Old Timer Here—

A. W. Thompson, many years a resident of Oregon, but recently engaged in business in Baltimore, Maryland, passed through La Grande yesterday and renewed old acquaintances. He is on his way to Portland, where he expects to make his home again in the future. He has been driving overland and says that in some parts of the middle west the farmers are prosperous while in others they are suffering greatly. In Minnesota everything is going nicely and the farmers and others are getting over the depressed business conditions rapidly while in the Dakotas things have gone from bad to worse. In some sections of the Dakotas farms are being abandoned and farm buildings are being torn down by many farmers who are leaving. Oregon beats everything in the middle west, Thompson said.

Sells Residence—

L. F. Wright, a substantial farmer of the Alicel district, who several years ago purchased a residence at 1903 First street so he could move his family to town during the school period, yesterday sold his property through the Geo. H. Currey real estate agency to Thomas Heath, who recently moved from Portland.

Home from Sad Mission—

Jay Dobbin, of Enterprise, returned from Illinois this morning where he went with the body of his father for burial in the old home cemetery. Jay says the northwest is so much better off that the Mississippi valley that there is no comparison. Corn in some localities is selling as low as seventeen cents a bushel and the farmers are broke and discouraged. Many have paid a payment on land and are moving off and letting it go back. General business throughout that section is suffering badly for the farmer who is the great consumer cannot buy the manufactured articles offered.

COUNTY LIBRARY GROWS RAPIDLY

plained by the county librarian, Miss Nichols.

Persons approached by book agents can now call the library, learn the publishrs' price and find if the offering is standard and worth while, it was announced.

The County Library of Union county is a system predicated on service, the visitors found. Through the rotation of books from town to town, school to school, even the most remote sections have splendid service at their doors as well as through the mails. Union, Elgin and Cove have had the pleasure of twice as many books this year through the county plan, as they were taxed for. Imbler opens her county library Monday. Sixteen rural schools have stations. An average of 30 per cent of all reading is by juveniles, and the average for class books in the county is 25 per cent; Union has 29 per cent of her citizens in the library users' list; La Grande 24, Elgin 13.

The delightful and instructive evening's program ended with a careful study of the budget for the county library and a personal expression of "My Best Book."

Those in attendance were:

From the Union board: Mrs. Baird Mrs. Cook, G. A. Seibird and L. A Wright, and Miss Seibird, librarian.

From the Cove board: Mrs. McDaniel and Mrs. Conklin.

From the Imbler board: Mrs. L. B. Kiddle, Mrs. Lyle Stringham, Kipling Larson, M. H. Payne and E. E. Hurley.

From La Grande board: Mrs. J. K. Wright, George T. Cochran, A. C Hampton and C. M. Humphreys.
