WANT PARLOR ROAD IN HILLS

Tampa Residents Use Hammer on Road Under Construction

Mr. and Mrs. Ward Fowler, who returned from a motor trip to coast points in Washington and Oregon Thursday evening, report that with the exception of the road out of La Grande where construction work is under way the roads encountered everywhere were mighty good.

At one point in Washington, where they camped and hob-nobbed with tourists from every part of the country, they came across a party from Tampa, Florida, that, not knowing the Fowlers were from this city, took pains to give La Grande and the roads in this vicinity a black eye.

The Tampans, who because of their long distance from home considered themselves authorities on matters concerning roads, expressed the opinion that the road under construction out of La Grande is the worst piece of road in the whole country and only one other section of road anywhere can compare with it in that respect. This other section is somewhere in Wyoming.

The tourists from Tampa in spite of their being widely traveled could not see why it is not possible on a mountain road like the road out of La Grande to have nicely sprinkled detours. These were found in western Washington where the country is thickly settled and where the traffic is so heavy that the counties find it economical to keep the roads used as detours in as good condition as the finished highways.

A MAN'S HOME IS HIS CASTLE
WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Support of the anti-beer bill was definitely agreed on in conference late this afternoon and presented to the Senate. The bill exempts homes from search without a warrant obtained in due course of law but requires no warrant to search other property provided the officers acts without malice and has reasonable cause to expect the presence of liquor.

TAX BILL PASSED BY HOUSE NO CHANGE
WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—The Republican tax bill passed the house today after the Democrats had failed in an effort to have it recommitted for the elimination of the income surtax rates above 22 per cent.

ORPHANS STILL SUFFER IN EAST

J. J. Handsaker Writes of Conditions on Arrival at Constantinople

J. J. Handsaker, who had charge of the Far Eastern and Armenian relief work in Oregon before going to the Orient recently on relief work has written from Constantinople under date of July 28 telling of his trip. This is what he says of conditions as he found them in the Turkish capital:

"I confess to pretty deep emotion as I looked at the boys and the girls from the orphanages drawn up on the wharf at Constantinople to greet us with songs and flowers and American flags. I think I can stand the sight of the older orphans, both boys and girls, but I when they wouldn't have so many pathetic little chaps of three and four."

"My first refuge camp seen in the city of Constantinople again impressed the nearest of war. For the relief workers are expecting another 2000 refugees soon as the result of the Greek offensive. These they must stave away somewhere. This particular camp has a capacity of 500 but 1100 were already there and 2000 more coming. It is hard on the eyes and throat to see babies, half starved, fed on Oregon bread and milk bought with Oregon money. Nothing is given to an able bodied man no matter how needy or deserving he may be. There are too many women and children to feed."

"It is hard to look into the face of a human being and feel that you alone have power of life and death over him and to see in his face the knowledge that you are his last hope and to see his fear that you may turn him down. I had my first experience in that today while inspecting with Mrs. Emerich, her work in the Armenian quarter. Mrs. E. S. M. Emerich is well known in Oregon as the chief speaker of our 1918 campaign. The case was that of a man who had been in different overcrowded hospitals where he could not be admitted. Immediate action was necessary, so we sent him in our car to the hospital with a note asking attention."

"As we are taking 7000 tons of supplies with us from Constantinople to the Caucasus we dropped down the Gulf of Iquid 50 miles to Derindje where our warehouses are located to take on flour, beans, rice, clothing, knitting machines and other supplies enough for a month for the Caucasus."

"Down the gulf from Derindje is Iquid and across the gulf is Barizun. Two hundred and fifty boys are sleeping on the stone floor of the stable in Derindje until the sailing of Barizun on June 23, were inmates of our orphanage there. They were rushed out on only a few hours notice. At Derindje I found a shack 8 by 12 made from packing boxes one filled with Oregon clothes, while another box bearing an Oregon name was used as a bread box. The shack is used as sleeping quarters for five people."

"With Dr. Esther Esh Lovejoy I visited our hospital at Iquid. This hospital is conducted jointly by the Near East Relief and the American Medical Women's Association. A beautiful view is obtained from the steps of the hospital, gardens, fields, the gulf, forests and the sea but perhaps the most significant to us was the sight of Old Glory flying on the Destroyer "Brooks" which Admiral Bristol has placed there to see that American property, American lives and the orphans in American care are safe."

"We leave at 4 p. m. today for the Caucasus, our ship stopping at Trebizond, the home of Miss Nellie Cole of Forest Grove, Oregon. Lapsure we will not be allowed to land at Trebizond as the recent Greek successes in the south have raised Turkish reprisals in the north and heavy deportations are reported in progress in that district. The Greek Patriarch told us that reliable information shows at least 250,000 in the last few weeks have been driven from home.

"Ten years of war have laid this land prostrate. Never was suffering and need so great. I shudder to think what the winter will mean."

POWERS' MINE PRODUCES GOLD

BAKER, Aug. 20.—Just above the old Nelson placer mines on Salmon creek six miles west of Baker there is development work going on at the Carpenter Hill quartz mine owned by P. J. Powers of Medical Springs and some very high grade ore is being blocked out by leases, samples showing native gold.

A small stamp mill is on the property and the ore run through is netting the lessees good wages for their labor.

FISH CONTEST.
BAKER, Aug. 20.—The Baker Rod and Gun Club through its president, Dr. H. J. Horton, and Secretary C. C. Basche, announced that the annual big fishing contest starts at 6:30 p. m., August 20th, fish to be in the hands of the judges at 5:00 p. m., August 22nd.

Water—When and How Much
Hundreds of batteries die of thirst every year. Not because their owners didn't know water was necessary. Not because they didn't know the neglect was shortening battery life and costing them money. But simply because they overlooked it—hadn't the distilled water handy or didn't know just how much to put in.

We can't do your remembering, but we can take all the rest of the job off your hands. Drive around anytime and ask us to see if your battery needs water.

SPEAKER HAS BEEN SECURED

The Labor Day committee has been assured of the cooperation of the Baker Labor Council during the past several days and a delegation of large numbers is expected from the mining city. A number of floats will probably be entered by Baker in the parade.

H. H. Stollard, of Oklahoma, has been secured as one of the speakers. Mr. Stollard is a newspaperman and has devoted a large part of his time during the past four or five years to the lecture platform in the latest of labor.
