Mrs. Orrin. George Le Guere appears as Henry Marchant her son and affianced husband of Eve, while Gertrude Le Brandt is "Buddy."

Another one of those delightful reels showing the adventures of Bob and Bill will also be shown. This time the two youngsters are out after a rabbit.

THE JOY SHOW IS ONE THAT ALL SHOULD SEE

"A factitious feast of frolic and frivolity" is the way the managers of the Famous Georgia Minstrels announce their coming to the Arcade Theatre Saturday night at 8:30.

The company numbers over forty people and these sons of joy will be seen in an elaborate production of up to date minstrelsy and vaudeville. The stage settings and wardrobe being comparable to a spectacular production. The music, both instrumental and vocal is the prominent feature with the company, and the years that this attraction has been before the public has given the management ample opportunity to study the public taste.

All seats will be reserved for this attraction and those desiring to get their tickets in advance can get them at Silverthorn's Drug Store.
