CHAMPIONSHIP GAME FRIDAY

Eastern Oregon Girls' Basketball Leadership To Be Settled on High School Floor.

The Pendleton and La Grande high schools will clash in a girls basketball game scheduled for Friday evening at eight o'clock in La Grande at the high school gym.

Both teams have not been defeated and comparative scores show that each team may tramp over their opponents in about the same fashion. La Grande overwhelmed the Union girls and Pendleton did likewise to the Hermiston representatives and both schools are looking forward to this game as one of the critical contests of the season.

As there are only three teams in the Eastern Oregon league the winner of this game will have a decisive edge over the other and will be in a fair way to annex the championship for 1921-22.

The stellar work of Marjorie O'Brien, at forward on the local sextette, is expected to be an important factor in the coming game. She is a sure basket-shooter and is receiving some fine support from the other members of the team. In all probability the line-up will be the same as in the Union game, although it is possible that a change or two will be made.

Preliminary to the game, the La Grande girls will give their visitors a matinee dance—one of those affairs in which women only is the rule—in the afternoon and at the close of the game, the Pendletonians will be guests at a banquet to be held in the home economics department.

AT SHERRY'S LAST DAY "PASSING THRU"

Maud makes her appearance as a star in the movies. Douglas MacLean is billed as the star of Maud's picture, "Passing Thru," an Ince-Paramount production, but Doug freely admits that Maud carries away first honors. Doug harbors no professional jealousy. On the contrary, he declares that Maud outclasses Bill Hart's "Pinto," and "Teddy," the wonderful dog, to say nothing of Joe Martin, the almost-human chimpanzee.

Like the star that she is, Maud, who is a pure white, lop-eared hybrid mix, displayed unmistakable evidences of temperament during the filming of "Passing Thru." Maud caused no end of worry to William A. Seiter, who directed the feature, as well as the entire MacLean company.

She was engaged under the supposition that she was a trick male. The trick, Seiter soon discovered, was to get her to work. Careful experimentation, however, revealed that Maud possessed little human weaknesses and through taking advantage of these she was made to perform in true stellar style.

Also showing a comedy.

Lieurance's Symphonic Orchestra, Noted Organization, Exemplifies Musical Ideal

Local People to Enjoy All-String Combination, Organized by Thurlow Lieurance, Noted Composer of Indian Music.

The appearance of Lieurance's Symphonic Orchestra will mark a real letter day in local Lyceum affairs. This company was coached by Thurlow Lieurance, noted composer of Indian music, and is undoubtedly one of the finest orchestras now appearing before the public. While Mr. Lieurance does not travel personally with the company, he has entrusted the leadership to Harry Anderson, a fine young violinist, a pupil of Mae Reese of Berlin, and later with Carl Stockelberg.

There are eight people in the company, five violins, cello, piano, and a soloist, Miss Violet Falk, contralto. The program features the difficult symphonic music which usually is heard only in the large metropolitan music halls.

High school auditorium Thursday night. Third Lyceum number.
