THE SCREEN

ALLENE RAY AT SHERRY'S TODAY AND TOMORROW

Allene Ray, the charming new screen star whose work in "Honey-moon Ranch," her first feature, won such widespread praise, is with us again at the Sherry Theatre. "West of the Rio Grande," her latest starring vehicle, is the attraction.

In "West of the Rio Grande" she has a splendid vehicle for displaying her many charms. Unusually beautiful settings add to the effectiveness of her acting and the stirring, typical Tex O'Reilly plot carries the feature along in fast, entertaining manner.

Harry McLaughlin lends vigorous support to Miss Ray in the story of stunts and daring escapades, and under Robin H. Townley's direction the suspense of the story is carried to a very dramatic climax.

Motion picture critics have pronounced "West of the Rio Grande" as a perfect sequel to "Honey-moon Ranch," and are lavish in their praise of Allene Ray and their prediction of her very future along steller paths.

Also showing a comedy.

TONIGHT LAST APPEARANCE OF ANITA STEWART

"Sowing the Wind," which has opened an engagement at the Arcade Theatre yesterday and was received with unmistakable approval by a large audience. It can be classified as one of the really good pictures of the current season and it is of more than the usual appeal since it contains all the elements which go to make up a modern picture of ceaseless action. Miss Stewart, by a finished performance in her portrayal of the character of a beautiful innocent girl whose mother is a "queen" of revellers in a notorious gambling house, commands hearty sympathy.

The cast supporting Miss Stewart deserves special commendation. It is far above the average. Ralph Lewis, Myrtle Stedman, James Morrison and William V. Mong all handle important roles most acceptably. Mr. Lewis as Abraham, the father of the unfortunate girl, gives an exceptionally fine performance, while Miss Stedman as the wayward mother succeeds in doing her best work as an emotional artist.

"Sowing the Wind" is a photoplay which will thoroughly divert most anyone. It is even more than mere entertainment, for it is a veritable study such as anyone enjoys digging into with a zeal.

REFEREE RULES AGAINST FIGHTER LOAFING ON JOB

PORTLAND, Oct. 27.—Frankie Farren and Abe Miskind fought to a ten-round draw last night. The referee stopped a six-round bout between Joe Harrahan and Johnny Trambitas in the fifth, declaring Trambitas was not trying to fight, giving Harrahan the decision.
