CHAMBER TAKES TAX STAND

The following resolution was adopted by the Oregon State Chamber of Commerce at its third annual convention which convened in Portland, Oregon, January 3, 1922:

WHEREAS, our present policy of Federal taxation, has undergone a most radical change from that of indirect to direct taxation, and

WHEREAS, such change has resulted in chief reliance being had upon a graduated scale of taxation upon income that levies high rates upon those of large income, and

WHEREAS, by reason of such rates there is a constantly increasing volume of capital being invested in and diverted into non-taxable securities of the Federal, state and minor subdivisions of government and instrumentalities of government, and

WHEREAS, the investment and diversion of such capital has proved a serious handicap to productive enterprise and has given to such exempted securities an unfair competitive advantage in the markets for capital, and

WHEREAS, such investment on the part of those of large income serves to exempt them from the payment of taxes they otherwise would be obliged to pay, and

WHEREAS, there is hereby necessarily imposed upon those who cannot benefit by such exemption an unfair burden of taxation;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the Oregon State Chamber of Commerce in third annual convention assembled that it recommends that necessary corrective legislation be provided to remove the present inequitable burden of taxation and to make all income from whatever source and in whatever form bear its just proportion of the cost of government and to remove the discrimination now prevailing between securities of government and those of private enterprise, and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that a copy of this resolution be transmitted by the secretary to each member of Congress from Oregon.

You are entitled to the benefit of the doubt Why not take advantage of it?

The law is very careful in protecting the rights of a prisoner charged with a crime.

How about the Law of Common Sense and the man who has committed an error only? Isn't this a good place to use the benefit of the doubt, too?

Take your own case: If you don't know for sure whether tea or coffee is harming you, you do know that many are harmed by the drug element in tea and coffee, and that headaches, nervousness or high blood pressure are symptoms which often tell that the drug, caffeine, is giving the nervous system too much jolt.

Probably you know, too, that some people can't drink a cup of tea or coffee at bed time and sleep well that night.

Where many have been harmful by tea and coffee, and you may be harmed, isn't it well to put the benefit of the doubt on your side before doubt becomes an unpleasant certainty?

There's charm without harm in Postum—a pure cereal beverage, rich in flavor, fully satisfying; the favorite table drink of thousands.

Suppose you try giving yourself this benefit today, and keep up the test for ten days; then judge the results. See if you don't feel better and work better. You can get Postum wherever good food and drink are sold or served.

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (in tin) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes.
