Now, what is the farmer asking? Without trying to outline the remedial measures that have been suggested in his behalf, the essential proposals that bear directly on the improvement of his distributing and marketing methods may be summarized as follows:

First: storage warehouses for cotton, wool, and tobacco, and elevators for grain, of sufficient capacity to meet the maximum demand on them at the peak of the marketing period. The farmer thinks that either private capital must furnish these facilities or the state must erect and own the stores and warehouses.

Second: weighing and grading agricultural products, and certificates thereof, to be done by disinterested public inspectors. Already accomplished to a large extent by the federal licensing of weighers and graders), to eliminate cheating, overcharging, and unfair grading, and to facilitate the utilization of stored products as the basis of credit.

Third: a certainty of car supply to enable the marketing of crops in an orderly manner.

Fourth: the Department of Agriculture should collect, tabulate, and regularly disseminate literature and life fish and clothing. The program, every information of which was declared by the world to have been exceptionally well rendered, and made the audience feel that they were almost living with the Russians during the hour, was as follows: Tolstoi's life, Mrs. J. D. Lynch; "November Sleigh Ride," Tschaikowsky, Alfred Meyers; Russian Peasant Dance, directed by Miss Imogene Russell, (interpretative dance of the Berya tree); "What Men Live By," Tolstoi, Mrs. L. B. Moe, assisted by Miss Florence Lynch and Mrs. J. Donald Meyers; "Song Without Words," Tschaikowsky, Miss Florence Lynch.

FORMER NURSE GAINS 25 LBS. TAKING TANLAC

"I Don't Hesitate to Recommend It To Anyone Suffering from Stomach Trouble and Kindred Complaints," States a Well Known Seattle Woman.

"After hearing so much about Tanlac I bought a bottle thinking that if it did others so much good it might help me too. Well, it has not only helped me, but I have actually gained twenty-five pounds since taking it and never felt better in my life," said Mrs. Marie J. Howard, graduate nurse of Bellevue hospital, 402 Westlake Ave., North, Seattle, Wash.

"My appetite is good now and my stomach is in such splendid condition that everything I eat agrees with me. I used to be bothered a good deal by my kidneys and liver, but now they both seem normal in every way.

"My nerves are calm and steady and I sleep like a child every night. I have had a great deal of experience with medicine and I don't hesitate to recommend Tanlac to those who have stomach trouble and kindred complaints."

Tanlac is sold in La Grande by Silverthorn's Family Drug Store and all leading druggists.—Adv.

maintenance of general peace and reduce the burdens of competition in armament." It was resolved to conclude the treaty.

The treaty is divided into two chapters. Chapter one contains the general language of agreements in 20 separate articles. Chapter two contains detailed agreements on naval matters, many in complicated tabular form, which amplify the meaning of the general agreements of chapter one.

18 Ships for U. S.

The treaty provides that the United States retain 18 major ships of a total tonnage of 500,650. Great Britain retains 22 ships with a tonnage of 580,450. France will have nine with a tonnage of 221,170. Italy ten with a tonnage of 182,800, and Japan with a tonnage of 301,320. The articles also provide for scrapping obsolete vessels and for their replacement.

A ripple of applause followed Hughes' announcement that the old battleship Oregon would be retained for non-combatant purposes because the state of Oregon wanted to keep it for sentimental reasons. Touching on the system of scrapping capital ship, Hughes said: "I might call this the denaturing of capital ships."

FULL POWER GIVEN GARRETT

According to the Grand Junction, Colorado, Sentinel, George Garrett, former city manager of La Grande who recently went there to become that city's manager, has been given a free hand in the management of the affairs of that city. The following statement was made in a recent issue of the Sentinel:

That City Manager George Garrett is to be given an untrammeled hand in the management of the affairs of this city, was evidenced at last night's meeting of the city council, the first regular meeting since he reached this city, by the readiness with which the members of the council accepted recommendations for changes intended to improve the service now being given the people of this city. The meeting proved a long drawn out one, convening shortly after 7:30 and remaining in session until 11 o'clock. During that time, however, much business was transacted. Because of the large amount of business now before the council due to the recent change in the method of governing the city, the councilmen decided to meet once a week for the present, selecting Wednesday night as their meeting night.

In the spring another examination will be held in order to ascertain whether the children are attempting to correct their defects.

FRENCHMAN BLUFFED BY U. S. WOMEN

CHICAGO, Feb. 1.—The American woman marches down the street as if she owned the town, Jules Bois, president of the French Society of Physical Research, said in an address here yesterday.

"She really feels superior to men," he added. "I was astounded when I came to America a few weeks ago. In Europe Freud declared women are handicapped by an inferiority complex, that is they feel a deficiency when competing in the world of men. That may be true in Europe, but it certainly is not true here. They have what I would describe as the superiority complex. Women here will go far."

Noises made by the elevated trains, coupled with the general love for jazz music and entertainments on the part of the modern girl, were reasons given by M. Bois for the dearth of Joan of Arcs of today.
