FAMOUS CLASSIC MADE INTO A MASTER MOTION PICTURE.

"Black Beauty," the famous classic known to readers in every language all over the world, has been made into a film production of a caliber that will make it occupy an outstanding position among the big special film offerings of the season.

It is rare that such a heart-interest story is available for the screen. "Black Beauty" has been filmed in the simple narrative style that made it so human in type. The simple drama of its homely characters gives it all the big moments it requires.

Not only is "Black Beauty" one of the most costly pictures ever made by Vitaphone, and a superior production from story and technical standpoint, but because of the immense world appeal of the story by Anna Sewall, which has been translated into nearly every language and is known everywhere, it will please all sorts and conditions of men.

The family appeal of "Black Beauty" is one of the strongest features. It is as sweet and clean a story as ever was written—or filmed. Father, mother and children will extract a thoroughly enjoyable evening's entertainment from the picture without the slightest offense, and will understand and feel the story as it unfolds. It is another addition to Vitaphone's unbroken record of clean and wholesome pictures.

This picture will be shown at Sherer's Theatre today and tomorrow.

ANIMALS ACT UP—GIVE GREAT PERFORMANCE

When watching a thrilling outdoor picture in which dangerous wild animals act, as they do in Benjamin H. Hampton's splendid photoplay of Zane Grey's novel, "The Man of the Forest," the newest Hodkinson release which will be shown at the Star Theatre Friday, Saturday and Sunday, have you ever wondered how these animals were handled while being filmed?

In "The Man of the Forest," a bear and a puma, or mountain lion are used. Both Puma and bear figure in many scenes of the picture, and the big "cat" especially required careful handling. Of course its trainer, Charles Murphy, was present. Mr. Murphy, who also acts a part in the picture, is a noted animal trainer who under a colorful Italian name once held forth with lions, tigers and panthers in the Orpheum Circuit and with Barnum & Bailey.

KATHERINE MACDONALD COMING TO ARCADE

"Trust Your Wife," Katherine MacDonald's eighth Associated First National production, is a picture of Harry S. Shelton's play, "Conscience." The production, which will be the attraction at the Arcade Theatre Friday and Saturday, was directed by J. A. Barry, and in the cast opposite the American Beauty are David Winter, Charles Richman, Mary Allen and the star's younger sister, Michan MacDonald.

A two-reel Mack Sennett comedy will also be shown.

LAXATIVE for Aged People

THE BANE of old age is constipation. The bowels become weak and unable to perform their functions without aid. For this purpose only the mildest and gentlest laxative should be used. The use of harsh cathartics aggravates the trouble and makes the constipation worse. Chamberlain's Tablets are a favorite with people of middle age and older on account of their gentle action.
