

THE OUTBURSTS OF EVERETT TRUE--by Condo.

RED EDITOR IS SENT HOME

(By Associated Press) OXFORD, Eng., Jan. 17.—Arthur E. Keade, a 29-year-old student of Worcester College, has been "sent down" otherwise removed, from Oxford university by the vice-chancellor and proctors for editing a revolutionary newspaper. Young Keade came to Oxford from Eton, the most fashionable public school in England last year and set forth his advanced views in "Free Oxford," a Communist Journal of Youth, an inter-university paper. Charles H. Gray, his associate editor, has been "sent down" for two terms. A genial young giant, Keade publicly proclaimed his admiration for Lenin and his faith in the dictatorship of the proletariat. He gloried in the admission that his paper preached sedition. One of the offending paragraphs stated that "the bourgeoisie would be offered the alternative of surrender or extermination," and that "the destruction of a few would terrorize the rest into surrender."

The Oxford university authorities believe that bolshevik propaganda among the English youth is becoming a menace. Leonid Krassin, the soviet trade envoy tried recently to deliver an address in connection with the Russian famine relief in the hall of the Union, the famous Oxford debating society, but permission to use the hall was refused, and Krassin delivered his speech in an assembly room belonging to the Society of Friends, admission to which was only gained by running the gauntlet of an uproarious crowd of non-supporters. Women were called in to aid the National Council of England, the predecessor of the House of Lords, as its age as 60.

Champions in Basketball Last Year to Start Season With Smallest Team on Coast.

(By Associated Press) HOUSTON, Tex., Jan. 17.—Outstanding of Oregon, undefeated basketball champions in the Northwest Conference last season, will enter 1922 competition with what is believed to be the lightest and smallest college team on the coast and one in which eight hopes are placed.

Greatly weakened by the loss of the incomparable Eddie Burns, they forward, whose work was his all-around and all-around placements for three seasons, and Nick Chapman, star guard, the lemon-yellow quintet will build on its favorable debut this year for 1922, according to Coach George M. Bohler.

The Oregon schedule includes 20 conference games. The exceptional number of games to be played offers an opportunity, thinks Coach Bohler, to shift lineup many times and it is probable that between 12 and 16 men will make their letters in the season.

Regulars from last year's squad will not be available until the return of the varsity from Hawaii with "Huck" Leatham, racy center of last year's squad. Bill Reinhart, forward, and Hal Chapman, who is expected even to surpass his brother Nick at guard.

In games played during the holiday barnstorming trip the coach made several finds among last year's freshmen and second stringers. But one letter man, Mark Leatham, made the trip.

Burnett, who has been on the squad, has improved and developed into a shifty man at guard. Don Zimmerman, third year man, will also play at center. Other available men are Coach, Beaver, McMillan, Roehley, Aistock and Gorr. Coach Bohler has reason to worry over Leatham, Chapman and Reinhart, whose grades may not be in shape to allow them to play because of work missed during the Hawaiian jaunt, for the university makes no allowances as to grades.

Dentist Connection With Boxing Match
N. A. Dentist today announced that he has nothing to do with the boxing contest tomorrow night excepting an answer of Rex Hall, the full where the contest is to be held. He is not associated with anyone, the statement to the contrary in yesterday's Observer having been made on apparently reliable information. It is reported that the boxing commission itself is handling the contest, although this information has not been verified by the Observer.

COLLECTIONS FOR THE DYING

(By Associated Press) BERLIN, Jan. 17.—Collections to pay the cost of funerals, births, and even marriages have become common in Berlin, where the cost of dying, as well as living, has increased enormously since the beginning of the winter.

When there is a death among the employees in an office building a list is made out of the occupants of the building and the papers quietly passed around, and every one contributes. When a laborer dies or a member of his family is stricken, the list is passed through the apartment building in which he lives, or if in the suburbs, through the whole community.

Business in a family is cause for the same procedure and a marriage is not often passed without a cash contribution.

Workers and low-salaried members of the "white collar" professions can barely enough to buy food and fuel to support them during the winter months. New clothes are not to be thought of, particularly shoes, a pair of which costs as much as many heads of families each in a month.

Many workmen go about their duties in shoes so patched that very little of the original material remains. Their shoes are often full of holes, carnumous patches, or their feet are wrapped about with rags.

Consistent is said in labor circles that, while the workmen are suffering under these conditions, the profiteers and foreigners are spending enormous sums upon luxuries. This is causing much bitterness among the workers.

The Central Government has directed that the names of those convicted of speculation and profiteering be published prominently in the newspapers.
