ENTERTAINMENT WAS A SUCCESS

"Trip Around the World" Given by Lostine Home Talent Proved Delightful

LOSTINE, Oct. 24.—(Special)—The "trip around the world" last Friday night was a very successful entertainment. The people were taken in wagons and cars in two different sections from place to place, with about a 40-minute interval between the two sections and the characters from Dixieland, Japan and Hawaii joined the American tourists in the last section as they left the various countries going to Mexico. Dixieland was characterized as the home of W. F. Van Pelt with the following characters: Male quartette of darkies, R. V. Goodman, Chas. Bridwel, Roy Cook and Lloyd Chapman. Alf Lilly and Mrs. Jim Cripps were old Uncle Rastus and his wife and the four little pickaninnies were Thelma Cripps, Annetta Willett, Kathaline and Caroline Goodman. The darkie maids were Susie Jacobs and Ruth Shintafer. The home was decorated with bright colors appropriate to Dixieland and refreshments of cider and doughnuts were served.

Japan was characterized at the home of D. H. Magill and the home was gayly decorated outside and inside with Japanese lanterns and parasols. The Japanese hostesses in gay kimonos were Mrs. D. H. Magill, Mrs. E. G. Seaman and Mrs. R. V. Goodman. Songs were sung by three little Japanese maidens, Dorothy and Edna Seaman and Vera McAstor and a Japanese boy. Van Goodman gave a beautiful little solo. Marjorie Seaman and Marvel Cripps, little Japanese maidens sang a lullaby to their dollies. Refreshments of candied puffed rice and fruit cookies and tea were served to the visiting tourists who had to be seated on the floor in Japanese fashion while being served.

Hawaiian characterizations took place at the home of the Olsens and the Hawaiian hostesses were Mrs. Olsen, Mrs. S. M. Crow, Mrs. Earl Allen and Mrs. W. B. Hunter. The Hawaiian girl and boy singers were Ella Olsen, Mildred Page and Beulah Magill, Floyd Moffit, Harley Candle, Glenn Laverty, Orville McAstor, Lloyd Houser and Wayne Crow, with Mrs. Willard Lewis accompanist. Esther Crow gave several instrumental selections while Agnes and Marion Hunter illustrated Hawaiian dancing. Refreshments consisting of fruitsalad, wafers and coffee were served with the guests standing or seated in Japanese fashion.

Mexico was characterized at the W. Crow home, with indoor scenery representing the adobe huts of Mexico and an old Mexican woman grinding corn in a hand mill. She was Mrs. S. L. Magill. Another old woman and her two little boys sat at the hut's entrance they being Mrs. Anna Nolan and Melvin and Warner Crow. Inside the hut Mrs. M. Crow and Mrs. F. L. Pearce were Mexican women serving a hard corn bread and hot tamales, served in glazed crockery from a black iron kettle. Outside the hut at one end of the house were four beautiful, bashful senoritas, listening to the serenading music outside the window. These were Myrtle Mason, Myrtle Olsen, Velma Allen and Maxime Pearce, whil Harold Pearce as Villa, fierce and fear inspiring, stalked around among the crowd seeking to capture a senorita to hold for ransom. He wore a Mexican hat with a crown three feet high and brim to match. M. Crow, Clayton Goodman and S. L. Magill were other Mexican characters. The whole entertainment was a wonderful success.

Henry Kuhn and Lloyd Evans left on a hunting trip Sunday morning a week ago and returned last Tuesday with a three point buck. They were probably as surprised at their early good fortune as the citizens of this city were to see them return so soon with such a fine trophy.

Some of the farmers of the valley have advertised and posted notices against hunting on their premises which afforded some protection to

Busy on Rail Strike Crisis

Within nation-wide rail strike threatened, President Harding is holding daily conferences with government officials dealing with transportation. Here he is shown leaving the offices of the Interstate Commerce Commission after a conference.

China pheasants during the open season, although some reported to have secured the limit. Even with the slaughter going on a flock of half a dozen roosters were seen along the highway the last day of the season. So they will not be entirely exterminated in one season.

Several large flocks of wild geese and ducks have been seen flying to the south during the past week, but there have been no reports of hunters getting any in this section.

Joseph Cripps went to Imbler and returned again last week.

John Avery and wife and children and another couple from the vicinity of Salem arrived here last week and will help William Avery, Sr., to work out a contract for wood and posts this winter. John has moved into the Pearl Willett property on the river bank below the grade.

Uncle Bill Fitzpatrick, over 80 years old, left for the old people's home of the Christian church at Walla Walla several days ago. The people of the community subscribed the funds to send him there as he was getting too old and feeble to live alone.

Oliver Woods is doing some carpenter work for J. W. Bright at his newly purchased place east of Wallowa. Mr. Bright is an old time resident of Lostine and has made several exchanges of property near Wallowa since he left Lostine and last spring had planned to go to New Mexico but instead he and Mrs. Bright took a trip into Western Washington and the Puget Sound country and came back perfectly contented to locate in the Wallowa valley again. So he bought the old Isaacson place and they are now remodeling it.

