Society

One of the most enjoyable of the social events connected with the annual meeting of the woman's syndical home and foreign missionary society of the synod of Oregon of the Presbyterian church, was the mothers' and daughters' dinner held in the Y. M. C. A. Wednesday evening. Dr. Margaret Ingle was toastmistress of the evening and presided in a most charming manner.

As the three hundred guests at the banquet marched in, mothers and daughters arm in arm, the girls' choir of the Presbyterian church sang in a most beautiful manner.

From the time the mothers and their girls sat down until they reluctantly left the banquet hall there was not a dull moment. Mrs. Mossman's Junior Westminister guild girls gave some of their yells and in other ways helped fill in the odd moments of the evening. A group of girls from Baker sang a number of songs and Mrs. A. S. Anderson's mission band girls gave a feature song.

The latter was illustrative of the work of the mission band. Twenty-five girls took part in it and among a program of numbers, all of which were well above the average, it stood out as one of the best features of the evening, especially as it typified the work being done by the girls of the mission band, so well fitting the spirit of the evening.

Mrs. O. E. Silverthorn gave the mothers' toast, "What the Mothers Owe the Daughters," and Miss Helen McDonald responded to the daughters' toast, "What the Daughters Owe the Mother." Both speakers spoke feelingly of the mutual companionship of mother and daughter without which the beauty of home life for which Americans are noted cannot be had.

Mrs. C. W. Williams, executive secretary of the North Pacific district of the woman's board of foreign missions, spoke on "The Other Girl and You," when called upon by the toastmistress. She told of the sisterly feeling between girls that is so essential to their happiness and of how life is made beautiful by the fostering of this spirit of love and harmony through the social side of the church and home.

In her opening remarks, Miss Lucy H. Dawson, general secretary of the woman's board of home mission, briefly told of the work of the society particularly of the place the mother and the daughter take in its far-reaching work.

Mrs. Fletcher Linn, president of the society, was called on for a few remarks.

The Parent Teachers' Meeting of the Riverin school was held Friday afternoon at the building. Mrs. Hillary, the new president, presided with Mrs. Taul as secretary. The girls of the seventh and eighth grades sang two choruses, followed by a piano solo by Marguerite Ellis, and a duet by Verda Rae Smith and LaYona Beveridge. Rev. Quigley gave a short but inspiring address. After the program of business was disposed of, refreshments were served by the committee in charge.

Eugene Boye and Orpha Hamilton, both of Pendleton, were united in marriage Wednesday evening at nine o'clock at the Presbyterian manse, Rev. James A. Smith officiating.

The Lucky Thirteen Club met Thursday afternoon with Mrs. William Ash on O street and a very pleasant afternoon was enjoyed by the members. Mrs. J. F. O'Connell proved to be the lucky one at bridge and was awarded the club prize. A luncheon was served in the beautiful dining room which was greatly enjoyed.

S. B. Hayden of Egan and Mrs. Jess Woods were married Thursday afternoon at the Methodist parsonage by Rev. Quigley of the M. E. church, in the presence of several intimates.

Mrs. A. Thomas, Mrs. James Maloney and Mrs. James Akay of Pendleton attended the missionary synod of the Presbyterian church here this week. Mrs. Thomas was formerly a resident of this city several years ago and was here as the guest of Mrs. C. R. Baul.

The Ladies Bible Study Class which was organized recently with Mrs. E. P. Mossman as leader will have its first active meeting Monday afternoon at 2:30 at the Mossman home. Mrs. Alvah Dargatz will be leader for the afternoon and with able assistance will take the class on a trip through Japan. All ladies interested in such study are invited.

Mrs. Clara Mueller celebrated her birthday Thursday, October 20th. Mrs. Mueller was seventy-one years old but is as young and spry as a twenty-year-old and is at present making a quilt that is beautiful and a lesson to the younger folks in fine needle work.

Mrs. Charles W. Williams, of Portland, and Miss Lucy H. Dawson, of New York City, who have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Wright during the meeting of Missionary Synod of the Presbyterian church, left last evening for Portland.

Mrs. Williams has recently come to Portland as District Executive Secretary of the states of Oregon, Washington and Idaho. For a number of years she was Dean of Women at McAlister College at St. Paul, Minnesota.

Miss Lucy Dawson, General Secretary of the Women's Board of Home Missions, has her headquarters in New York City.

Henry Ketschver, prominent rancher of Klamath Falls, lost two fingers from his left hand when his hand was caught in the gearing of a combined harrow.

As he stood talking to a neighbor Saturday, William Munroe, 62-year-old Hood River merchant, was fatally stricken with apoplexy, dying almost instantly.

At Hood River, Tuesday, Rev. W. O. Bentley, thinking he was headed forward, started his car. It happened to be in reverse and he backed into the J. C. Penney store, doing $1000 worth of damage.

Vernon Waite Almost Loses an Eye With the Treacherous Bow and Arrow.

MT. GLENN, Oct. 22.—(Special).—Vernon Waite, eleven year old son of Mrs. Waite, is suffering from a wound in the eye which may cause the loss of his sight. With other boys he was playing sham battle and an older brother shot an arrow from a bow which accidentally hit Vernon in the eye.

E. D. Whiting and Carl Zaugg were visitors at Baker last Sunday in the interest of L. D. S. church work.

Parley Fiek has lately returned from a two year mission for the L. D. S. church work in the northwestern states. On Tuesday evening a reception was given for him and about one hundred of his friends were present.

Word has been received by the friends of Fred Zaugg stating that he had just set sail from Quebec for Switzerland, where he goes on a mission for the church. He is accompanied by six other elders and Mr. Zaugg is in charge of the party.

Buffalo Bill's Widow Passes on At Wyoming Home

CODY, Wyo., Oct. 22.—Mrs. Louisa Frederic Cody, widow of the late Col. William F. Cody, ("Buffalo Bill"), is dead at her home here. Death claimed her at 9:45 o'clock Thursday night. She was 78 years old. Heart disease was said by her physicians to have caused her death.

Mrs. Cody's grandchildren and John Baker, the foster son of Col. Cody, were at her bedside when she died. Relatives said they expected Mrs. Cody would be buried beside her husband on Lookout mountain, overlooking Denver.

Mrs. Cody, nee Frederic, was born in an old French settlement near St. Louis. She became the bride of Wil-fact that wars are almost always due to misunderstandings which, had time permitted, could have been cleared up. But while the machinery for making war is always well oiled, efficient and up to date, no special machinery for preserving peace exists at all. It seems to me that we might well work for the setting up of such machinery to run a campaign of truth to counteract the wild and foolish rumors which are at present furnishing fuel for misunderstandings and mutual distrust.

While I think it is the duty of governments to systematically work for peace, it will be difficult to bring them to a realization of that fact. Meanwhile can we not do something among ourselves to counteract these lies and rumors which work so much mischief in our relations with other Pacific countries. We are handicapped because we do not know the truth about our neighbors and cannot contradict the lie. It would be well if every large newspaper or group of newspapers were to have a reliable correspondent in each country reached by the Pacific who could be relied on to give accurate information himself. Correspondents, however, are expensive and I think possibly the Pan-Pacific Union might set up a system to distribute reliable news concerning Pacific countries.
