MARY MILES MINTER AT ARCADE THEATRE

"Don't Call Me Little Girl" in which Mary Miles Minter will next be seen in this city is an adaptation of "Jerry," which was a Billie Burke stage success of half a dozen years ago.

Miss Minter plays the role of an incorrigible girl of eighteen who rebels at being treated like a little girl by her mother, a widow who is trying to appear more youthful than she really is. Poor Jerry, dressed and treated like an infant, decides to strike and turns the family affairs topsy-turvy. "Don't Call Me Little Girl" comes to the Arcade Theatre today and Tuesday.

"The Skipper's Flirtation," a Tom-errville comedy is also being shown.

AT THE SHERRY THEATRE FOR THE LAST TIME TODAY

"The Old Nest" a story of mother love and self-sacrifice common to every family the world over, which was shown at the Sherry Theatre last night is the work of Rupert Hughes, the eminent American novelist. It was produced by Goldwyn and directed by Reginald Barker. There is humor and there are tears in this plain story of daily life as we all know it. Not a person in the audience was free from the grip of its appeal.

If you like to laugh, if you enjoy a gentle weeping spell, if you want to see yourself, your brothers and sisters, your father and your mother on the screen, go and see "The Old Nest."

While this story is gripping it has a different hold on the emotions than the usual thriller. There isn't one melodramatic scene. Yet this picture held the audience at the Sherry Theatre more strongly than any melodrama ever filmed. And the reason is that "The Old Nest" is a genuine story, beautifully acted and excellently produced. We have never seen one woman portray the gradually aging mother so deftly as Mary Alden acted this role. Her black hair became iron grey, then silvery. And with the passing of the years, the physical appear-

Watch Your Colds.

Every month with an R in it is a month when coughs and colds prevail. In October coughs are created and other inflammations result, and colds that arise do not seem to know when to depart. Prolongation naturally means continued distress.

The advisability then is to be well provided with cough and cold remedies—at least to have them within handy reach to use immediately when coughs and colds arise to quickly head off Shop.

A Real Lunch.

That is what every one likes. A real lunch such as Al Cain serves at the Palace Confectionery each day at 11:30 to 1:30 p. m. He serves a real lunch. Everything made up fresh each day by competent cooks—that is why you always find them busy at the lunch hour at this popular Candy and Colds arise to quickly head off Shop.

THE TELEPHONE

—is a servant always at command, that never tires; night or day, hot or cold, snow or rain, it is always ready to quickly, cheaply and cheerfully perform tasks that otherwise require time, expense, exposure and in cases every day, by its celerity, it saves lives and property of value almost beyond computation.

The Value Of Advertising

When a man puts his name back of a thing he Advertising a name has a certain reflex action on the advertiser.

assumes responsibility for it. Its virtues are his virtues, its shortcomings his chagrin. Advertising forces a man to compete with himself for improvements because either praise or censure are inescapable.

People somehow realize this, they feel greater confidence with the known than the unknown. We want you to know—
