WORLD CROP CONDITIONS BAD
The yield of grain promises to be satisfactory. Spring sown cereals have suffered more or less from dryness, and the yield will be somewhat below the average. On the average, both barley and oats are expected to give poor yields in all parts of the country.
Denmark is Not Good.
In Denmark the agricultural prospects are nearly as discouraging as those of France. The harvest has commenced earlier than usual and the rye crop is almost a failure on the sandy lands. Other parts of the country are not so badly affected, but the crops generally are expected to be below the average.
Good Harvest in Germany.
The drought has spread over a good part of Germany, but the cereal crops are too forward to suffer and the outlook, so far, is for a good harvest. However, recent cool weather has dispelled all hopes of an early harvest, and supplies of old crop grain will have to last longer than was anticipated.
Failure in Russia.
According to unofficial sources the disastrous failure of the Russian crops is now generally known. The famine area embraces the whole Volga region, the Kuban district, the Tich province of Ekaterinoslav, and six central provinces. The yield of crops will only be a third of the amount expected.
Rumania Has Good Crops.
In Rumania crop prospects are generally well maintained except in the droughty districts, although later reports state that in consequence of further rains the outlook of spring cereals in these districts is becoming favorable.
Austria Will be Short.
In Austria the harvest is progressing everywhere, but on account of the drought the weather is not all that could be desired.
In Jugoslavia the crop prospects are not very satisfactory owing to adverse weather conditions. Heavy rains and hailstorms have been experienced and these have beaten down the cereals in Bosnia and Timok districts. Owing to the drought and the adverse weather mentioned above the wheat crop will be poor, but the corn crop is expected to be a little more promising.

'It's almost unbelievable how much less is the chance of wasteful expenditure of 'chicken feed' sums, if the spender is under the necessity of drawing a check before he can spend.
'If we could get all the people to realize the satisfaction of saving by the simple expedient of not spending because it's easy to spend, we should have gone a long way toward restoring financial assurance.'
