Hidden Hero

Sergeant Samuel Woodfill's light was turned "under a bush" till General Pershing, digging through dusty files, dragged him into the spotlight. He picks Woodfill as the greatest war hero even ahead of Alvin York. This Indiana soldier will represent the infantry at the burial of the Unknown Soldier.

CANTALOUPE BY THE MILLIONS

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 9.—More than 1,000,000 cantaloupes enough to furnish every resident of the United States with a melon a half for breakfast—were raised in the Imperial valley of southern California this year, according to the Pacific Fruit Express Company.

Land on which the melons were raised not so many years ago, was a desert. Now more than 400 miles of irrigation canals carry water from the Colorado river to Imperial valley farms. The valley is located not far from the lowest land depression in the world.

In all, 12,000 carloads of cantaloupes were shipped from Imperial valley points this year to Pacific coast and eastern markets. All went out in refrigerator cars, big ice manufacturing plants being operated at Drawley and El Centro, valley points to stock the cars.

An attempt is to be made this winter in the Imperial valley to produce Christmas melons, the valley fourteen years ago having sent out the first melons ever produced in the country in the holiday season outside of a hothouse.

The first Christmas melons were raised during a frostless winter and predictions have been made that the many farmers have planted winter melons, hoping to realize a golden harvest.

The ban has been placed on fraternities and similar secret organizations in the University high school at Eugene, and no dances are to be held in the school building.

Gorgous Gown

If your gown is expensive, you must refer to it as reflecting a Modern Age influence. If it is just a cheap affair you can let it go by talking about the Middle Ages. Anyway, the gorgeous Mary White costume is certainly suggestive of the Middle Ages. It is of heavy blue lace, with silver over silver trim. Sleeves and neck are outlined in silver material.

SUGAR A DOLLAR A POUND NOW

MOSCOW, Oct. 10.—Sacharine is the article most generally trafficked in here. As sugar sells on the markets for the equivalent of nearly $1 a pound, few persons can afford it. Sacharine is the universal sweetening. It is the pet article for smugglers.

Customs examiners are not able to check the illicit trade because of the ease with which millions and billions of rubles' worth of the sugar substitute can be concealed in luggage and on the person of smugglers. It comes across the Polish, Lithuanian, Lettish, Estonian and Finnish boundaries in great quantities. Rumanians also run it across the Bessarabian border.

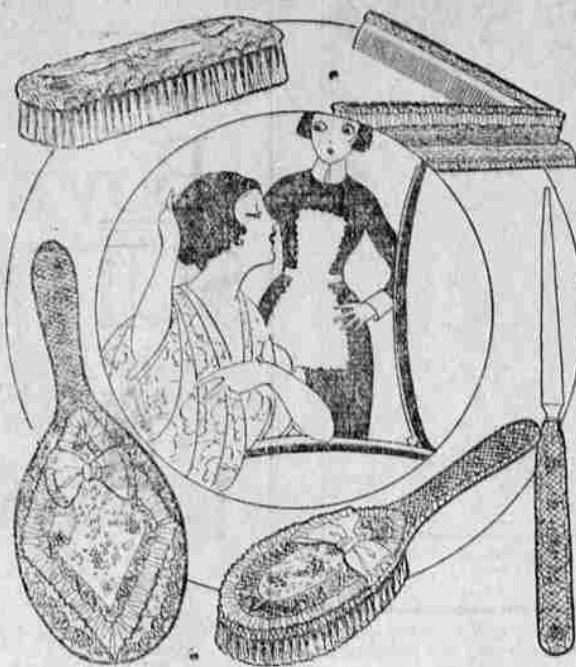

On every street corner in Russian cities there are sacharine dealers soliciting buyers. Food shops and market stalls offer it everywhere. Booths sell it on street corners. Even cabdrivers deal in it. It is usually offered in capsules contained in small glass tubes which may be carried conveniently in a vest pocket.

It is not uncommon to encounter cultivated women and former army officers among the sacharine dealers. The tattered fragments of a decent wardrobe and cultivated speech indicate their past, when their feet were not shod in birchbark sandals.

Is Your Dressing Table Smart?

Fashion's changing modes are not all confined to clothes. The dressing table demands its attention. The latest in Franklin Simon designs for dressing table accessories carry out the color scheme of the boudoir. The adaptation of beehive, round base, tiny towers to comb backs and cases and to brushes, rod, manicure articles is especially clever. The portable electric lamp to hang over the bed is another new conceit.
