A delightful evening was spent Monday, March 13, at the home of Mrs. C. E. Short on O. avenue, the occasion being the regular meeting night of the Young Woman's Educational Auxiliary. "Modern Drama" was the study topic for the evening. Mrs. E. Walsinger read a well prepared paper on the "modern drama" of today. This was followed by a modern one-act play presented by Mrs. A. W. Nelson and Mrs. Harvey Day, under the direction of Mrs. Norman Frees.

Following this a silent comedy, "Dreams", was presented in Shadowgraph, a number of the famous movie actors being represented by a number of the girls in the auxiliary. This proved a very clever and novel form of entertainment. After the program had been presented a social hour was enjoyed.

The decorations were in keeping with St. Patrick's Day, as were also the delicious refreshments which were served the guests in a charming manner by the hostesses, who were with Mrs. Short, Miss Jane Jones, chairman for the evening; Miss Dorothy Casey, Mrs. E. Walsinger, and Mrs. E. A. McEachran. Master Harold Short assisted the hostesses, quaintly attired in costume in keeping with the evening.

One of the best entertainments of the year will be given at the L. D. S. Tabernacle this evening. "Clubbing a Husband" will be presented by the ladies of the church, under the management of Mrs. G. A. Bean. They have been studying industriously for the past six weeks and that their efforts have been crowned with success will be shown by tonight's performance. The proceeds will be for the Missionary Fund and with such a worthy object and such an excellent program the house should be crowded.

The Christian Church was the scene of an old fashioned literary program Thursday evening which was enjoyed by a large audience. The program was opened by a piano trio followed by several vocal solos, all very well received, especially the encore by Rev. O. W. Jones which brought back memories of old school days.

Several skits were also given and caused much merriment, the "Mock Trial" being the favorite, with Dr. J. L. McPherson, Mrs. Wright and Joe Williams deserving special mention for their excellent work.

The program was in charge of Mrs. J. P. Caldwell and in training the participants she was unusually successful, the numbers showing that all had been thoroughly coached. Mrs. Caldwell was presented with a beautiful cluster of carnations at the close of the program.

Much talent is being rallied to the informal musicale to be given by the Lyceum committee next Friday evening at the high school. The people in charge have met with ready response in arranging a program from local church and club talent that will be really worth while and even at this early date are ready to assure the public that every patron will have an enjoyable evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Salvi, of Venice, Italy, will remain over in La Grande today before departing for Great Falls, Mont.

Manager Pierce of the Salvi party took advantage of the opportunity to remain in La Grande to hear the singing and see the play at the L. D. S. Tabernacle tonight. Mr. Pierce wants the satisfaction of being entertained where he has no part in the arrangements. Mr. and Mrs. Salvi hope to be able to attend this evening, too.

Miss McGilvery, of Chicago, who happened into La Grande yesterday for the Elwyn Concert bureau, had the satisfaction last evening of hearing Salvi. She has been looking Salvi for several months, always keeping ahead of him, had never been favored with one of his concerts until last evening. She asserts she is a better book-keeping agent today than yesterday. Miss McGilvery declares Chicago has had a marvelous winter, free from the rigors of the average. The mountains of the west appeal to her.

As she had to teach school until late in the afternoon and could not get a train at that hour and the roads are impassable in automobiles in places she walked the entire nine miles to La Grande to hear Salvi. She considers her effort well worth while.

Style plus quality plus savings equals pocketbook satisfaction and the fact that you're buying right!

It is not necessarily alone the price you pay that means pocketbook satisfaction. It's what you receive for the price that in the end proves the genuineness and extent of the satisfaction you experience.

It's the style, the quality and the workmanship in your purchase at a price, that determines the lowness of that price!

A quality-providing ability of this kind is the result of a store's buying power—whether the buying in the market was made for one store or hundreds of stores; whether the buying was done with a thorough understanding of the needs of the store's patrons or bought wildly and haphazardly to eventually be sold at so-called "sales."

The buying for our 312 department stores obtains lowest possible prices and the pick of style and quality. This results because of the vast quantities of goods our combined stores require.

By buying here you know you are buying right.
