"PAYING THE PIPER"

A striking scene from the famous Midnight Frolic is one of the most lavish parts of the George Fitzmaurice Paramount production of "Paying the Piper" which will be seen at the Arcade Theatre Tuesday and Wednesday.

The story by Guida Bergre concerns Barbara Wyndham, spoiled daughter of a New York millionaire, prodigal of the divorce courts, who leads a hectic life of wild parties and dissipation, in which she is joined by Larry Graham, another millionaire's son.

Barbara marries Larry in order, as she says, to be able to get a divorce, as other members of her set do. A Wall Street crash leaves Barbara and Larry penniless, and they are forced to lead a simple life. After a thrilling experience in a wealthy bachelor's apartment, Barbara is reconciled to the simple things that Larry can provide.

Dorothy Dickson plays Barbara. Rod LaRogue is Larry; Alma Tell is Marcia, and Reginald Denny is Keith.

AT SHERRY'S

Last Day of the Double Star Bill

Trained dog "Pal" is in Wallace Reid's new screen comedy "Rent Free."

A wonderfully trained dog named "Pal" which plays with Wallace Reid in "Rent Free," the star's latest Paramount picture shown at the Sherry Theatre for the last time tonight, is a smart canine, but one day between scenes of the picture, the property man sent him on a wild goose chase which quite bewildered him.

The dog's master gives "Pal" daily exercise by throwing a tennis ball up in the air for him to catch on the fly. The hard hearted property man threw up a balloon which he had obtained from a cafe setting nearby. The dog jumped for the balloon, but when he hit it with the end of his nose in his efforts to catch it in his mouth, the balloon bounded back high in the air.

Determined not to be outdone, "Pal" continued to jump for the balloon, keeping it in the air for some minutes but all in vain. He found it impossible to lay hold of the light sphere with his teeth. Then he tried strategy. He allowed the balloon to float quietly to the stage, then with his will, he jumped for the balloon, keeping it in the air for some minutes but all in vain. He found it impossible to lay hold of the light sphere with his teeth. Then he tried strategy. He allowed the balloon to float quietly to the stage, then with his nase "Pal" pushed it along the floor to his master's feet. "Rent Free" is declared to be one of the most delightful vehicles in which Mr. Reid has appeared for some time. It was directed by Howard Higgin, marking that director's debut as a Paramount megaphone artist. Elmer Rice adapted the story by Mann Page and Izola Forrester Page. Lila Lee is leading woman and heads a company of clever screen players. Also Larry Semon in "The Show."

WESTERN INTRIGUE
The ruse of "The Rattler," presented by J. P. McElwan at the Arcade tonight only is a Western story of the plot of a smooth-mannered banker and ranchman to cheat a poor family out of property that would be wanted by the railroad; and of the counterplot of "The Rattlesnake," as a good bad man who discovers that he is being made the goat of Linnian

Rich is a good and sufficient excuse for romance. Four clever acts of vaudeville are also on the program tonight. Prof. Meldrum rides a turtle to night at Christian church. 4-17-1f
