"WOMAN'S MAN" ONE OF THE SEASON'S SUCCESSSES

One of the season's successes will be seen at the Star Theatre Wednesday and Thursday in the photoplay, "Woman's Man." This feature stars Romaine Fielding, one of the best known actors in America.

Romaine Fielding has been out of pictures for the last three years. During the war he was a Lieutenant Colonel in the army, and "Woman's Man" is his first picture since his discharge from the army.

Velvet, Behan co-stars with Mr. Fielding in "Woman's Man." She is an attractive girl who will be seen in two characters. First, as the Mexican dancer in an Arizona dance hall, and later as a society girl in New York City.

There are several big thrills in this picture. The first one is the big train wreck where two trains have a head-on collision and pile up in a gigantic wreckage. This is a big moment in the picture and is bound to produce many thrills. There are a number of well known players supporting the stars in "Woman's Man," all of whom are well known to the patrons of the Star Theatre.

ELUE'S BEST AT SHERRY'S TODAY AND TOMORROW

Monte Blue, the big Westerner who made a debut success recently in the Cecil DeMille production of "Some thing to Think About," has probably the strongest role in his screen career in the Charles Maigne production of "The Kentuckians," the well known John Fox, Jr. novel. He enacts the role of Boone Stallard, a Kentucky mountaineer, who goes to the legislature with the ambition of winning emancipation for his fellowmen.

No sooner does he attend a session of the legislature than he has a clash with Randolph Marshall, a Kentucky aristocrat, who vows that the only way to get order into the mountainous regions is to disrupt the mountaineers' country. A feud in the mountains causes Stallard to flee to his people and he demonstrates successfully that he can rule them. When he returns to Frankfort, planning to ask the hand of the governor's daughter in marriage, he is brought to a sudden realization of the difference between the mountaineers and the Blue Grass people and refrains from any such step and the picture closes with the assumption that Marshall wins the girl.

Also showing a comedy.

STARKEY FOLKS ENJOY HOLIDAY

(Special to The Observer)

STARKEY, Jan. 2.—Ward Smith went to La Grande last week to bring in a load of logs he had bought.

A Christmas dinner at the Sol Twidwell place last week will be remembered long by all present. Goose and turkey and all the trimmings were on the bill of fare. Among those fortunate enough to attend the Christmas meal at the Twidwell home were Alvin Thornburg and Sam Nixon.

Fred Holtke enjoyed a fine Christmas dinner at the Len Ingham home.

Jack Starrie has returned from his trip to Boise.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Noyse returned from a visit of several days in La Grande, having spent Christmas there.

Alvin Thornburg is now about out of his job—that of doing chores for his neighbors who went away during Christmas.

Mr. and Mrs. Joyn Wells and little son, "Thor," were in La Grande last Tuesday.

Sam Nixon is recovering from a severe cold. He was among those who patronized Starkey's barber, on the latter's return from a several months absence last week.

Ralph Sullivan's small son, Leslie, has almost recovered from his illness.

Mrs. Ruby Robertson and baby son came home to spend Christmas with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Briggs.

Clairie Daniela came down from Carson mines and spent two days with the J. S. Rose family. He carried the mail back to the trappers, R. L. Williams and John Rodgers, who are camped at sheep ranch, on his way back.

Henry Benfer writes from Hot Lake that he is improving and able to sit up since his operation.

Miss Margaret Johnson has taken up her duties at the school here.

Take Your Choice.
A face specialist says that the shape of the nose can be altered by paraffin wax. A simpler method, of course, is by whacks of the fist.

In Another Sense.
She—"Before we were married you said you couldn't do enough for me."
He—"Well, I guess time has proved that I was right."
