Mimics Chaplin

Jackie Coogan costarred with Charlie Chaplin in "The Kid." Now is a star in his own right in "My Boy." And he wears a Chaplin mustache!

They do not starve in Riga. Far from it.

Some of the better educated members of the legation feel keenly their estrangement from the other diplomatic circles of Riga. Unless it is an official affair, to which every diplomat must be invited, even the representatives of the states which have official relations with Russia shy at having Bolsheviks at their table.

The Russian government, however, is buying its way into diplomatic neighborhoods. The purchase of the Italian minister's house in Riga was followed by the purchase, at Reval, of the building occupied by the American consulate and the American Red Cross.

VOTING LAW TO BE TESTED

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—The Chicago-Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway company was found guilty Tuesday of refusing to permit 25 employees to absent themselves from work for two hours with pay, to vote in the primaries last April.

Judge Frank Righeimer, in county court, fined the company $100 in each of the 25 cases. An appeal will be taken, the company's attorney announced, to test the law requiring employers to pay for the time employees spend voting.

RUSSIANS NOW MONGREL NATION

Flags of Many Nations Fly at Riga; Old Glory Alongside of Soviet Red Flag

RIGA, LATVIA, Nov. 9.—The Stars and Stripes and the Red Flag of the Russian Soviet Republic now flap in the same breeze in the same block in Riga.

The big German automobile of the Bolshevik minister, M. Genetzky, and the big American car of the American Commissioner, Captain Evan Young, pass each other in the streets daily, but neither this fact nor the proximity of their offices has made any difference in the frigidly "Don't-know-you-exist" attitude which the American and Bolshevik representatives have to maintain.

There is, however, a constant coming and going of non-official Americans at the Bolshevik legation. American Relief Administration officials are seen there arranging for transportation of food to the Russian famine sufferers; American commercial men are seeking business contracts or the difficult, elusive Soviet visa that would permit them to enter Russia, and newspaper correspondents are there daily in search of news or a visa.

The quarters of the Soviet Legation are as well appointed as those of any other legation in Riga, and from their dress, one could not distinguish the budding young Soviet diplomatists from their non-recognizing colleagues in the chancelleries of Great Britain, France and the United States.

Privately, many of these young Russians will admit that they are neither Communists, nor Bolsheviks, but only Russians and glad to have a job outside of the "starvation belt."
