REGULATIONS IN EFFECT SOON

Ad Club's Advertising Scheme Regulations Outlined by Secretary Nelson

The Ad Club's regulation of the solicitation in the city of La Grande becomes effective on October 1, according to announcement of Secretary A. W. Nelson. Mr. Nelson has received many requests from merchants since yesterday noon when the plan was adopted for the yards that will be displayed in business houses to warn unapproved solicitors that they need not expect support and has therefore made the announcement that it will be October 1 before the necessary cards can be printed and the system put into effect.

In discussing the plan, Mr. Nelson said: "The success of the whole plan depends upon rigid observance of the regulations. Cards will be provided for all offices, politely explaining that all solicitors of whatever nature, must present a card of endorsement."

"In regard to elimination of individual charity cases, it is assumed that regular societies now in operation will care for such cases in their usual efficient way."

"It stands to reason that no club or society can dictate what any merchant shall do or not do in regard to charity, or to advertising schemes intended to raise money, but a community nuisance now draining the business and professional men, can be relieved and the needs of legitimate institutions be met with less strain than now, because the wasted moneys of the recent past will be conserved and directed into worthy channels."

"Church and fraternal institutions soliciting their own membership do not come within the meaning of these regulations."

"Every merchant and professional man may have the placard by application to the Ad Club headquarters at the Y. M. C. A."

Endorsement will be readily given to the following:

Recognized newspapers and periodicals published at stated or regular intervals in Union county. Local lodge or fraternal institutions who have a specific charitable project in hand. Organized labor unions who have the sanction of the Central Labor Council, or the Big Four Eschschoods. Organized educational institutions. Organized La Grande religious institutions endorsed by ministerial association. Organized charitable institutions having permanent headquarters or permanent representatives in La Grande.

No endorsement whatever can be expected from the following solicitation schemes: Individual, charity or benevolence, not sanctioned by a recognized charitable institution of La Grande. Street selling of dance tickets in which neither the community nor charity derives the entire net proceeds.

Careful investigation will be made in the following cases and a card only issued after such investigation: Out of town charitable institutions. All "drives" and money-raising campaigns of a city- or county-wide nature, in which case the committee recommendations will be considered by the membership at a regular meeting, and a majority vote decided. Outside advertising schemes in which local organizations are directly benefited or stand sponsor for. County and city directories, except telephone directories. Any advertising or solicitation not classified above.

FOREST FIRES WERE FEW THIS YEAR IN COUNTY

Union County Fire Association Keeping Vigilant Watch During Summer and no Fires Went out of Control.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Union County Fire association held yesterday afternoon a report was presented for that portion of the 1921 fire season that has passed. According to the report there were only four fires in which the warden and his staff of patrolmen needed outside assistance. As a result the expenses were kept to only $210 over the regular expenses for the season, the salaries of the staff of patrolmen and other overhead expenses going on regardless of whether there are fires or not. In addition to the fire that needed outside assistance many small fires were put out by L. H. Reed, county warden, and his patrolmen.

The entire expenses of the association to September 1 were $2,248.81 and receipts were $2,445.15, leaving a balance of $1,958.32.

At the meeting it was voted to lay off the patrolmen immediately because of the rains which make further patrolling unnecessary. Mr. Russell will be retained until all the ends and ends of the fire season are cleaned up.

An assessment of one-half per cent per acre on timber land and one-quarter cent per acre on cut-over land was levied and it was voted to stand half the cost of building a lookout station on Mt. Emily from which the entire county and large sections of the Whitman forest and other government forests can be watched.

The U. S. forest service will pay the other 50 per cent of the cost. The station will be located on a high point and the tower will be made sufficiently high so that the entire county can be viewed from it.

The association will also pay half the cost of a telephone line from Mt. Emily to La Grande. This will give a direct private telephone line from La Grande to all parts of the forest service in this vicinity and will add greatly to the efficiency of the federal forest service and of the Union county fire association.

The work of Mr. Russell was highly commended by the directors. He is appointed as county warden by the state forester and given state police powers. During the entire summer he has been on the spot in record time every time a fire broke out and the fact that there were no fires that did any appreciable damage or that got out of control during the season is due to the constant alertness of Mr. Russell and his patrolmen whenever a fire was spotted.

Some idea can be obtained of the way in which Mr. Russell worked by the mileage of his car. He covered over 5,000 miles during the season in going back and forth on his patrol and from fires. By the end of the month his mileage will be over 6,000.

George T. Cochran is president of the board of directors of the association. Elmer Stoddard is vice-president. T. J. Scroggins, treasurer, George Palmer and E. N. Jacobs are the other members of the board and J. C. Cramer is secretary.

AMERICAN BALL TEAMS TO JAPAN

SAN FRANCISCO, Sep. 21.—American baseball teams are pouring into Japan, according to reports received here. Nine clubs from the Pacific Coast and Hawaii have either made the trip or are planning on going.

Japanese know good baseball and will not patronize poor teams, according to Frank Miya, a Seattle Japanese baseball man. He is planning to take a team of Pacific Coast League players across this fall.

The University of California nine completed a tour of the islands some months ago, winning a majority of its games. A team from the University of Washington sailed from Seattle recently. A third student nine from the Sherman Indian School of Southern California follows this month.

A team of semi-professionals, some of them members of the Western Canadian league, the Honolulu Nippons from Hawaii, and the Vancouver Asahis, composed of Japanese, already are in the islands. The Seattle Asahis join them early next month. This invasion was prefaced by the tour early this year of a professional team headed by Charles Doyle.

The "Sell Now League," organized by manufacturers and merchants has launched a vigorous campaign to revive industry, and is splendidly equipped with headquarters and everything except buyers.—The Liberator (New York).
