Neal in Portland—

Roscoe Neal, civil engineer of La Grande, is an arrival at the Imeprial. Mr. Neal built the water works system for the town of Enterprise last year.—Oregonian.

Visiting Relatives—

Formerly D. Fitzgerald of La Grande fixed plows and similar farm machinery. Now he fixes tractors. Mr. Fitzgerald, machinist, is at the Imeprial. He is in Portland to see his brother-in-law, who is in a local hospital.—Oregonian.

Lumber Cash Circulating—

The lumber industry is going at a good gait in the Catherine creek district. An average of 15 teams, sometimes more than that, are hauling lumber from the mill up Catherine creek to the planer at Union. Much cash is thus liberated, because of the three-angled connections—the mill crew, the haulers and the planer crew. The repairs made to the Catherine creek road are big helps to the mills, haulers and all concerned as the terrific ruts formerly made in that road from heavy log and lumber wagons, are very substantially reduced.

Native Son Here on Visit—

Harry Finn, who was born in La Grande and therefore, aside from his love for his parents holds a tender spot in his heart for the Grande Ronde, arrived last evening from St. Paul, where he is now located, and will visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Finn, and sister, Mrs. Robert Newlin, for a week. Harry is stationed at St. Paul as headquarters and has the states of Wisconsin and Minnesota for a large wholesale drug company of Indianapolis. It has been five years since he paid his parents a visit and there is considerable happiness at the Finn home on O avenue over his arrival.

A telegram received at the Hilton garage today said that Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hilton and Mr. and Mrs. Al Daniel made their way to Portland in ten hours flat yesterday. The telegram did not say if this was actual running time, or total hours consumed in making the trip. The object of the two families was to put the Franklin car into Portland in ten hours.

Institue Big Success—

The Epworth League Summer Institute at Wallowa Lake was a great success, according to La Grande Leaguers who have returned from the school held there last week, terminating Sunday. The institute was the second since its establishment, and the increase in attendance was decidedly marked over last year. An average of 75 attended the classes from day to day and Sunday saw an audience of 150 at the program. "The best camping ground I ever say," remarks Rev. E. J. Huston, since his return. This is his first trip into Wallowa county, where real scenery exists, and he has been made to admit that his native state of Montana fails to hold the equal of Wallowa Lake.

Close to two dozen La Granders attended the institute either as whole-time attendants or part-time students.

Starkey Road Section Finished—

The R. B. & D. company, sub-contractors, have finished their two miles of grading on the Hilgard-Starkey unit. The company had the two miles next adjoining the Hiatt project which began at the Hawes bridge, and running toward Starkey. The new road will be a radical departure from the historic Starkey highway. Instead of swinging by the Commonwealth Stock Farm, better known as the N. K. West ranch, as the road formerly did, it now hugs the river more closely, going by the old pump house on the river, and on up at a perfectly smooth grade, and misses the sharp and frequent inclines between the Hawes bridge and the West place, and also dodges the very steep hill just south of the West ranch home.

FINAL ACTION ON HIGHWAY

CITY COMMISSION DECIDES ON McLELLAN SURVEY.

Right of Way Negotiations Not Entirely Completed but Agreement Reached by Commission.

The original McLellan survey for the Ora Dell scenic highway was decided on by the city commission at its meeting last evening. Right of way along this route has been agreed upon and while the final negotiations have not been completed the city commission knows what the right of way will cost and it is merely a matter of concluding the negotiations already started before the work on the road can begin.

The route the scenic highway is to take has been the cause of much discussion at the meetings of the commission during the past month and when it was proposed to change the route where it enters the city so that much of the scenic effect would be lost a storm of protest from citizens resulted in reconsideration of the original route and re-opening of negotiations for right of way.

That part of the route lying outside of the city will also be along the original McLellan survey.
