Yale Adopts System Whereby Students Must Pass With Good Grades To Graduate.

(By Associated Press) NEW HAVEN, Conn., Apr. 12.—Yale has again adopted her former "quality credit system" for the undergraduate schools in the university under which students who merely manage to rank just over the passing figure will not be graduated. Under this system it will be necessary that work done shall be better than that determined by the passing mark in an examination. A student may technically obtain the passing mark but he may be refused a diploma because he has failed to show promise, application or general good work in his course.

Yale's undergraduate body has started through its paper "The Tripod" a movement for optional attendance at classes, the college senate preparing a definite program for consideration by the faculty. The student body asks that the faculty consider each student a free agent, permitted to go to classes when he so desires, provided he maintains a grade above passing. In event of falling behind this grade, the senate recommends that the instructor direct the student to attend classes steadily until he has brought his grade up to required standard.

BUSINESS IS INCREASING

Continued evidence of a considerable increase in the volume of business is shown by the action of the lumber market. In house building, the grades which are first required are the lower, and at the present time the low grades of soft wood are the most active, and are selling with the greatest freedom. The wood in most active demand at this time is southern pine and as might be gathered from the above, the lower grades are selling the easiest with the result that here and there have been slight price stiffenings. There has been no general advance, however, and the softwood lumber market so far this year has been on an unusually stable basis.

Manufacturers are buying material with greater freedom and are not only building new cars but are rushing the repairs of old ones. While there is still a good sized surplus of idle cars taking the country as a whole, nevertheless there are some good sections from which occasional complaint is already heard of a car shortage. This in a way is encouraging, for it indicates the general recovery of business which has resulted in a steady increase in the volume of freight moving. Other industrial consumers are also taking increasing quantities of lumber which indicates a pick-up in general business. For further example the crating consumers may be cited. The demand for crating lumber is brisk and indicates that manufacturers generally who must have a sturdy and dependable shipping container, are increasing their output very considerably.

The hardwood market is not so brisk as the softwood market, according to the American Lumberman. Industrial demand is increasing and stocks are not overly large, but nevertheless, there are a number of manufacturers who at this time are anxious to sell stock with the result that prices show a considerable spread. Dry stocks are very low, however, and it is by no means easy to secure any large quantity of dry hardwood, particularly the upper grades. Southern hardwood logging operations have been very materially interfered with by recent floods, a condition which will be reflected later on in the amount of lumber available for sale.

SERVICE MEN SEEKING AID

Thousands flocking to Little Town of Rochester, Minnesota, to Get Well.

ROCHESTER, Minn., Apr. 12.—With its hotels, lodging houses and even streets full to the brim with wounded ex-servicemen, victims of the German methods of warfare, this little town of less than 14,000 souls greatly resembles the small French villages which were located just back of the allied line of battle in 1918, to which the then maimed members of the A. E. F. were carried.

with but one leg or arm, all suffering from wounds in some part of their bodies, have come seeking betterment of their condition at the clinic which the Mayo brothers operate here. Local authorities estimate that more than 3000 ex-soldiers have visited this place in the past three years. Hundreds of them are still here and more arrive each day. Cases of suffering from causes other than war wounds are brought to the attention of the American Legion and other patriotic organizations daily. Many of those visiting Rochester in search of health arrive without funds, all their money having been spent in transit. To care for these former soldiers and sailors was a task which the community was ill-prepared to shoulder and the greater part of this necessary relief work has fallen on the American Legion and its affiliated organization, the Legion auxiliary.

During the three years that Rochester has been sought as a place where all ills can be cured, the Legion has spent thousands of dollars in providing food and shelter for their comrades. The two Mayo brothers have given their professional services gratis in many instances, but in all have first required that the cases be passed on by the Legion.

In order that the expense and care of the ex-servicemen who visit Rochester in the future may be ably taken care of, the 30,000 Legion members in Minnesota plan the immediate erection of a 500 bed hospital here. The expense of building and maintenance of the hospital will be borne in full by funds which the Legion posts of Minnesota are now collecting by entertainments and other means.

SWEDES OBJECT TO NEW CULT

STOCKHOLM, Apr. 12.—An announcement that Mrs. Katherine Tingley, theosophist leader, of Point Loma, Calif., intended to establish a Raja Yoga school on the island of Wisingso, in Lake Wattern, one of the beautiful spots of Sweden, has evoked a protest from the school council of Wisingso parish.

The council adopted a report stating that Mrs. Tingley's project was "a movement to spread and implant the ideas of theosophy, diametrically opposed to the Christian foundation on which the Swedish school system is still based."

The council added that the community of Wisingso had no sympathy for Mrs. Tingley's reported project and that reports of her presence in Sweden to prepare for the establishment of the Raja Yoga school "had aroused a general feeling of apprehension."
