"I AM GUILTY!", NEW LOUISE GLAUM PICTURE, IS HERE

An absorbing mystery story, lavishly produced, with a star whose forte for emotional characterization is satisfied in unqualified measure—this is J. Parker Read, Jr.'s newest special for Associated Producers, Inc., starring Louise Glaum. "I Am Guilty!" was written by Bradley King, magazine writer and playwright, and was produced under the personal supervision of J. Parker Read, Jr.

It tells the story of a woman who through neglect by her husband permits herself one last fling in the world from which her married life has taken her. At the end of her "vacation," Connie MacNair (Louise Glaum) becomes the pawn of circumstances and thinks herself the guilty agent of a murder. Her husband, MacNair (Mahon Hamilton), defends Dillon, a crook, who is accused of the crime.

Charles J. Stumar has given the production a photographic quality in keeping with the splendid architectural effects for which Charles Kysom, president of the Art Directors Association, is responsible. "I Am Guilty!" is said to be Miss Glaum's and Mr. Read's greatest production. It will be shown at the Star Theatre today and Sunday. Also showing a Mack Sennett comedy.

"THE FIGHTER."

"The Fighter" is a well-constructed and skilfully acted story of modern business and society.

After a doctor has given up all hope at resuscitating a girl who has fallen into the water, the man who loves her orders everyone from the room, announcing that if they have given her for dead, he will begin to fight. He sits down by the bed and cries out three times, "Come back to me!" Whereupon, the girl's eyes open and she smiles up at him. The scene is excellently played and will get by with many of the star's admirers. A sensational railroad wreck is one of the thrilling moments in the picture, a freight engine falling through a burning bridge into the river. Conway Tearle gives a gripping impersonation of Caleb Conover, a successful business man, who is in love with his ward, ten years or more his junior. Winifred Westover plays this part with feeling and good artistic effect. The other members of the supporting cast help to carry the action forward smoothly and rapidly.

"The Fighter" will be the attraction at the Arcade Theatre Sunday only.
