NEW RAY PLAY HAS COMEDY THRILLS AND GHOSTS GALORE

"Midnight Bell," which opened yesterday at the Arcade Theatre for a run of three days. Charles Ray stars in this First National attraction, and this fact alone is sufficient guarantee that the picture is worth seeing. Each succeeding Ray picture portrays him in a new type, and such is his versatility that he makes all of them living and breathing characters, true to life in all particulars. In "A Midnight Bell" he is a traveling salesman, young, enthusiastic and persevering. His attempts to sell rubber heels to a storekeeper who doesn't want them are highly amusing. Later, obtaining a position as clerk in the same store, he shows his proprietor how to make sales, using a judicious mixture of flattery, salesmanship and guile. These scenes kept the audience in an uproar of laughter yesterday. But the picture is not all comedy. There are some exciting episodes in which Ray battles a band of bank robbers in a haunted church. The most hardened athlete would not relish the prospect of such a contest.

Thousands of men and women of all ages and of all walks of life afflicted with stomach, liver and kidney disorders, some of them long standing, as well as thousands of weak thin, nervous men and women apparently on the verge of collapse have testified publicly that they have been fully restored to their normal health, strength and weight by its use. Still others, who seemed fairly well, yet who suffered with indigestion, headaches, shortness of breath, dizzy spells, sour stomach, coated tongue, fainting of breath, constipation, had complexion, loss of appetite, sleeplessness at night and terribly depressed and gloomy feelings, state that they have been entirely relieved of these ailments performing the stunts that Ray does in these situations. In one instance, bound securely to a chair, unable to move his fingers more than a few inches, Ray managed to seize the belt rope and by tilting himself against it, rings the bell to summon assistance.

It is a story of small-town life—the kind that American audiences relish. It is from the famous stage play of the same name by Chas. H. Crockett, and proved a happy choice. "A Midnight Bell" contains all the elements of a perfect picture.

AT SHERRY'S LAST DAY.

There are a wealth of thrill and mystery in the adventurous love story presented in "Ladyfingers," a Bayard Guller production for Metro Starring Bert Lytell.

It is a crook play, but so cleverly from the usual crook play as to stand out prominently. It is just the sort of dramatic work which Director Veiller showed by his far too stag productions, he shows how to get the most out of it. Deals with the career of a youth who is trained by a notorious and eccentric woman, in a rich and eccentric woman, and is brought face to face with her who on a visit of inquiry to her home, in ignorance that he is her grandson, through the old lady wishes to acknowledge and forgive her by means to accept the mantle of respectability.

WILLAMETTE UNIVERSITY, Salem, Jan. 13.—No more informal dancing among the university girls at the "O. C. Hall." Such was the decision of the hall board of directors at a recent meeting.

Informal dancing has been prevalent after the dinner hour, the couples taking dormitory sisters for partners and tipping off a good deal of "latex" to music supplied by their sisters.

Very unusual by some of the girls were learning to dance who otherwise would not engage in that form of amusement led to the board's action. Girls at the hall are said to be submitting to the decision with good grace.

Meddled air is the only good songster at the hall. The Hypocrite and obtaining gate pass. At all dances, money back if it fails.—Adv. 1-13-2f

People All Over America Want to Know What Is Behind the Phenomenal Success of This Preparation That Makes It the World's Greatest Tonic.

Day after day the question is being asked all over the United States and Canada: What is the reason for the phenomenal success of Tanlac? Why do we hear so much about it? And why do Tanlac sales keep increasing every year, when other medicines seem to have a short-lived popularity and are then forgotten?

The answer is simple enough. The test of time has proven to people all over the American continent that Tanlac always produces most gratifying results and that the remarkable relief it brings seems to be more permanent than ever before believed possible.

Tens of thousands of persons, everywhere, who took it when it was first introduced six years ago, report that they are still enjoying excellent health and millions of American homes are now using Tanlac as the family medicine after first trying it out thoroughly and proclaiming it the World's Greatest Tonic.

Thousands of men and women of all ages and of all walks of life afflicted with stomach, liver and kidney disorders, some of them long standing, as well as thousands of weak thin, nervous men and women apparently on the verge of collapse have testified publicly that they have been fully restored to their normal health, strength and weight by its use.
