MAGNA CHARTA VERY POPULAR
(By Associated Press)
LONDON, Apr. 8.—After 700 years, Magna Charta remains the most popular British manuscript. Last year 14,000 persons went to the British Museum to see it. Americans invariably ask to view the famous charter which insures Englishmen their rights, according to the museum custodians, but other foreigners take more interest in the Papal Bull which is displayed next to it. Heavy green blinds are kept over the precious parchment to exclude the full light rays and thus prevent deterioration but are lifted to show the charter to admiring pilgrims. Most persons are disappointed at not seeing King John's signature, according to an official at the museum, but they seem satisfied when they read the script that it was "given by our hand in the meadow which is called Runnymede between Windsor and Staines, on the 15th day of June in the 17th year of our reign. (1215)."

C. S. COAL TO DENMARK
(By Associated Press)
COPENHAGEN, Apr. 8.—Imports of American coal into Denmark declined heavily last year and Great Britain again took the lead in Danish markets. In 1920 the United States supplied about one-half of the 2,200,000 tons of coal Denmark imported but in 1921 that country supplied less than one-tenth of the total coal imports.

NO PERSECUTION OF ARMENIANS

(By Associated Press)
CONSTANTINOPLE, Apr. 8.—Allegations that Armenians in Anatolia are being persecuted by Turkish Nationalists were denied in an interview given by Yussuf Kemal Bey, Nationalist Minister of Foreign Affairs, to a number of Armenian press representatives here before he left for Paris to attend the conference on the revision of the treaty of Sevres. "The situation of Armenians in Anatolia is quite satisfactory," Yussuf told his hearer. "There have never been any deportations of Armenians like those carried out by the Unionists, when deportees were massacred en route. The Christian population in the military zone was simply removed to the interior to prevent them from going over to the Greek army. Now the deportees are all back in their homes wherever there is no further danger of an enemy invasion." Yussuf further said that there had been no boycott of Armenian products, in proof of which he pointed out that he was wearing a suit of clothes made by an Armenian tailor. He also denied that any property or lands belonging to Armenians had been divided among Turks or Kurds. He added that the Angora government had just promulgated a law whereby Armenian officials would in future be appointed in localities inhabited chiefly by Armenians. He concluded by saying that the exodus of Armenians from Cilicia was "unreasonable" and that the Kemal government would hold the property belonging to emigrants in trust for one year.

Massacres by Turks in Pontus, Asia Minor, were reported in a telegram received by the Greek legation in Washington several weeks ago which stated that 200 Greeks of Samsun were killed by Turkish authorities acting under the direction of Kemal Pasha.

A committee of the American Friends of the Persecuted Christian Peoples of Asia Minor presented to President Harding on March 23 resolutions protesting against the massacre of Christians in Armenia and other parts of the Turkish empire and asking the United States to use its influence to put an end to it. The Near East Relief announced that some 120,000 Armenians who were in Cilicia evacuated that province when they learned that the French

ALBANIANS TO LEARN GAMES

(By Associated Press)
TIRANA, Albania, Apr. 8.—Albanian children are learning to play for the first time since the beginning of the war and are being taught American games. This has been made possible by funds contributed by America's children to the Junior Red Cross. Until now the children of Albania have never learned to play or to laugh. Ten years of war and internal strife denied them entrance into childhood's promised land. But every day now, outside the old parliament building in Tirana, school-boys may be seen playing Prisoners' Base, Burn the City, Duck on the Rock, Hop Scotch and other games that have made the American children the brightest in the world. The girls indulge in all games and frolics popular among their little sisters in America. During school hours they are taught also to sew, embroider and care for the sick.
