SHERRYS SUNDAY AND MONDAY

When "White and Unmarried" of which Thomas Meighan is the star comes to the Sherry theatre next Sunday and Monday, film patrons will have an opportunity of seeing how "the other half lives" in the way French capital. Meighan appears as a crook who reforms when his uncle leaves him half a million dollars and goes to Europe to kill time.

He has a romance and incidentally is involved in some desperate encounters with Apaches in Paris. It is the Paris of the novelists that is shown. The underground Paris—the Paris of the dance halls, the Apaches, the picturesque and hectic. Billy Kane develops into a man of rare prowess and rescues several damsels in distress.

It is a vivid tale with plenty of excitement and red-blooded action. Tom Forman directed and Will M. Ritchey adapted John D. Swain's story. Jacqueline Logan is leading woman and Grace Darmond has an important role. Walter Long is cast as a particularly ferocious Apache. The support is excellent. Also showing a two reel comedy.

SHERRYS, TODAY ONLY. WILLIAM FAIRBANKS IN "A WESTERN DEMON"

During the world war a captain in a certain division called upon one of his men as a volunteer to take his life in his own hands in order to deliver a message. This errand meant nearly sure death. In fact, there was but one chance in a thousand that the carrier of the message would return alive. It seemed for a moment that no one was going to volunteer, when suddenly a handsome young top sergeant stepped out of the ranks and in a very modest voice said he would do it. The captain asked him if he knew what this undertaking meant, and he just as modestly replied, "I do." The captain then asked him his name, and he answered, "Wm. Fairbanks, but my buddies call me 'Bill'." It is needless for us to say that the message was delivered and the young man returned, although for many weeks he lay near death in a hospital at the front. It was nearly three years later when the director (Mr. Robt. McKenzie) of this production, called upon all the daredevils of the film colony in hopes that he might find a man that would be willing to take his life in his hand and last an airplane in the air from a horse, leave the saddle, holding to the rope, and while in the air climb the rope and get into the aeroplane, and after trying many applicants Mr. McKenzie decided the feat could not be accomplished, and, utterly discouraged, he gave up trying, when once more the same young man who stepped from the ranks on the battle front in France, when the captain had called for a volunteer, once more steps forward, and although he is now a great moving picture star, just as modestly replied, "I'll do it myself." If you want to know how well he did it, you must see "A Western Demon," and this is but one of the many thrills introduced into this great western play.

Also showing Mutt and Jeff.

HURRAH! TOM MIX IS COMING IN NEW PLAY

Tom Mix, the Fox daredevil of the screen, will be at the Star Theatre today and Sunday in "A Ridin' Romeo."

Tom wrote the play himself, so you can realize that he has put into it all the things he likes to do; and besides, Tom would just naturally write into a story more daredevilry than an ordinary writer might imagine he could do. You see, Tom has done probably bigger thrills on the range when he was a cowboy and when no one was watching him than he ever has put on the screen.

He has written himself into all kinds of mischievous trouble in "A Ridin' Romeo." Everybody but his sweetheart is crying him down, until they find he hasn't done half the things charged against him, and nothing really criminal. Then, crowded like, everybody turns out to cheer for him.

"A Monkey Bellhop," featuring Joe Martin, will also be shown as the comedy feature.

Also showing Mutt and Jeff.
