RACE TO BE REHABILITATED

(By Associated Press)
HONOLULU, T. H., Mar. 27.—Rehabilitation of the Hawaiian race is assured and will come within a comparatively short period as a living monument to the late Prince Jonah Kūhiō Kalanianaʻōle, whose last official act as delegate to Congress was obtaining the passage of the Hawaiian Homes commission law which provides measures for the restoration of his people, John C. Lane, former mayor of Honolulu and one of the acknowledged leaders of the Hawaiian people, told a combination Civic club and Ad club luncheon here recently.

He declared that the success of rehabilitation depends entirely upon the determination of the Hawaiians to achieve that success.

"Follow Kūhiō, Hawaiians," he counseled. "Only by determination and firmness can our race carry it—back to its old position. Hawaii—$267.

iana, there were 450,000 of our race in these islands when Captain Cook came here. Now there are only 23,000. We must solve the problem of rehabilitation and it is on the shoulders of the Hawaiian race itself. Every kamaaina (old resident) must help also, if he loves Hawaii and is interested in its growth and its future."

REPUBLICANS SEEK JAP VOTES

(By Associated Press)
HONOLULU, T. H., Mar. 27.—Extensive efforts will be made to induce American citizens of Japanese parentage to register here for the special election to be held March 25 to fill the vacant position of Hawaiian delegate to Congress, it was announced today by officials of the Society of American Citizens of Japanese Parentage, following a conference with Lawrence M. Judd, chairman for the Territorial Republican Central Committee.

Lists of all Japanese eligible to vote will be compiled and a canvass will be made in an effort to obtain a complete registration. The campaign is in charge of a special committee, of which Dr. H. I. Kuriaki, president of the society, is chairman.

Judd, in an address to the Japanese citizens, explained the history and organization of American political parties and strongly emphasized "the importance of affiliating with one of the large parties."

The meeting decided that no separate organization of Japanese voters should be formed, but that all of the Japanese eligible to vote should be persuaded to join the Republican, Democratic, or some other party.

PITY THE FARMER.

(By Associated Press)
CORVALLIS, Mar. 27.—A surprisingly low income from 113 representative farms was averaged in 1921, according to results of surveys conducted by the Oregon Agricultural college.

An average of $465 from these farms, scattered over 16 counties, represents what the farmer received for the labor of his family in addition to his own, and for the interest on his investment.

Thirty records from Eastern Oregon showed an average net loss of $267.

PROJECT SAID TO BE FEASIBLE

Reclamation Service Gives Its O. K. On Owyhee Project In Oregon and Idaho.

SALEM, Mar. 27.—The Owyhee irrigation project, embracing lands in Malheur county, Oregon, and in Western Idaho, is entirely feasible, according to a report prepared by the United States reclamation service, a copy of which has been received by Percy A. Cupper, state engineer. The report was prepared under the direction of J. B. Bond, project engineer, of Boise, Idaho, in cooperation with the engineering department of the state of Oregon.

The report gives favorable consideration to two of the five separate plans submitted for the development of the project.

One of these plans contemplates the irrigation of 25,000 acres at an estimated cost of $2,828,130, or approximately $1113 per acre. Of this irrigable area 7300 acres are now being watered by pumping plants.

This plan, State Engineer Cupper points out, has the advantage of a low diversion dam, no tunnels, little heavy rock work and small investment, but does not provide for the ultimate development of the entire irrigable area embraced within the project or the utilization of the available water supply and would increase, to a certain extent, the expense of developing the additional acreage at a later date.

Under the second plan, which is given more favorable consideration in the report, it is proposed to irrigate 132,200 acres of land, 39,000 acres now irrigated by pumping plants and 93,000 acres of new lands. The estimated cost of this project is approximately $16,000,000, or $121 per acre. This plan, according to Cupper, would utilize to the fullest extent the water supply of the Owyhee river and would relieve the large area from the pumping charge, which is becoming somewhat burdensome to those lands. This project would also supply some stored water to about 12,000 acres of additional land upriver the Owyhee canal, which now secures its water supply from the Owyhee river.

"From the investigations made it is believed the Owyhee project is feasible and the lands coming under it would repay a construction charge somewhat higher than the estimated cost under the more favorable plans of this report," the report of reclamation service reads. "Provided, however, that repayments can be made under the terms of the reclamation extension act without interest."

"If funds can be secured for the construction of the Owyhee project it will be necessary, before the work is undertaken, to reach agreements with the various organizations and land owners that will be affected. The several pumping plants are operating under irrigation district laws and as stock companies. The Owyhee canal operates as a stock company. A large portion of the dry lands have been organized in several irrigation districts. The holders of large bodies of dry lands should enter into appropriate agreements for the sale of excess holdings. A number of the lands owners as well as others interested in the development of this section have expressed themselves as willing to undertake the perfecting of organizations and the securing of the agreements as soon as they are advised what will be required."

ALPHABET HAS SPLIT CABINET

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Mar. 27.—Two members of the cabinet resigned yesterday as the result of differences in the ministry over the government's determination of eliminating three letters from the Bulgarian alphabet, which was announced several weeks ago.

M. Tourlakoff gave up the portfolio of finance and M. Omartchevski that of education. It is expected that the ministry will be reconstructed rapidly. M. Stamboulisky continuing as premier.

