

Local News In Brief

Any La Grande subscriber to the Observer who does not receive his paper by 8 o'clock in the evening, please call Western Union, Main 24, and a special messenger will deliver a copy.

COMING EVENTS
Feb. 21 to 24.—Annual Union County Farmers' Week in La Grande.
Feb. 27.—8 p. m., Lecture by Howard L. Cope in high school auditorium under Lyceum course auspices.

Visits Mother—
Paul Lunn of Wallowa was called to the bedside of his mother who is seriously ill here.

Flora Man in Town—
Hilbert Murrell, of Flora, is in town today. During his stay he is at the Savoy.

Visitor from Joseph—
Mrs. C. E. Gibson, a prominent Joseph lady, arrived in La Grande last night. She is registered at the Savoy.

Messrs. Coles, Cook, Coons—
J. Coons, Floyd Cook and La Salle Coles registered at the Foley last night. All three gentlemen are residents of Haines.

Mays of Joseph—
H. C. Mays, who hails from Joseph, is a La Grande visitor today. He is here on business and is registered at the Foley.

Duckee Couple—
Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Duckee, who make their home at Duckee, are visiting in La Grande today. They will be here a short time and are stopping at the Foley.

At Savoy—
C. J. Zeamer, who makes his home in Elgin, is a business visitor in La Grande today. He is stopping at the Savoy.

Here from Pendleton—
Mr. and Mrs. G. Bush arrived in La Grande on No. 24 from Pendleton. They will stop here a few hours visiting with friends and relatives.

Goes to Portland—
Mrs. J. H. Smith and her little son, Reuben, left La Grande this morning bound for Portland. She will spend several days in that city visiting with her mother, Mrs. Erwin Ritter.

Stoddards Back—
Mr. and Mrs. Lester Stoddard and Mr. and Mrs. Dave Stoddard are back in La Grande. They spent last night at Baker attending the Stoddard Brothers-Blue Mountain association basketball game.

NEW TODAY

Masonic Lodge Meeting
There will be a special meeting of La Grande Lodge No. 41-A, 5 & 6 A. M., at 7:30 p. m. in Third Avenue Friday evening, February 24, 1922, at 7:30 o'clock.

By order of W. M.
ERNEST R. RINGO, Secretary.

1-24-11
WANTED—Woman to come to house and do family washing each week. Call at 1306 Monroe.

2-24-2
Palace Confectionery
A refreshing, nourishing drink—hot or cold—Parfaits—Frappe and sundae—any flavor. All of the best. Try one.

2-24-3

Special Attraction at REX HALL
Wednesday Night
And Old Time Dances
Watch This Space

2-24-4

Men! Men!!

We Are Agents For
MICHAELS STERN
"VALUE FIRST" CLOTHES
NETTLETON SHOES
LAMPHER HATS
ARROWHEAD SHIRTS
SCHOLWIL CAPS
TRUE SHAPE HOSIERY
ARROW COLLARS and SHIRTS
PENDLETON ROBES
Made of Merit Only

Clint's Clothiery
The Store With a Conscience

Here from Union—
Frank Harris of Union, was in La Grande yesterday attending to some business.

Club Leader Coming—
Miss Helen Cowgill of O. A. C. is expected in Union county March 6 and 7, to promote industrial club work in the schools.

Returns to Union—
Mrs. J. L. McMaster, who has been visiting with her son, E. M. McMaster, of this city, returned to her home in Union this morning on No. 24.

Returns to Alice—
Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Lebetter returned to their home in Alice this morning. They have been visiting with her father, L. L. McKennon, of this city for a short time.

Miss Collins Wins Apron—
At the old time dance given last night at the Zuber by P. J. Powers, Miss Mary Collins won the prize apron. The dance was well attended, about one hundred couple being there.

To Visit Husband—
Mrs. H. E. Bates of this city, left this morning to spend the day at Tolsonast visiting with her husband, who is employed on the O-W at that place.

