Educational Week Early In December

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 17.—Schools, public, private and parochial from the kindergarten to the post graduate college and every organization in the United States which can gather men and women together are being asked to join with the National Educational Association and the American Legion in observing the week of December 4 to 10 as "American Educational Week."

It is hoped that every American, native or foreign born, will start the year 1922 right with self instruction in the history, aims and ideals of the country and its institutions and this is the purpose of the week, according to Legion national headquarters here. The attracting of national attention to the need of a better education for Americans generally underlies the scheme. It is added.

Improvement In Mail Asked By Islands

MANILA, P. I. Nov. 17.—Because of the delay in receipt of mail from Spain, the Philippine Chamber of Commerce has asked the postal authorities of the Philippines and of Spain to take steps to improve the service between the two countries. According to the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, it requires 69 days to transport mail from Spain to the Philippines. The long delay is due, the secretary says, to the fact that the Spanish government has not changed since the war. Its procedure of sending the mail for the Philippines by way of the United States as a result of the temporary closing of the Suez canal.

The secretary in his letter to the postal authorities of the two countries says the long time required in transporting mail is working great inconveniences and actual loss to business houses, in many cases.

CHURCHLESS AND JAILLESS TOWN

DAVENPORT, Ia., Nov. 17.—There are two institutions that Walcott, Iowa, prides itself in not possessing. These are churches and jails. In its religious beliefs, Walcott is unique. For more than 50 years the town has been without a church. It once had a jail, but like its only church, established 65 years ago and which existed but a few years, it was put in the discard. While the jail building still stands, there is no vestige of a church edifice. But there are no locks to the jail and its hinges have rotted off. It is never used.

"We are free thinkers and believe in free American citizenship every day a week. We do not need preachers to dictate to us. We are better off without them," states Mayor Strubben in expressing Walcott's lack of churches.

Mayor Strubben states that while any denomination has the privilege of establishing a church in Walcott, the people simply will not patronize them. They would have empty pews and empty collection baskets every Sunday.

"We are getting along very well as we are—much better than with churches. We like to be let alone. There is no more peaceful or law-abiding town in the whole United States than Walcott. Why should we want churches. They bring strife and dissensions—we want peace and quietude," commented the town's popular mayor.

It's no secret how Walcott residents spend their Sabbath. "Shows and dances are our principal Sunday amusement," says Mayor Strubben. "Then in summer we enjoy baseball and automobile riding."

In case of weddings, most of the couples come to Davenport and look up a justice. In very rare instances a minister of the gospel is called in. Most of the funerals in the town are conducted by Johannes Kroeger, who delivers the oration in either German or English, as the mourners desire. Mr. Kroeger possesses no church affiliations or religious beliefs. In other words he is a pastor without a creed. Baptisms are unknown in the town.

In a business and commercial way, Walcott is a saving town. It has two banks with combined deposits of over $1,000,000. This is a remarkable showing when it is considered that the population of the town is only 100. It has a commercial school which is held in one of the part of the state.

Recently the citizens erected a fine public auditorium. Here musical and musical entertainments are held on weekdays, and dances on Sundays.
