

NEW ROAD TO CROSS CASCADES

(By Associated Press)
EUGENE, Mar. 10.—One Oregon highway project which will be carried to completion this year is construction of a standard road across the summit of the Cascade mountains by way of McKenzie pass. Contracts have already been let for the work, and as soon as the snow is sufficiently melted, work will commence.

The contract calls for a road from Belknap Springs, 70 miles east of Eugene, over the crest of the mountains, 17 miles long. When this work is completed a highway of standard width will extend from Eugene up the McKenzie river, considered one of the most beautiful streams on the Pacific coast, to a point three miles east of the summit. The highway is almost completed from that point to Bend, in central Oregon, where it will connect with the Dalles-California highway, a state project. The state and forest service are cooperating in the construction of the McKenzie highway.

EXPLANATION OF SUCCESS NOVEL

(By Associated Press)
OMAHA, Neb., Mar. 10.—Success as a bee-keeper is attributed to "being in good standing with my neighbors" as a result of sweetening their disposition towards the bees" by Henry Clay ("Honey") Cook, retired policeman of this city.

"When the honey is first taken off I give near neighbors a generous sample and always send the finest I have," says Mr. Cook, who explains that the polley makes them good boosters. With his neighbors as boosters, Mr. Cook's bees yield him from $1,200 to $1,400 a year.

SHEEP ARE ON THE INCREASE

REGINA, Sask., Mar. 10.—"In spite of the fact that the prices for mutton, lamb, and wool, are much lower than they were immediately after war, the sheep population of Saskatchewan is slowly but steadily increasing," J. G. Robertson, secretary of the Saskatchewan Sheep breeders' association reports in his annual statement.

MAIL STAGE IS STUCK IN MUD

MEDICAL SPRINGS, Mar. 10.—The rights are still extremely cold here but the past few days have resulted in a change in the days which have turned very spring-like.

Stage driver L. M. Brown got stuck in snow drifts near the Wirth place Tuesday and was forced to take the mail on into the Springs by team and sleigh. Mr. Wirth came to the rescue.

G. W. Johnson, who is lambing on the J. F. Kennedy ranch, reports good success and prospects of 125 per cent crop.

Hay is getting scarce in this locality. Practically all the hay on Big Creek is sold and fed.

Last week the stork visited the Park and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Lay are the proud parents of a fine baby