Mission Band Meeting—
The Mission Band of the Presbyterian church will meet at the home of Mrs. Mary Stillwell, 1108 Second street, tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. All members are invited to be present.

Club Organized—
The Cove school has recently organized a Daisy Head club under the leadership of R. G. Dykstra the principal of the Cove schools and good results are expected from this club in the coming year.

Visiting Brother—
Mrs. Ella M. Walker returned to her home in Imbler this morning on the branch line train. She arrived in La Grande last night and spent the evening with her brother L. Fillmore, of this city.

Young Lady Arrives—
A baby girl weighing 8 pounds was born to Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Larson at their home on Spruce street yesterday afternoon. The mother and young lady are both getting along very nicely.

To Be Here March 5—
Rev. W. C. Ross of Montana, who expected to be in the city and occupy the pulpit of the Presbyterian church next Sunday will not be able to be here for the reason that he was called upon to conduct the funeral services of a brother minister at Miles City today. Mr. Ross will be in La Grande the following week and will speak on Sunday, March 5th.

A Big Message—
E. D. Towler, principal of the high school today declared that one of the biggest messages given home by assembly speakers in the school was that pointed out by E. R. Ringo in his Washington's birth day address. In summing up Mr. Ringo closed his address with the statement that "Washington was no super-man; he had those requirements which everyone of us has namely, honesty and character."

Returns to Baker—
Captain Milo O. Godfrey returned to Baker yesterday from La Grande where he spent Wednesday calling the attention of Union county residents to the presentation of the Messiah in this city on March 5th and 6th. He reports that he found much interest among all whom he visited and that it is assured that a large number will attend from La Grande—Baker Democrat.

Mardi Gras Saturday—
Announcement was made today that the Girls Friendly Society, Mardi Gras at Bonan hall tomorrow evening is not to be a strictly invitational affair although the impression has gone forth that it is an invitational affair. All mothers and fathers and sons and daughters wishing to have a good time are invited to attend by the society. Everyone is asked to come in costume and there will be many opportunities to spend nickels, all money to be used for the social service work of the society. Several other attractions that cost nothing, are also on the program. Candy, popcorn, punch and peanuts will be on hand and dancing will continue throughout the evening. A fortune teller will also be on hand.

CATTLE SHIPPED TO PORTLAND

(Special to The Observer)
NORTH POWDER, Feb. 24.—Mrs. J. M. Shaw of Walla Walla, Washington, arrived here on the early train Saturday morning to help care for her mother, Mrs. Susie Davis, who has been confined to her home because of illness.

Jeff Pierce, an O-W. R. & N. employee at Huntington, Oregon, spent Saturday and Sunday with his family here.

James Dalton of Oak Grove, Oregon, was in town the greater part of last week looking after his farming and cattle interests in this vicinity.

Mr. Dalton sold four carloads of cattle, which were loaded out for Portland Saturday.

M. M. Gikison returned to his home in Huntington on Monday, after a stay here of about ten days.

Mrs. James Dalton, Jr., and little daughter are both quite ill of influenza.

Mrs. Bessie Waltz was a Baker visitor Monday, the 20th.

Mrs. Will Gorman, who has been ill because of a nervous trouble, is reported to be improving rapidly.

Bennet Harrison was in Baker between trains Monday.

Rev. G. A. Archer went to Baker Monday to visit his wife at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, where she was taken over a week ago in a much weakened condition.

Mr. Archer reports that she is doing nicely now.

Mrs. Myrtle Bauer was a passenger for Baker on the noon train Monday.

Mrs. Clarence Burris of Baker was the house guest of her mother, Mrs. Chris Peterson, part of the week.

Joe Church and wife and Mrs. Maude Hall of Tolsonast visited friends in North Powder the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Cavender made a business trip to Baker on Tuesday.

Mrs. Roy Miller returned home from La Grande last week, where she had been for a week. While away Mrs. Miller underwent a minor operation on her head for a trouble caused from after effects of influenza.