Oliver Pagen is doing some remodeling on the building recently purchased by Earl Allen just east of the William Allen home. Earl Allen is moving this week and Mr. and Mrs. Childers are moving to the farm in the middle valley that is being vacated by the Allens. Mrs. Childers is a sister of Mr. Allen and the farm they are taking over is a part of the Neal Allen farm of middle valley. Joe and Jesse Allen are each running a part of it. Earl Allen expects to specialize in the dairy business at his new location.

Mrs. O. J. Foley and Mrs. W. P. Robinson were visitors at the Wallowa hospital one day last week where they called on Mrs. Harry Williamson. Mrs. Williamson and infant daughter have now returned home.

John Couch of Wallowa was a business visitor in Lostine last Wednesday.

H. O. Harmon of the dry land wheat section north of Lostine demonstrated this season what can be done with a combined harvester when it is well handled and conditions are favorable. He cut and threshed 100 sacks of wheat in a week and harvested his whole crop of 2500 sacks in less than two weeks. The cost for wages, oil and repairs without considering interest and depreciation was about $1.25 an acre. The machine is drawn by horses and the separator is driven by a gasoline engine.

Mrs. Judd Cook gave a dinner Sunday entertaining the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. Emmet Clemons and son, Gerald, Mr. and Mrs. Mack Cook, Earl Whitely and son, Harold, and Mrs. Berkley Candle. It is needless to say it was a good dinner, for Mrs. Cook bears an enviable reputation as a cook, living up to her name whenever she has guests.

Bill and Ira Litchfield have returned to Lostine from the work of painting the buildings on Hurricane Creek.

Joe Whitmore and son, Tom, of Enterprise were in town Wednesday on business.

Earl Whitely returned home Saturday from Prairie Creek where he has been working with a threshing crew.

Beidler brothers who moved their threshing machine to the shed last week, are rigging up their saws and will resume sawing soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Avery and daughter, Lilly, and Mrs. David Harris and daughter, Mildred, went to Enterprise Saturday on a shopping tour. They went in the good old fashioned way with a team and light wagon with two spring seats. This is the best way to see the crops and the scenery after all and we have noticed several farmers this year who have invested in several different makes of cars in seasons past (a Ford wasn't good enough for them) who are not using their bigger cars this year at all, some using Fords and some using a team and hack all this season while their cars rest in the garage.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Shelts of Evans, a son, on Wednesday, October 12. Mrs. Shelts and baby are at the home of her sister, Mrs. Roy Carey, in Lostine.

Mrs. James Fitzpatrick left on Saturday for Pendleton where she will visit several weeks until Mr. Fitzpatrick can arrange his business here so he can join her. Then they will go to Arizona for the benefit of her health. A delegation of the Eastern Star accompanied her to the train and wished her bon voyage.

The I. O. O. F. lodge went to Enterprise a week ago instead of holding their regular meeting for a joint session with their Enterprise brethren.

The Rebekahs held an initiation meeting last Tuesday night and initiated R. V. Goodman and Mrs. Norman Winninge. A social hour was spent following the business session and refreshments were served.

Mrs. E. W. Steel entertained a number of her old time friends at an all-day gathering at her farm home northwest of Lostine on the thirteenth. It was held in honor of Mrs. Al Jones and old school girl friends of Mrs. Steel who are visiting in Joseph.

STARKEY FARMS HELPED BY RAIN

STARKEY, Oct. 24.—(Special.)—Ralph L. Sullivan spent the week-end in La Grande on business and brought home his wife and family who had been visiting at the home of Mrs. Mary McCue. He also traded his Ford truck for a new touring car.

G. I. Wade stopped over here on his way from the John Day country with a band of sheep he bought there. He will winter the sheep on the ranch he recently acquired in a trade from N. K. West, near Hilgard.

Miss Margaret Johnson and Mrs. Ray Noyes were visiting at the J. S. Rose home Sunday.

Tom Guilky of Athena, who has been at Pendleton as witness in the suit of Grun Estes, returned to the mountains last Saturday to hunt until the close of the season.

The threshing of grain in this vicinity has been finished.

Most of the farmers are through seeding and the wheat is coming up nicely as the rain has put the needed moisture into the soil.

Lot Snodgrass of the Sommer hotel of La Grande came up Saturday to hunt with the Rose brothers, Bert and Tom.

John Wells and J. S. Rose are loading their wheat into a car at Hilgard. They have finished hauling their entire crop.

Fred Hoiltke, dairyman of this place, was in La Grande one day last week.

H. E. Bloomer is down at McKay creek to work for Cunha brothers.

A. J. Sullivan went to Pendleton with a bunch of horses last week.

T. Ingram has commenced hauling his wheat to Island City.

John McNamee shipped some of his lambs to Emmett, Idaho, last week. They will be put on the ranch there.

The weather bureau man from Portland was here last week visiting with R. L. Sullivan, the local weather forecaster.

Milk Diet Cures Disease

Sanitarium and Office.

Milk, when used as a curative agent, should be given exclusively for a definite period of time and with an intelligent purpose in what one is trying to accomplish. Years of experience in this method of treating disease has made this institution well known for its good results. We find that four weeks is the time required to overcome many chronic diseases.
