"BIG GAME" GIVES PLENTY OF THRILLS

"Big Game," starring May Allison had its first showing yesterday at the Sherry Theatre, and from the beginning there was no doubt about its merits. The audience manifested great enthusiasm. It will run for the last time today.

Whether it was the personality of May Allison which took the audience by storm, or whether it was the strong plot of the picture, cannot be said, for both contributed in putting "Big Game" the Metro special, a picture in a class by itself. It is very rarely that the reviewer has had the privilege of seeing such a perfect combination of a brilliant actress and a strong, compelling plot.

It gives the lie to the statement that all plots have been worked threadbare. The picture tells of the Canadian adventure of Larry Winthrop, heir to the millions of the Boston Winthrop, and his wife, Eleanor, who thinks her husband the epitome of nauvass. Their guide, Henry Baptiste likes to rap women, and knows so. He decides that Eleanor must become his, and brushes the husband away as irrelevant. The change from the clinging cowardice of Larry to that of a furious creature brings the climax of the picture, and provides a series of thrills that brings the blood racing through the veins.

The picture is even better than the New York stage success by Willard Robertson and Kilbourn Gordon, from which it was adapted. May Allison here achieves the best acting of her varied career.

Also "Fighting Fate" is shown.

"MOTHER O' MINE" NOW PLAYING AT ARCADE

With maternal devotion as the theme, and a cleverly involved melodramatic plot as its moving factor, Thomas H. Ince has woven with characteristic skill in his latest production for the Associated Producers, "Mother O' Mine," which opened at the Arcade Theatre yesterday, a motion picture fabric that should stand the wear and tear of the most exacting and critical screen audiences.

Woven also into the drama, and adding materially to its excellence and strength, are five strikingly contrasted characterizations, intelligently interpreted by an all-star cast—Lloyd Hughes, Joseph Kilgour, Betty Blythe, Betty Ross Clark and Claire McDowell.

The acting honors are pretty evenly divided. Joseph Kilgour, as the financier, gives his customary sound interpretation of the heavy role. Betty Blythe, as the wayward woman, is not only beautiful and gowned in surpassing elegance, but demonstrates genuine histrionic capabilities in her many dramatic situations. Claire McDowell, in the title role, is sincere and convincing, and Betty Ross Clark commands sympathy and admiration as the plucky sweetheart of the condemned lad.

Lloyd Hughes, as the boy, Robert Sheldon, demonstrates that he is not only destined to become a top-notch dramatic actor, but that he has practically arrive at that position of eminence. His work in the different of prison scenes is flawless.

"Mother O' Mine" was adapted to the screen by C. Gardner Sullivan from Charles Belmont Davis' story "The Octopus."

This feature will be the attraction at the Arcade today and Saturday.

STAR OF "PASSION" IN "GYPSY BLOOD"

"Gypsy Blood," starring Pola Negri, the great emotional actress of the European continent, who made her debut on the American screen in "Passion," is coming to the Star theatre Saturday and Sunday.

"Gypsy Blood" is adapted from Prosper Merimee's original story of "Carmen." Twice before has "Carmen" been done in films, but in those instances they were adaptations of the popular French libretto put to music by Bizet for the opera instead of from the original story, which is quite a different matter.

CONTRACTOR IN FINE SHAPE NOW

Portland Man Relates Facts of How He Overcame His Troubles.

"Tanlac restored me to health about a year ago and I have been in the pink of condition ever since," said Peter Jacobson, 1239 Cornvick St., Portland, Ore., well-known cement contractor.

Rheumatism and stomach trouble had the best of me for a long time and when I began taking Tanlac I was almost down and out. It was no pleasure for me to eat, as I knew what I would suffer afterwards, and I was so stiff and sore I could hardly do my work.

"I can say for Tanlac that it wasn't long in straightening out my troubles and in a few weeks this medicine had me feeling as fine as I ever did in my life. For a year now I have been feeling tip-top and Tanlac deserves the credit."

Tanlac is sold in La Grande by Silverthorn's Family Drug Store and all leading druggists.—Adv.