Sheriff Anderson of Baker county was in town between trains Wednesday.

Red Atterbury, who has been confined to his home because of an attack of influenza, is able to be out again.

Harry Slater, who has been under the doctor's care for a slight illness, is reported to be getting along nicely.

Mrs. Curtis Dalton was hostess on Thursday afternoon for a number of her friends. Three tables of "500" were made up. Mrs. W. A. Hudelson won high score and was rewarded a nice prize. After the card playing music and a delicious luncheon were enjoyed. Mrs. Dalton was highly commended by all the ladies present on her ability as a hostess.

Government Takes 27 Years to Make Correction of Error

(By Associated Press)
SPOKANE, Wash., Feb. 24.—After waiting for his change for 27 years, Charles Wagner, a Spokane dairyman, has received a check for $9.60 from the federal government.

In 1895 Wagner filed on a homestead near Post Falls, Idaho. The land office was in doubt as to the filing fee and requested that Wagner pay a sum considerably in excess of usual requirements. He was told that the government would reimburse him, should it be found that he had paid too much. Recently he was notified to file his claim for $9.60 and Thursday he had the check.

Steamboats from St. Louis have navigated the Yellowstone as far as the Big Horn.

Market News
(By Associated Press)
PORTLAND, Feb. 24.—Livestock was steady today and prices were weak to unsettled. Butter was steady.

(By Associated Press)
PORTLAND, Feb. 24.—Wheat was $1.21 to $1.27 today.

OLD TIME DANCE
Modern if You Like
EAGLES HALL
Every Saturday Night
Clean crowds, Good Floor and the Best of Music by W. W. Orchestra.
If you come over, you'll come again.
Tickets $1.00, including cash.
ATLIS, 6th Street, & 6th Ave.
7:30

EMPRESS WAS DISSATISFIED

Russian Emperor Was Calm Until the Last While His Wife Chafed Under Prison Restrictions.

EKATERINBURG, Russia, Feb. 23.—Alexandra, the late Empress of Russia, never ceased to chafe under her imprisonment in this city where she was finally executed but the late Emperor Nicholas showed more calmness and indifference to his fate.

A little booklet recently issued by P. Bykoff, former chairman of the Ekaterinburg soviet, gives many intimate glimpses at the imperial family during the months they were prisoners of the bolsheviks in this city just preceding their execution in July 1918.

When the czar and his wife and part of his family were transferred from Tobolsk to Ekaterinburg by the soviet government, a residence in the center of the city was assigned to them. It was in the basement of this building that they were shot. A half-pistol regime was established which did not interfere with the activities of the imperial family in their own quarters.

Before the Romanoffs were permitted to enter their new quarters the guards searched them. Alexandra protested bitterly and offered resistance. The Emperor submitted willingly, but was greatly perturbed. He paced the room while the search was proceeding and exclaimed: "The devil knows what it means! Up to now we have met courteous people and have had decent treatment."

According to Bykoff, the soviet officials made it clear in the Romanoffs that they were not at Tsar's Sels and thence to isolate the emperor from his family if he offered criticism attended him.

"Nicholas soon realized we were not joking," says the book, "and submitted uncomplainingly to the demands of the commandant in charge of the house. He made few efforts to chat with the guards, but Alexandra, never ceased breaking rules."

The Romanoffs were permitted to select their own hours for walking in the garden where all sorts of tools were available if they cared to take more vigorous exercise. Two meals a day were supplied to them from "the best soviet kitchen in Ekaterinburg" and they were given a gasoline primus, or stove, upon which they could heat their food. Food packages were forbidden to the imperial family but Bykoff says "the sisters in the local convent annoyed the guards greatly by sending parcels of biscuits and other delicacies which were distributed among the soldiers."

On Easter the imperial family asked permission to attend church. This request was denied, but a priest was admitted to their quarters to hold service and eggs and special cakes were sent to them by soviet officials.

