

MILLIONS WILL DIE IN RUSSIA

(By Associated Press)
STOCKHOLM, Dec. 10.—Maxim Gorky, Russian novelist and formerly head of the Russian Relief commission, told the Associated Press correspondent when he passed through this city on his way to Berlin that he believed the deaths from starvation in Russia would aggregate 35,000,000.

He heartily praised the support which the American people were giving to the starving people of Russia but said the only way out of the serious situation would be through the establishment of international relief founded on the American plan, broad, efficient, complete and well-controlled.

He doubted, however, whether the necessary relief would arrive in time to avert disaster.

He expressed the opinion that Mr. Hoover's relief was somewhat imperfect and lacked organization, because sufficient safeguards were not taken to prevent the stealing of the food by gangs or Soviet officials, from the time the commodities arrived in Petrograd until they are consumed.

M. Gorky said Mr. Hoover had placed too much confidence in the Soviet.

He deplored the passivity of France and excused Germany for not coming to the support of Russia. Sweden's contribution to the famine he thought was but a drop in the ocean.

On the question of Russian interior politics, Gorky said "anarchy is as common as a corner is here, but nobody takes any notice. Quite recently there was a fierce riot in Petrograd which was only quelled after much bloodshed."

COFFIN FOR LIVE SQUAW.

HOQUIAM, Wash., Dec. 10.—Though his great aunt, Patty George, full-blooded Quinalt Indian whose age he estimated to be between 125 and 130 years, was not dead when he left home at Taholah, Chief Billy Bason came into the city today to purchase a coffin. It was believed by him and the members of his family at the reservation that the old squaw could not live many more hours. Plans were to bury her on the reservation, no particular ceremony being observed.

Patty George was born at Taholah, according to Chief Bason. She married Deaf George, a member of the Grays Harbor tribe, who died a few years ago.

WYOMING CITY BANKRUPT.

SHERIDAN, Wyo., Dec. 10.—Announcing that the city has overdrawn its estimated income and that the banks of Sheridan have issued notice that no more city warrants will be cashed, Mayor Camplin said today that all city employees, including members of the fire and police department "may be expected to quit work any day."

"If the banks persist in this policy, there is nothing more to do except to discontinue issuing warrants," Mayor Camplin said. "No employee of the city can be expected to work for nothing, therefore, they may quit at any time."
