'Poets rhyme about the "smiling country in the month of May." But we'd rather see that same country at harvest time, when the smiles are on the faces of the farmers after their well-earned crops have come in. It's the same in every business at "harvest"—the time when a man gathers in the returns on his hard work. Our patrons, using to the full our many facilities and personal service, reap better returns on their investments of time, work and money. United States National Bank, La Grande, Oregon.'

IOWA SCHOOL DISTRICT, Aug. 29.—(Special.)—Born, August 24, to Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Walker, a son. The baby lived only three days and the funeral was held Saturday. Its death is believed to be due to congestion of the glands which caused choking.

Mr. and Mrs. John Terry left last week, going overland to various coast points.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hulse motored to Enterprise last Saturday to visit a cousin who is ill. Mrs. Clara Hulse and Reverend George M. Scott returned with them Sunday night.

The Misses Edna and Effie Snider have recently returned from Bellingham, Washington, where they have been attending summer school.

Mrs. James Speirs is convalescing from a nervous breakdown.

Misses Mildred and Myrtle Hoyt are preparing to go to Monmouth in a few weeks; visiting in Pendleton en route. Miss Becker is moving for them.

Hugh C. Hulse was down yesterday from the Forest Reserve. He reports that a telephone is being installed at the Ranger Station. It will be a great help in case of fire, as the Summit Ranger Station is a good lookout in itself. The stock on the range are not doing as well as might be expected because of the grazing being restricted, due to the absence of water holes. A few watering troughs placed at intervals on the reserve would greatly increase grazing possibilities.

John Williams on the David L. Stoddard ranch is now having his grain headed and expects soon to start his threshing.

A Progressive Drug Store. There is no drug store in all of the state of Oregon or in the great northwest that has so many enterprising, progressive features about it as Silverthorn's. You cannot do better than to turn all of your purchasing in drug store material of every description into this store. 8-25-1f

er Hundred Millions Asked of Packers for Building Another Trust

CHICAGO, Aug. 30.—A damage of for one hundred twenty million dollars charging packing concerns with conspiracy to form a trust naming John D. Rockefeller and son, in addition to several national banks, was filed Monday in the federal court by Mr. and Mrs. Louis Osborn Person of Omaha, Neb.

The bill, originally filed in Omaha, was amended to be filed in Chicago to the number of local firms involved.

"The Skipper's Scheme," a Tomorville comedy, is also being shown.

HUBBARD'S ROYCROFT MAN IN LA GRANDE.

One of the late lamented Elbert Hubbard's closest friends is Mr. Frank Rogers, an interesting figure now stopping at the Sommer hotel on a short visit.

Mr. Rogers is here, offering Elbert Hubbard's immortal work, "Little Journeys to the Homes of the Great," being a history of 182 of the world's greatest men and women, at a very reasonable price and for a limited period only. These beautifully bound Roycroft books are now within the reach of all, on exceptionally easy terms. A telephone call will bring Mr. Rogers to your door and whether you buy the books or not an intellectual treat awaits you. His description of the Roycrofters is something that will cling to your memory for some time to come.

"A TALE OF TWO WORLDS," AT SHERRY'S TODAY ONLY

The passive scenic beauty of China is in strong contrast to the active energy of which her people are sometimes capable, as Gouverneur Morris reveals in his latest Eminent Authors photoplay, "A Tale of Two Worlds," which was made at the Goldwyn studios. The story begins in China during the Boxer uprising in 1899. In this native rebellion, a young American girl has lost her parents and their priceless collection of Chinese porcelains and jewels. The girl is brought to America by a Chinese servant and reared as a Chinese.

Involved in the plot is the quest of the jeweled sceptre of which it had been said "that it is bathed in the tears of women and the blood of men." During the unfolding of the story, the lovely girl learns the truth of the sceptre's motto; but in the end, she finds peace and happiness, as well as her real identity, through the courage and the cleverness of an American lover.

"A Tale of Two Worlds" is gorgeously mounted and splendidly directed by Frank Lloyd. It will be shown at Sherry's theatre for the last time today.

The special 2-reel Christie comedy, "Home Brew," gets many a laugh.