GANDHI MORE DOMINATING

(By Associated Press)

AHMEDABAD, India, Feb. 24.—Mohandas K. Gandhi has become a more dominating figure than ever in the Indian independence movement in consequence of the action taken in the annual session of the Indian National congress recently held here.

Not only did the congress appoint Gandhi as its sole executive authority, as called at that time, but it authorized him to appoint his successor in event of any emergency.

The resolution conferring increased powers upon Gandhi declared: "This congress hereby appoints, until further instructions, Mahatma Gandhi as the sole executive authority of the congress and invests him with the full powers of the All-India congress committee, including the power of convening a special session of the congress or of the All-India congress committee, and also with the power to appoint a successor in an emergency."

"This congress hereby confers upon the successor and all subsequent successors appointed in turn by their predecessors all his aforesaid powers."

The congress not only stipulated, however, that Gandhi should not be authorized to conclude terms of peace with the British or Indian governments without the previous consent of the All-India congress committee, but it also declared that the present creed of the congress was in no case to be altered by either Gandhi or his successors without first having obtained permission from the Indian congress.

The civil case of W. A. Hudelson against J. C. Miller was completed Thursday, the verdict being in favor of the plaintiff, the two men, O'Neil and Burden, whom Hudelson was representing, receiving $214.80.

The case was as follows: Last fall

Miller hired O'Neil and Burden to thresh 73 acres of grain for him and he claims that they signed a contract to thresh the acreage at so much per acre. The two men asked for a higher wage, declaring that they had not signed a contract. Then, when Miller refused to pay them the higher rate they turned their interests over to W. A. Hudelson, who conducted the case in their interests.

Miller hired O'Neil and Burden to thresh 73 acres of grain for him and he claims that they signed a contract to thresh the acreage at so much per acre. The two men asked for a higher wage, declaring that they had not signed a contract. Then, when Miller refused to pay them the higher rate they turned their interests over to W. A. Hudelson, who conducted the case in their interests.

Miller hired O'Neil and Burden to thresh 73 acres of grain for him and he claims that they signed a contract to thresh the acreage at so much per acre. The two men asked for a higher wage, declaring that they had not signed a contract. Then, when Miller refused to pay them the higher rate they turned their interests over to W. A. Hudelson, who conducted the case in their interests.

Miller hired O'Neil and Burden to thresh 73 acres of grain for him and he claims that they signed a contract to thresh the acreage at so much per acre. The two men asked for a higher wage, declaring that they had not signed a contract. Then, when Miller refused to pay them the higher rate they turned their interests over to W. A. Hudelson, who conducted the case in their interests.

Miller hired O'Neil and Burden to thresh 73 acres of grain for him and he claims that they signed a contract to thresh the acreage at so much per acre. The two men asked for a higher wage, declaring that they had not signed a contract. Then, when Miller refused to pay them the higher rate they turned their interests over to W. A. Hudelson, who conducted the case in their interests.

Miller hired O'Neil and Burden to thresh 73 acres of grain for him and he claims that they signed a contract to thresh the acreage at so much per acre. The two men asked for a higher wage, declaring that they had not signed a contract. Then, when Miller refused to pay them the higher rate they turned their interests over to W. A. Hudelson, who conducted the case in their interests.

Miller hired O'Neil and Burden to thresh 73 acres of grain for him and he claims that they signed a contract to thresh the acreage at so much per acre. The two men asked for a higher wage, declaring that they had not signed a contract. Then, when Miller refused to pay them the higher rate they turned their interests over to W. A. Hudelson, who conducted the case in their interests.

Miller hired O'Neil and Burden to thresh 73 acres of grain for him and he claims that they signed a contract to thresh the acreage at so much per acre. The two men asked for a higher wage, declaring that they had not signed a contract. Then, when Miller refused to pay them the higher rate they turned their interests over to W. A. Hudelson, who conducted the case in their interests.

