E. K. LINCOLN IN 'THE INNER VOICE' TO BE GIVEN ITS PREMIER AT STAR THEATRE.

E. K. Lincoln, the distinguished romantic screen actor will appear at the Star Theatre Saturday and Sunday in the American Cinema Corporation's super production of "The Inner Voice." The story which it tells is said to be a powerful dramatic recital of a man who gave unselfishly the best that was in him to the world and in return was overwhelmed with treachery, unfaithfulness and disgrace. With his soul embittered against his fellow-men, he struggled upward out of the depths, resolved to face the world again and demand restitution. Mr. Lincoln in this picture is supported by a very large and capable company of well-known players, which includes Agnes Ayres, William Wiley Hatch and Fuller Mellish. It will be remembered that Mr. Mellish was for many years one of the best Shakespearean actors on the American stage and was with E. H. Sothern and Julia Marlowe until their recent retirement.

HOBART BOSWORTH HAS BIG ROLE.

Having established himself throughout the world as the supreme delineator of physical types, and later having given to the screen many of its most forceful portrayals where brute force is the dominant characteristic, Hobart Bosworth will be seen at the Arcade Theatre Friday and Saturday in a role that nearer fits his true nature than any he has appeared in since he became a photoplay star. While looking about for the cast of "The Foolish Matrons," Maurice Tourneur was at first a bit puzzled to find an actor who could properly portray the role of Dr. Ian Fraser with the same dominating force, and the same sympathetic nature which manifested in the novel by Donn Byrne. when he secured Hobart Bosworth for Maurice Tourneur was delighted when he secured Hobart Bosworth for the part. The part is somewhat of a new departure for the screen star, as it will bring him before the public in a new light and it is quite doubtful if they will ever consent to his going back to the roles he has starred in during the past.

AT SHERRY'S TODAY.

"The evil that men do lives after them," said the wily Mark Antony in addressing the roman mob after the assassination of Julius Caesar. But the catch phrase is not only false psychology, but also untrue to the common experience of us all. In other words, man can live down his past, and make of his future an inspiration for those who come after him. This is the theme that Charles Kenyon has made into a dramatic story, which Goldwyn has filmed under the title of "Beating the Game."

SEES WAY FOR SAVING MONEY

Suggests That Sheriff Turn Over Tax Money Daily and Thereby Make for Economy in County Affairs.

PENDLETON, Mar. 29.—That the county may be saved a considerable sum of money in the course of a year by reason of interest money secured which has not accrued to the benefit of the county funds in the past is the substance of the first report made by Whitfield, Whitcomb & Co., to the county court under an arrangement recently entered into whereby the firm of public accountants examines county books once every month. The saving can be effected in the sheriff's office by a new plan which will make it possible for tax money received by the office to be turned over to the office of the treasurer more promptly than is now the case. This money, the report points out, will either draw interest or it may be used to pay off warrants which draw interest. Members of the county court have expressed their satisfaction at the possibility of making a saving in this way. The recommendation of the auditing firm is as follows:
