Australian Would Come.
F. Verdich, who lives at No. 147 Frederick street, Rockdale, Sydney, Australia, writes the Ad Club that he has come to him that the general climate, industries, geography and other items of interest in and around La Grande are quite similar to his home city in the far-away Orient and he wants to verify it. He wants to make a change, he says, and has his eye on Union county. Full descriptive matter has gone forth but the writer of the letter could not give personal testimony that the conditions here and there were similar but assured the Australian that it was a safe bet to say the local end of the bargain was the better.

Island City Is Mecca.
Twenty-five persons from La Grande have made reservations to attend the community banquet at Island City this evening. That is the total number of tickets out of a total of 100, to be allotted La Grande. The balance of the tickets will be the farmers about Island City, and the men of the town here. In order that there be plenty of pep along with the La Grande delegation, Pop Master Ray Murphy has drilled some new community songs into his cohorts and 10 of the 25 from La Grande will go for the express purpose of singing a little in the community songs on tap for the evening. Ray, Leitch of Island City is the ring master of the arrangements and Fred Kiddle Jr. will be toastmaster. Several good speeches have been booked and there will be plenty of music.

Country Club Notes

High Lights About the Links, Club House and Natatorium.

Many La Grande Country Club golf disciples look forward with a great deal of pleasure to the inter-city event at the Baker Country Club next Sunday. The Baker golfers have invited the golf players and their families from La Grande to spend the day as their guests. A dinner at noon, it is understood, will be arranged. While there are no match plays or inter-club contests on the program, the event will afford a splendid opportunity for the golf enthusiasts to fraternize with each other.

Several parties are going over Saturday to spend the afternoon on the Baker course and pay an informal visit to the citizens there. Many local fans have not played over the Baker course and will welcome the opportunity.

OREGON STILL FULL OF HOPE

EUGENE, Nov. 4.—Daily practice is being held by the University of Oregon football players here for their two remaining Pacific Coast Conference games, one against Washington State College at Pullman next Saturday and the other their annual clash with the Oregon Agricultural College here Nov. 19. Despite Oregon's defeat by the University of California in the first all-conference game of the season, Coach Shy Huntington expects to send into the next two games a team which will make a good showing.

Oregon goes to Hawaii in December for games against the University of Hawaii and a team of stars.

FIVE MEN AND A CAT LEAVE IN A BOAT

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 4.—Adventure is being sought by five San Franciscans and a black cat, who left here recently for a year's cruise in the foot boat Los Amigos along the west coast of South America. Jacob Goldberg is the captain of the craft, and head of the party. Sails will be depended upon to propel the boat, although there is an auxiliary gasoline engine aboard.

Los Amigos will touch at Southern California ports and then head for Ocos, Guatemala, and Callao, Peru where the boat will turn back toward the states.

It is logical that pouring drugs into the stomach will not cure catarrh in the head. Hyomei, medicated astringent, reaches the seat of the disease. Guaranteed by all druggists.—Adv.