Miller hired O'Neil and Burden to thresh 73 acres of grain for him and he claims that they signed a contract to thresh the acreage at so much per acre. The two men asked for a higher wage, declaring that they had not signed a contract. Then, when Miller refused to pay them the higher rate they turned their interests over to W. A. Hudelson, who conducted the case in their interests.

Miller hired O'Neil and Burden to thresh 73 acres of grain for him and he claims that they signed a contract to thresh the acreage at so much per acre. The two men asked for a higher wage, declaring that they had not signed a contract. Then, when Miller refused to pay them the higher rate they turned their interests over to W. A. Hudelson, who conducted the case in their interests.

Miller hired O'Neil and Burden to thresh 73 acres of grain for him and he claims that they signed a contract to thresh the acreage at so much per acre. The two men asked for a higher wage, declaring that they had not signed a contract. Then, when Miller refused to pay them the higher rate they turned their interests over to W. A. Hudelson, who conducted the case in their interests.

Miller hired O'Neil and Burden to thresh 73 acres of grain for him and he claims that they signed a contract to thresh the acreage at so much per acre. The two men asked for a higher wage, declaring that they had not signed a contract. Then, when Miller refused to pay them the higher rate they turned their interests over to W. A. Hudelson, who conducted the case in their interests.

Miller hired O'Neil and Burden to thresh 73 acres of grain for him and he claims that they signed a contract to thresh the acreage at so much per acre. The two men asked for a higher wage, declaring that they had not signed a contract. Then, when Miller refused to pay them the higher rate they turned their interests over to W. A. Hudelson, who conducted the case in their interests.

Miller hired O'Neil and Burden to thresh 73 acres of grain for him and he claims that they signed a contract to thresh the acreage at so much per acre. The two men asked for a higher wage, declaring that they had not signed a contract. Then, when Miller refused to pay them the higher rate they turned their interests over to W. A. Hudelson, who conducted the case in their interests.

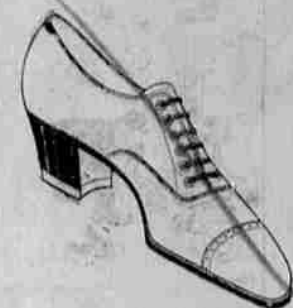

Miller hired O'Neil and Burden to thresh 73 acres of grain for him and he claims that they signed a contract to thresh the acreage at so much per acre. The two men asked for a higher wage, declaring that they had not signed a contract. Then, when Miller refused to pay them the higher rate they turned their interests over to W. A. Hudelson, who conducted the case in their interests.

Miller hired O'Neil and Burden to thresh 73 acres of grain for him and he claims that they signed a contract to thresh the acreage at so much per acre. The two men asked for a higher wage, declaring that they had not signed a contract. Then, when Miller refused to pay them the higher rate they turned their interests over to W. A. Hudelson, who conducted the case in their interests.

Miller hired O'Neil and Burden to thresh 73 acres of grain for him and he claims that they signed a contract to thresh the acreage at so much per acre. The two men asked for a higher wage, declaring that they had not signed a contract. Then, when Miller refused to pay them the higher rate they turned their interests over to W. A. Hudelson, who conducted the case in their interests.

Miller hired O'Neil and Burden to thresh 73 acres of grain for him and he claims that they signed a contract to thresh the acreage at so much per acre. The two men asked for a higher wage, declaring that they had not signed a contract. Then, when Miller refused to pay them the higher rate they turned their interests over to W. A. Hudelson, who conducted the case in their interests.

Received Today

Modified Formative Oxfords for women, with flexible supporting arch, having all the scientific and hygienic elements of comfort, plus style at a moderate price. For the woman who has foot trouble and the woman who wants to have foot comfort.

Come in and let us demonstrate

FRENCH & GREEN

Ladies' Ready-to-Wear and Shoes

quent successors appointed in turn by their predecessors all his aforesaid powers."

