The Screen

LOVE AND THRILLS BLENDED IN LATEST TOURNEUR PICTURE

Maurice Tourneur's latest Paramount production, "The Bait," will be the feature attraction at the Sherry Theatre today and tomorrow. Hope Hampton, the well known Texan screen beauty, plays the leading role.

"The Bait" is described as a pleasing combination of romance, thrills, and mystery with the usual colorful Tourneur production methods in evidence. The story centers around a pretty shop girl, who, singled out by a master-crook as his pawn in a game to capture and blackmail a young millionaire, is "dramed" by the crook and then rescued by him while on her way to jail. Out of gratitude, she becomes an innocent prey to his schemes and learns the truth only when it seems too late. But after a thrilling experience, matters turn out happily. Besides Miss Hampton, the cast of "The Bait" includes Harry Woodward, Jack McDonald, Joe Singleton, and James Gordon. John Gilbert wrote the scenario. Also showing a comedy, LAVISH PRODUCTION IS "DAWN OF THE EAST" has woven around the personality of the star a vivid melodrama well suited to her talents.

The story concerns a beautiful Russian noblewoman who flees from her country at the outbreak of the revolution and makes her way to China, where she is stranded in Shanghai, and forced to sing in a notorious cafe and also out a living for herself and invalid sister. The settings, authentic reproductions of some of the most famous spots in Shanghai, are said to be the most magnificent ever erected in Reelart's eastern studio. Oriental splendor and lavish costumes of the many characters and extras make "Dawn of the East" a great spectacular treat. A two-reel Clyde Cogh comedy is also being shown.

visiting horsemen and during its 25 years' existence it has produced more Futurity winners than any other fair in the United States.

Among the great performers that claimed Patches Wilkes as their home are: Peter Volo, world's champion 2-year-old trotting colt; Peter Thompson, Futurity winner of 1911; Lady Waverley, Peter the Great, J. J. Audubon, Patches Wilkes and Peter Danna.

STARKEY ROADS ARE GOOD NOW

(Special to The Observer) STARKEY, Feb. 7.—The last week of January was rather gloomy, only two bright days being experienced here—that week. During the entire month there were 22 cloudy days, but there have not been the usual heavy winds this winter, at least so far as Starkey is concerned.

The roads are fine for sleighing, the people of Starkey taking advantage of the fine roads to make trips into town.

W. H. Briggs went to La Grande and brought out a load of provisions. Ward Smith was also in town Wednesday and came home Saturday. He also brought back a load of supplies.

J. S. Rice and wife and Miss Margaret Johnson and Alvin Thornburg went to the Hilliard dance Saturday night and had a fine time. The Hilliard people know how to show all visitors a dandy time. The Starkey party went as guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Scott.

HORSE FARM TO BE EGG FARM

(By Associated Press) LEXINGTON, Ky., Feb. 7.—Patches Wilkes, one of the most noted trotting horse farms in the Bluegrass, soon is to be metamorphosed into a chicken farm, according to a recent announcement by W. E. D. Stokes of New York, the owner.

Chicken raising, according to Mr. Stokes, is more profitable than trotting horse breeding.

Mr. Stokes and Peter Durrays bought the farm 35 years ago and named it Patches Wilkes after the famous trotter then acquired at that time.

Mr. Stokes' Kentucky estate first came into prominence in the trotting world through Peter the Great's performance. Patches Wilkes soon became the nucleus of Fred Holitke was in La Grande last week. Mrs. Smith was operated upon Thursday. Henry Heuler is caring for the stock of Mr. Smith's.

Billy Briggs is taking care of the stock for Fred Holitke and milking 20 or more cows while Mr. Holitke is in town.

J. S. Rice is hauling in his next summer's wood, having sawed it last winter.

Mr. Grand Hog came out on his usual day. Not seeing his shadow here in Starkey he stayed out. It snowed heavily all day. By that we ought to have an early spring, or the wise ones are wrong.

Every one had a fine time Saturday night at an entertainment at the school house. The home talent Starkeyites put on a play and after the entertainment was over the crowd all went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Wells to finish the night dancing. And there was a supper served at the Wells home that cannot be beat outside of Starkey.

Soviet Judge Had Just Three Wives

(By Associated Press) MOSCOW, Feb. 7.—Tangled domestic affairs of a Soviet judge have just been brought to light by his arrest here by the Cheka. After he had been taken away from his apartment, where he was supposed to be living alone, three young and pretty women called there and each claimed to be his wife and wanted to know his prison address so as to send him food.

The three wives held a conference and agreed to pool their food contributions and leave the question as to which one was his wife and to be determined after his release.

Marietta Towers. A round, rosy-cheeked beauty destined to form a part of coast defense is called a Marietta tower, being so named for its inventor. The original Marietta tower was situated in the Gulf of San Francisco, Calif. These became popular about 1850, but their use has in most cases been discontinued long ago, as they were found to be of little practical value.
