A Fine Twenty-Year-Old... The Portland Journal rounded out twenty years of existence yesterday...

Did it just happen to do this? Was it because the city of Portland grew so rapidly that the Journal could not help growing also?

That man is C. S. Jackson, formerly a country newspaperman of Eastern Oregon...

The Journal is today a great newspaper. Such men as Frank Irvine, Don Sterling, Ralph Watson, R. C. Jackson and scores of others who work on the Journal...

As a young man, Mr. Jackson would have been a great success in any other business...

He is a little different for a dispassionate observer to see why these extra arguments were necessary in the face of the agreements under the league covenant...

Whether the situation is ideal or not, it is something that at least the European nations are taking steps toward the settlement of their own misunderstandings...

The average school boy would have a more sincere liking for George Washington if he knew of the evolution of Prof. Albert Bushnell Hart, of Harvard...

As a young man, Mr. Jackson would have been a great success in any other business...

An aerial mail and passenger route between Hamburg and San Francisco has been proposed...

The Observer congratulates Mr. Jackson and his ones that two hundred assistants who make the Journal on the twenty years growth...

BAKERS' DELIVERY WAGON HAD A SKIDDING ACCIDENT ON LOWER MAIN STREET TODAY

er Mike's got a job as night watchman. He'll save money. "They say" "Shure he can shape all day an' save his board and work all night and save his lodgin'."

Solomon's Wisdom... Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph: Israel Zangwill, who once was a teacher in an elementary school...

"Tatut fat!" he whimpered, "beside, can't you never do me any good."

"Possibly not," agreed the master. "But on the other hand, to refrain from eating you will certainly do you harm. Don't you know that Solomon, the wisest man that ever lived, 'Spare the rod and spoil the child'?"

"Yes," objected the delinquent, "but Solomon took good care not to say that till he was grooved up."

Jack—"They have machines now that can tell when a man is lying. Ever seen one?"

Chan—"Seen one? Lord, I married one."

THE OFFICE CAT

OH, YES... Even some of our mighty officials believe that the Early Bird catches the worm. But why don't they lead him? Better try daylight. Night rides and early morning rides seem to be a failure. "Fools bluff in where angels fear to tread."

A New Cure for Insomnia... New York Times: A tale that is told—affidavits as with it it requires—is of a woman who, while recovering from the current affliction of influenza, found herself a victim of obstinate insomnia. Hearing of this, the doctor gave her a tablet to take. This she put on a table close to her bed and when, as had become a habit, sleep would not come, she reached out in the darkness, found the tablet and took it. A few minutes later she went to sleep and, as continued till morning, when she awoke much refreshed. But then she saw that the hypnotic disk was still on the table, though missing therefrom was a small porcelain button that she then remembered as having been there the night before!

Home, in the small boy, is largely a billing station.

The Piedmont: The twenty-eight Princeton freshmen who say they have never kissed a girl don't say what else.

Burlington News: About the only thing that scares a horse in town now is another horse.

"Oh," exclaimed the unfrigate, ferociously, "if the Lord had only made me a man!"

"Perhaps he did, dear," said the widow soothingly, "but you just haven't found him yet."

"Jack wanted to kiss me last night," she told her friend. "How do you know he did?" "Because he wouldn't have done it if he hadn't wanted to."

"Are you noisy when you eat?" asked "Social Hints." No, we are noisy when we don't eat.

Finances... Boston Transcript: "So yer brother is in the business world?"

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The high school double quartette will sing in the several grammar schools on Wednesday afternoon. The object of the singing will be to advertise the presentation of "Clarence" by the Seniors.

The Kalamazoo Four did themselves proud Sunday afternoon. They assembled their hammers, kalamazoo, brushes, axes, etc., and spent the entire afternoon in preparing the scenes for the presentation of the Senior play. The personnel of this quartet is: Douglas Klins, Foster Sims, Tom Larsen and Bill Heighan.

The attendance in the high school is back to normal. During the last month it was lower than at any time this year, due to the many cases of illness among both teachers and pupils. The month previous found the attendance above normal.

The Senior Class will make an effort to annex at least a point in the interclass contest. They held a meeting to stir up pep in regards to the selling of tickets for "Clarence." The winner, among the classes, will be awarded with two muchly coveted points for selling the most tickets and the sedate Seniors have decided to win. The contest now stands: Juniors, one point; Sophomores, one point; Freshmen, two points, and Seniors, nothing.

A Senior assembly was held yesterday to announce the coming of "Clarence." Each member of the cast prepared for a short-time, giving the students some idea of what was in store for them. The features of the day were the lovable manner in which Cora and Bobby Wheeler conversed—just as sister and brother usually do. Alfred Meyer and Ruth Hill took the parts. Then Grant Bean and Edith Pierce, as Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler, gave an instructive illustration of how the more sedate couples settle their difficulties.

The Junior girls won the upper-class basketball championship Friday afternoon by defeating the Seniors in the third and decisive game of the series. The score was close throughout and the game was anybody's until the Juniors took firm hold of it in the last half. The Juniors will play the winner of the Sophomore Freshmen series in the near future for the girls' interclass basketball championship.