The congress not only stipulated, however, that Gandhi should not be authorized to conclude terms of peace with the British or Indian governments without the previous consent of the All-India congress committee, but it also declared that the present creed of the congress was in no case to be altered by either Gandhi or his successors without first having obtained permission from the Indian congress.

Miller hired O'Neil and Burden to thresh 73 acres of grain for him and he claims that they signed a contract to thresh the acreage at so much per acre. The two men asked for a higher wage, declaring that they had not signed a contract. Then, when Miller refused to pay them the higher rate they turned their interests over to W. A. Hudelson, who conducted the case in their interests.

Miller hired O'Neil and Burden to thresh 73 acres of grain for him and he claims that they signed a contract to thresh the acreage at so much per acre. The two men asked for a higher wage, declaring that they had not signed a contract. Then, when Miller refused to pay them the higher rate they turned their interests over to W. A. Hudelson, who conducted the case in their interests.

Miller hired O'Neil and Burden to thresh 73 acres of grain for him and he claims that they signed a contract to thresh the acreage at so much per acre. The two men asked for a higher wage, declaring that they had not signed a contract. Then, when Miller refused to pay them the higher rate they turned their interests over to W. A. Hudelson, who conducted the case in their interests.

Miller hired O'Neil and Burden to thresh 73 acres of grain for him and he claims that they signed a contract to thresh the acreage at so much per acre. The two men asked for a higher wage, declaring that they had not signed a contract. Then, when Miller refused to pay them the higher rate they turned their interests over to W. A. Hudelson, who conducted the case in their interests.

Miller hired O'Neil and Burden to thresh 73 acres of grain for him and he claims that they signed a contract to thresh the acreage at so much per acre. The two men asked for a higher wage, declaring that they had not signed a contract. Then, when Miller refused to pay them the higher rate they turned their interests over to W. A. Hudelson, who conducted the case in their interests.

Miller hired O'Neil and Burden to thresh 73 acres of grain for him and he claims that they signed a contract to thresh the acreage at so much per acre. The two men asked for a higher wage, declaring that they had not signed a contract. Then, when Miller refused to pay them the higher rate they turned their interests over to W. A. Hudelson, who conducted the case in their interests.

Miller hired O'Neil and Burden to thresh 73 acres of grain for him and he claims that they signed a contract to thresh the acreage at so much per acre. The two men asked for a higher wage, declaring that they had not signed a contract. Then, when Miller refused to pay them the higher rate they turned their interests over to W. A. Hudelson, who conducted the case in their interests.

Miller hired O'Neil and Burden to thresh 73 acres of grain for him and he claims that they signed a contract to thresh the acreage at so much per acre. The two men asked for a higher wage, declaring that they had not signed a contract. Then, when Miller refused to pay them the higher rate they turned their interests over to W. A. Hudelson, who conducted the case in their interests.

Miller hired O'Neil and Burden to thresh 73 acres of grain for him and he claims that they signed a contract to thresh the acreage at so much per acre. The two men asked for a higher wage, declaring that they had not signed a contract. Then, when Miller refused to pay them the higher rate they turned their interests over to W. A. Hudelson, who conducted the case in their interests.

Miller hired O'Neil and Burden to thresh 73 acres of grain for him and he claims that they signed a contract to thresh the acreage at so much per acre. The two men asked for a higher wage, declaring that they had not signed a contract. Then, when Miller refused to pay them the higher rate they turned their interests over to W. A. Hudelson, who conducted the case in their interests.

Miller hired O'Neil and Burden to thresh 73 acres of grain for him and he claims that they signed a contract to thresh the acreage at so much per acre. The two men asked for a higher wage, declaring that they had not signed a contract. Then, when Miller refused to pay them the higher rate they turned their interests over to W. A. Hudelson, who conducted the case in their interests.

Miller hired O'Neil and Burden to thresh 73 acres of grain for him and he claims that they signed a contract to thresh the acreage at so much per acre. The two men asked for a higher wage, declaring that they had not signed a contract. Then, when Miller refused to pay them the higher rate they turned their interests over to W. A. Hudelson, who conducted the case in their interests.

