HOW DO THE PEOPLE LIVE

Financial Burden of Life Bears Down Hardest on the Poor

LAKE JUNALUSKA, N. C., Aug. 9.—The question no longer is how does the other half live?—It is how does the other 85 per cent live? the Rev. James Myers of the Presbyterian Church today told the Laymen's conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, South in session here. Dr. Myers is executive secretary of the board of operators at the Dutchess Bleachery, Wappinger Falls, N. Y. He spoke on "Religion in Industry."

"The mission of religion to the present disturbed social order is not so much a message to the poor to respect the sacredness of the property-rights of the rich, although it is that also, as it is a message to the rich in the name and spirit of Jesus Christ to bring about a more brotherly distribution of wealth, health, joy and freedom in the world," the Rev. Mr. Myers said. "This cannot be done by charity, nor can it be done by violence. The inequalities of the present economic order can be eliminated only by a more brotherly distribution of the profits of industry at the source of production."

"Wealth can be reapportioned in a brotherly way only where it is made, in the process of its production, by the granting of a truly living wage, by a voluntary decrease in the interest expected for the use of capital, and by a very material increase in the financial rewards paid to human beings for their labor of hand and brain."

"Is it brotherly," asked the Rev. Mr. Myers, "that the financial burden of life should bear down the hardest upon those who have the least? Is it brotherly that a poor man should have to pay the highest prices for all of the necessities of life? Is it brotherly that the day laborer's pay should stop the minute he gets sick and has to stay at home while the higher paid officials of the company, although better able to stand the financial drain of sickness, have their salaries continued to them as long as they are ill? Is it brotherly that the highest profits in the real estate business should be commonly derived from tenements property, the least desirable accommodations in the whole city where the poorest people have to live?"

BUCK JONES COMING IN THRILLING WESTERN

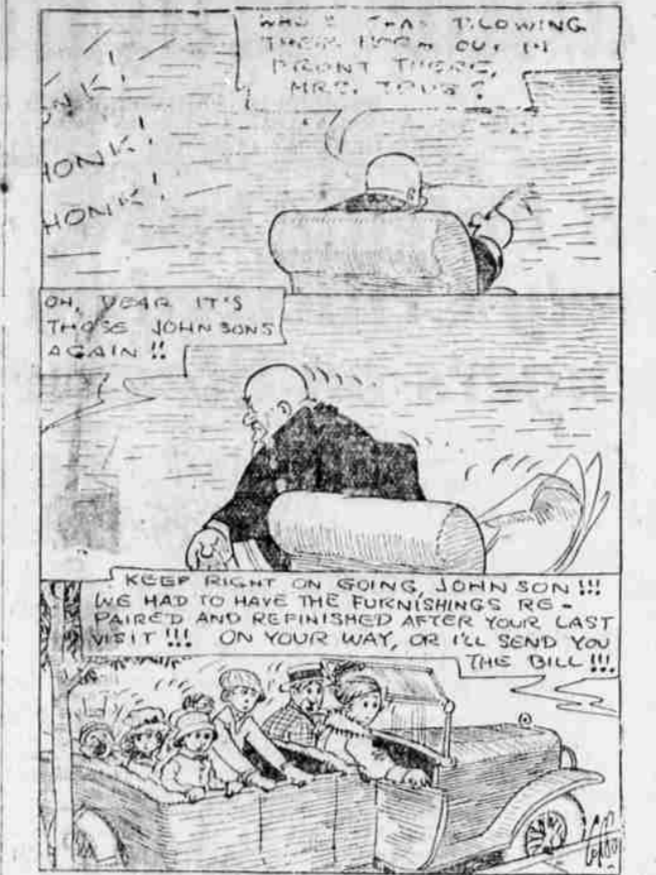

Buck Jones, one of the cleverest cowboy actors and greatest riders on the screen, is coming here in his latest William Fox picture, "The One Man Trail." He will be at the Arcade Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday. The story revolves around the elopement of Buck's sister in the play. Buck follows to bring her back, falls in love on the way, and meets with some thrilling and humorous incidents and accidents. Buck and his horse Blondy give some fine entertainment in many scenes. The cowboys also give an exhibition of some "treat 'em rough" stuff in a farewell send-off to Buck.

Eddie Polo will also be seen in "King of the Circus."

THE OUTBURSTS OF EVERETT TRUE—by Condo.

TOURNEUR'S LATEST WITH OCEAN BACKGROUND

Maurice Tourneur's screen visualizations are always teeming with human interest, heart throbs and thrills. "Deep Water," which comes to the Sherry Theatre today is no exception to this rule. It is a Paramount picture.

When Tourneur picked his cast for F. Hopkinson Smith's well-known story, "Caleb West, Master Diver," he searched for the best. It was necessary, because portrayers of these New England characters had to be life-like, not just "made-up" to represent the type.

The girl-wife of Caleb West, played by Barbara Bedford, is the most exquisite little character seen on the silver sheet for some time. She is Tourneur's latest find, from the middle West, just out of school, and a perfect darling still in her teens. Brooken Christians is the husband, Caleb West, and his portrayer, Lydin Yeamans Titus, makes an adorable and amusing Auntie Bell, while her husband, the skipper, is well played by George Nichols.

Save Your Eyes

The man of sense is he who best preserves those faculties with which nature has endowed him. Glasses are not an evidence of weak mind, but rather of strong intellect. In this day of conservation, men and women of strength, both mental and physical, wear them for preservation of nerve force and vitality, as much as for betterment of vision. Those at the forefront in worth while work are using every possible means to keep themselves fit and efficient and no man can be efficient with defective eyes uncorrected.

Our equipment and methods are the most modern and accurate for the correct EXAMINATION of the eyes, and the prescribing of correct Glasses where needed.
