The Screen

HARRY CAREY COMING TO THE STAR THEATRE

Harry Carey in one of his best screen characterizations. An original story by Eugene Mallove Rhades.
Humorous "cut-ins" of a pioneer movie. Those are some of the things that will be seen at the Star theatre on Saturday and Sunday where "The Wallop," a Universal photodrama, is to be shown with Harry Carey in the starring role.
The vigorous modern western drama is enlivened by a play within a play.
The hero, goes into a small nickelodeon and there on the screen sees a wild and fierce western drama just as it was made in the Bronx in 1916. Carey is shown in the darkened movie theatre watching the screen see the west as it is depicted by a flaxen haired floor walker gets on his nerve. He walks out and steps into a series of adventures in real life which would have been far too rough for the simpering hero of the antique celluloid drama.
A furious gun fight, a battle for the girl, political intrigue, wild rides over the desert and a desperate feud between the citizens of a modern western town are some of the adventures in which Carey participates.
Mignonne Golden plays the leading feminine role. The action of the story is remarkably fast and in the exciting roles playgoers will see J. Parrell McDonald, Joe Harris, Mark Fenton, Otto Myers, Charles LeMay, Noble Johnson, Bill Gettinger and the famous Harry Carey Flying Squadron of cow boys.
"The Wallop" has been heralded as one of the Harry Carey's snappiest western photodramas. Jack Ford directed it at Universal City and it is said to have every attribute of good screen entertainment.
A two-reel Mack Sennett comedy, "Movie Fans," is also on the same program.

STAGE COMEDY CHOSEN FOR MARGUERITE CLARK'S RETURN

"Scrambled Wives," starring Marguerite Clark, will be the attraction at the Arcade Theatre today and Saturday. This is Miss Clark's first production since her return to the screen and is the first picture to be made by her own independent producing company. It is released through Associated First National Pictures, Inc.

The comedy was one of the hits of the spoken stage last season, during which it enjoyed long runs both on Broadway in New York and in RANCHERS' TRADING COLUMN

A Special Advertising rate will be given by the Observer on all ranch advertising for the next 90 days in order to assist ranchers in exchanging stock, equipment, etc.

This column has been established to help all people of Union and Wallowa counties to make exchanges of either land, livestock, farm implements etc. Frequently farmers will have things they do not need and others need the same articles very badly but neither will know of the other us this column. A special low rate has been established.

ty, to rent. Have complete outfit,

Chicago. The play was written by Martha M. Stanley and Adelaide Matthews. In the screen version Marguerite Clark has the stellar role of Mary Lucile Smith, a capricious-young lady who has difficulty in making her ideas behave. She participates in an innocent boarding school escapade which results in her plunge into a mesh of matrimonial entanglements.

Leon B. Gendron is seen as Miss Clark's leading man in the role of Larry McLeod, from whom she endeavors to hide a "dark and terrible past." Others in the supporting cast are such well known players as Ralph Bunker, Florence Evelyn, Martin, Virginia Lee, Alice Mann, Frank Edgely, America Cheddister, John Mayer, John Washburn, T. A. Braidon, Harry Fisher, Wesley Jenkins, Adn Neville and Emma Wilcox.

"Scrambled Wives" was produced under the direction of Edward H.
Griffith, assisted by A. F. Bernbach.
The vehicle provides the sort of part in which Miss Clark has enjoyed some of her greatest successes and which has endeared her to the hearts of countless motion picture fans in all corners of the globe.

"HOME STUFF" HAS
NO DULL MOMENTS

If theatregoers came to the Sherry Theatre yesterday to see "Home Stuff," the Metro special production which will be the feature attraction for today only, expecting to get an exposition of home brew, they were disappointed. But they were not disappointed in other respects. For "Home Stuff" is superlatively fine, with a story that has not one dull moment, and a cast whose acting has distinction and verve.

Viola Dana stars in this picture, and lives up to the reputation she has already earned for brilliant impersonation. We have seen her in different pictures, and while we liked them all, we are frank in saying that she is best in "Home Stuff."

As Madge Joy, the leading actress who finds herself stranded with an impecunious traveling show, Viola Dana is convincing. Madge plans to return to New York, but a series of circumstances brings her a home with farmers, who take her in as one of the family. The actress decides to forget the stage and settle down to a calm life. She loves a young farmer. Then enters a bluffing company of actors, and a little runaway girl who turns out to be the daughter of the people who took Madge in. The denouement is packed with excitement.
Episode 13 of "Lightning Bryes" is chuck-full of action.