Miller hired O'Neil and Burden to thresh 73 acres of grain for him and he claims that they signed a contract to thresh the acreage at so much per acre. The two men asked for a higher wage, declaring that they had not signed a contract. Then, when Miller refused to pay them the higher rate they turned their interests over to W. A. Hudelson, who conducted the case in their interests.

Miller hired O'Neil and Burden to thresh 73 acres of grain for him and he claims that they signed a contract to thresh the acreage at so much per acre. The two men asked for a higher wage, declaring that they had not signed a contract. Then, when Miller refused to pay them the higher rate they turned their interests over to W. A. Hudelson, who conducted the case in their interests.

Miller hired O'Neil and Burden to thresh 73 acres of grain for him and he claims that they signed a contract to thresh the acreage at so much per acre. The two men asked for a higher wage, declaring that they had not signed a contract. Then, when Miller refused to pay them the higher rate they turned their interests over to W. A. Hudelson, who conducted the case in their interests.

Miller hired O'Neil and Burden to thresh 73 acres of grain for him and he claims that they signed a contract to thresh the acreage at so much per acre. The two men asked for a higher wage, declaring that they had not signed a contract. Then, when Miller refused to pay them the higher rate they turned their interests over to W. A. Hudelson, who conducted the case in their interests.

Miller hired O'Neil and Burden to thresh 73 acres of grain for him and he claims that they signed a contract to thresh the acreage at so much per acre. The two men asked for a higher wage, declaring that they had not signed a contract. Then, when Miller refused to pay them the higher rate they turned their interests over to W. A. Hudelson, who conducted the case in their interests.

Miller hired O'Neil and Burden to thresh 73 acres of grain for him and he claims that they signed a contract to thresh the acreage at so much per acre. The two men asked for a higher wage, declaring that they had not signed a contract. Then, when Miller refused to pay them the higher rate they turned their interests over to W. A. Hudelson, who conducted the case in their interests.

Miller hired O'Neil and Burden to thresh 73 acres of grain for him and he claims that they signed a contract to thresh the acreage at so much per acre. The two men asked for a higher wage, declaring that they had not signed a contract. Then, when Miller refused to pay them the higher rate they turned their interests over to W. A. Hudelson, who conducted the case in their interests.

Miller hired O'Neil and Burden to thresh 73 acres of grain for him and he claims that they signed a contract to thresh the acreage at so much per acre. The two men asked for a higher wage, declaring that they had not signed a contract. Then, when Miller refused to pay them the higher rate they turned their interests over to W. A. Hudelson, who conducted the case in their interests.

Miller hired O'Neil and Burden to thresh 73 acres of grain for him and he claims that they signed a contract to thresh the acreage at so much per acre. The two men asked for a higher wage, declaring that they had not signed a contract. Then, when Miller refused to pay them the higher rate they turned their interests over to W. A. Hudelson, who conducted the case in their interests.

Miller hired O'Neil and Burden to thresh 73 acres of grain for him and he claims that they signed a contract to thresh the acreage at so much per acre. The two men asked for a higher wage, declaring that they had not signed a contract. Then, when Miller refused to pay them the higher rate they turned their interests over to W. A. Hudelson, who conducted the case in their interests.

Miller hired O'Neil and Burden to thresh 73 acres of grain for him and he claims that they signed a contract to thresh the acreage at so much per acre. The two men asked for a higher wage, declaring that they had not signed a contract. Then, when Miller refused to pay them the higher rate they turned their interests over to W. A. Hudelson, who conducted the case in their interests.

ARCADÉ

TONIGHT SATURDAY

CONSTANCE TALMADGE

WEDDING BELLS

A SHRIeking Skid on the Peal of "Wedding Bells"

SUNDAY

"RED FOAM"

From Saturday Evening Post Story

Advanced Showing of Approved Styles for Spring 1922

The Right Time To Buy, Test