An organized protest by the intellectuals in Bulgaria followed an announcement February 26 of the government's plan to simplify the nation's orthography.

Serious agitation has divided the country for some time over the decision of the government to elide from the alphabet the double e, small r and capital R. These letters are silent, but, according to literary authorities render the printing and writing of the language easier. The universities, newspapers and intellectual classes have opposed bitterly the elimination of the letters by the present regime.

The agitation has taken a strong political character, the government affirming that reactionaries are using the question of orthography as a pretext to overthrow the government. Parliament passed a bill today a time of 20,000 levas (approximately $3800) and 6000 months in prison in case of any journalist authorizing any private division using the intollected letters in printed matter.

Kaiser's "Crush"

This photo of Baroness Gabrielle Von Ruchow was taken recently at the request of Ex-Kaiser Wilhelm. It is reported in European courts that he had proposed marriage to the baroness, but these reports have been denied by members of his family.

The measure prescribed that all publications containing the letters shall be confiscated by the police and that government officials, lawyers, teachers and others accepting any document containing the prescribed letters shall be dismissed.

VENISON LEADS TO TROUBLE

Mountain People In Business of Selling to Eugene Folks Get Caught by Wardens.

EUGENE, Mar. 27.—Arrests in the mountain wilderness; the capture of a sack of jerked deer meat nicely rolled in packages ready for distribution to professional men of Eugene; an escape in Van Oak Ridge hotel in which the venison was stolen from the game wardens out of a locked room—all these incidents featured in the story of two district game wardens who arrested three Oak Ridge men.

The wardens, E. H. Clark, district game warden with headquarters in Portland, and F. M. Brown, chief deputy went into the Oak Ridge country Wednesday after having received information that persons in that section were selling jerked venison to residents of Eugene. D. E. Smith, who has a mountain cabin on Salmon creek, out from Oak Ridge, was found with a sack of jerked venison in his possession and was arrested. This meat was nicely tied up in small parcels ready for distribution to customers. Ed Clark was arrested for hunting deer in the closed season.

Ed Clark and his brother, Bert, and Smith were ordered to appear before the justice court, and the game wardens started back to Eugene with their "catch." They stopped at a hotel in Oak Ridge, placing the sack of venison in their room behind locked doors while they went out to visit around the city. When they came back to their room about 11 o'clock that night they found that the place had been broken into and the sack of venison stolen. Clark and Brown subpoenaed all the employees of the hotel, including two kitchen girls, to appear in court.

Although all evidence had been secured by the burglarizing of the room of the game wardens, and although one member of the party had been arrested without having meat in his possession, Bill Clark and D. E. Smith entered pleas of guilty in the justice court and were fined for hunting deer out of season, while D. E. Smith was fined $25 for having untaxed venison in his possession.

The game wardens said that considerable complaint has been received from this part of the country

RUSSIA MONEY MAD, IS REPORT

(By Associated Press)
MOSCOW, Mar. 27.—Russia is money-mad. Almost everybody from the humblest communist to the erstwhile aristocrat is thinking, dreaming, talking of money. Public events, life, death, all else go by the board.

As the ruble drops dizzily, week by week, people cease to talk or do business in millions, as a few months ago. Now everyone of money consequence is not a millionaire but a billionaire and soon they will be trillionaires. A million rubles lately has been equivalent to $2, a billion to $2,000.

Speculation has reached such pitch that the cabman speculates on his rubles for a ride. To one he charges 50,000 and to another 100,000 or 200,000, according to his wit.

The man, woman or child who does not get rich in Russia today must be a fool, indeed. One has but to buy any article, a pair of shoes, a Persian rug, a lamp, a watch, a ring, a half dozen yards of cloth and hold it for a few days and sell it for twice the cost.

Women speculate shrewdly and shrewder than all others are former countesses and princesses.

Since the government turned the real estate over to its occupants, the rent of apartments and rooms here has jumped from zero to large sums. The right to occupy a mere room, if the owner wishes to sell out, runs from 10,000,000 to 50,000,000 rubles and apartments 50,000,000 to 200,000,000. Legally, newcomers are redquired to pay nothing but in order to obtain what they want, they must secretly subsidize the Soviet house committee.

There is speculation in cloth. Most of the good cloth now in Russia is smuggled in. A little money is paid here, there, everywhere, and the cloth gets in. Then speculation takes place in its distribution. In the south of Russia cloth is cheap, hence it must be transported to the center or north, where two or three times its cost may be obtained. If sent to Siberia, the profit is immense.

Speculation in food is the biggest affair. An official who controls a private car makes millions moving flour, fruit, wine to the centers of high prices.

THE PNEUMONIA MONTH.

March is a typical pneumonia month and usually gives a high rate of mortality for the disease. After a long and hard winter the system loses much of its resistance and people grow careless. When every cold, no matter how slight, is given prompt and intelligent attention there is much less danger of pneumonia. It should be borne in mind that pneumonia is a germ disease and breeds in the throat. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is an expectorant and cleans out the germs, induces mucus and not only cures a cold but prevents its resulting in pneumonia. It is pleasant to take. Children take it willingly—adv.
