Miss Susie Jacobs was an Enterprise visitor last week.

Oscar Olsen has gone to Crow creek to work for a few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Houck and children spent Christmas with relatives in Joseph.

The Christmas program at the school house Thursday night, December 22nd, was much enjoyed by a crowded house, everyone out to hear Johnny and Susie speak their pieces, and certainly they were well rewarded for coming. Each room of the grades had a Christmas play, a motion song and a recitation, and they all did surprisingly well, though the Lostine school always does have good entertainments. The primary department play seemed to appeal the strongest to the audience, because it was the very first attempt before the public for some of them and there wasn't a single one but what did their part well, showing good work on the part of the teachers as well as the pupils. There will be a debate tryout on the night of January 13th, to try for the selection of debaters who will take part in the county and district debate contest which will begin in a few weeks. There is a class of 10 now drilling in debate work. Last year our team won the county and district honors and went to Eugene where they lost out in the semifinals. The high school is planning for an entertainment for January 29th, to which a nominal admission will be charged. The proceeds to be applied to fixing up the stage and purchasing a new drop curtain.

The Christmas program given by the Union Sunday school in the Presbyterian church Saturday night was much appreciated by a good-sized audience. The main part of the program was a cantata by the primary and intermediate departments, with the superintendent, Mrs. E. G. Seaman in charge, and Leonard Olsen there as Santa Claus representative. The lesson taught all through the cantata and songs of the evening, was that Christmas was the Christ Child festival and He must be exalted King and not He must be king of Christmas, and the decorations were very harmonious with the program with a manger built in between two beautifully decorated Christmas trees, a back ground above and back of the manger and trees of the starry night sky, while a wondrous brilliant star was suspended over the manger and gradually moved toward the manger, while the story of the Three Wise Men's Journey was read by Mrs. F. L. Pearce, chairman of the decoration committee, and finally the start halted over the manger in which was not a representation of the Christ child, but only a contribution box, past which the children marched single file, and deposited their gifts of coin toward a fund to aid the suffering ones in the near east. Bringing gifts to Him by the "In as much" method which he taught when he dwelt among men on earth. There was among men on earth. There was also a beautiful arch over the pulpit also a beautiful arch over the pulpit of evergreen boughs and poinsettias and there were some beautiful solos, duets and an anthem by the choir, and on Sunday evening Rev. Shields gave a fine Christmas sermon, and the choir rendered several beautiful anthems. It is planned to have special music for the next Sunday night for the New Year services and the people of the community are urged to attend these services. Rev. Shields is also planning for special meetings to be held some time in the near future, early in February at the latest.

Mrs. Gusie Crow received word last week that her father, Mr. Englehorn of California, was seriously ill and about to be operated upon, but she received a wire later that he was much better. Mr. Englehorn is well known here, being an old pioneer of the Hurricane creek community, near Joseph, and spending part of his summers here with Mrs. Crow and his son Lewis, at Astoria, Ore., but goes to California for his winters. He is 87 years old, but very spry and active for his years, and travels to and from California alone. He is a Civil War veteran also and well known to the few remaining Civil War soldiers.

M. E. Standley, of 1107 Albina ave., here, Portland, arrived here Saturday to spend the holidays with his brothers, Walter and Earl Standley. He reports colder weather in Portland than we have here.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Gilgerson spent Christmas Day with Mr. and Mrs. Bert Atterbury of North Powder.

The Christmas tree and program held at the hall Saturday night was a huge success and was enjoyed immensely by young and old. Even old Santa was there, to the delight of the little folks.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Tulley ate Christmas dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Standley.

Saturday, January 7, is the regular grange meeting night, at which time installation of officers will be held. An article in last week's news read that the meeting night was on Tuesday, which was a mistake. The men will serve a lunch of weenies and sauer kraut.

The Wolf Creek club met with Mrs. Earl Standley last week. Those present were: the Misses Bessie and Margaret Gilgerson, Mrs. James Gilgerson, Mrs. Perry Nance, Mrs. Lula Talley, and Mrs. Brice Denning. At the proper hour a lunch was served of cake, coffee and sandwiches.

The Busy Dozen club will entertain their husbands Thursday night at the home of Mrs. Mark Turner.

Miss Ruth Harrison, Martha Harrison and Ethel Simones visited Mrs. Albert Hastings one afternoon this week.

J. A. Nice and family spent Christmas Day with Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Nance.
