VOCATIONAL CHANGES MANY

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Apr. 18.—Transition from farm laborers to bookkeepers, automobile drivers to accountants and railroad section hands to shoe repairers, are but a few of the radical changes in occupation accomplished by disabled veterans engaged in vocational training under the direction of the Veterans Bureau, according to a statement issued today by Director Forbes, who declared such accomplishments were important from an economic as well as social viewpoint.

Specialists attached to the bureau have just completed a study of all disabled veterans suffering from tuberculosis who have completed their training. These men have been unable to return to their pre-war occupations, the director said, because to do so would, he added, only aggravate their condition. They have therefore, he added, been trained in occupations for which they were fitted and in which their disability was not a handicap.

A report just completed by the rehabilitation division of 21 mental and nervous cases who have completed their training, Director Forbes said, disclosed that there were men working as seamen, tailors, farmers, preachers, barbers and mechanics.

CHANGE IS UNPRACTICAL

MANILA, P. I., Apr. 18.—The change in the method of instruction in primary grades so as to provide for the use of dialect in teaching as proposed in a bill before the legislature, is not practical, in the opinion of Luther B. Bewley, director of the bureau of education of the Philippines. In response to a request for his views on the subject, Director Bewley said:

"The proposed change would be neither practical nor economical, nor is it based on sound psychology. The indirect or bi-lingual or translation method in teaching a language is fast disappearing. In fact, the question has ceased to be a debatable one in the proceedings of the National Education Association of the United States or any other educational conferences.

"As illumined by both psychology and experience, the direct method is the only method, if it is intended that the language taught shall be the tool for further educational development, or as a usable tool for every day expression. When translation is used, the habit of gaining a thought indirectly is formed. Two mental processes are required. The child mind is not reflective but active and objective. The aim is to have the child get the original thought directly in the same unconscious, natural way in which it learned the language expression in the home. Every time a teacher resorts to translation in making a word clear to a pupil, she is making it easier for herself at the expense of the child's progress. It would be difficult to find among our ablest educators, a handful that would approve of the sudden propaganda for the teaching of English through the aid of the dialect."

NEW WRINKLE IN PAYMENTS

(By Associated Press)

EVERETT, Wash., Apr. 18.—Payment for telephone service in proportion to the number of minutes the instrument is actually in use is being tried out here, with the approval of the public service commission of the state. The telephone here is now on the same meter basis as the electric light, gas and in many cities the water supply.

When the receiver is lifted from the hook, a small timing device begins to click off the minutes. Anyone desiring to "listen in" on a conversation must pay for the privilege.

Telephone company officials claim the new plan will, because of the low minimum charge, make possible a telephone in every house in the city. It is held to be much fairer than the flat rate system now being discarded.

LARGEST NUT CROP HARVESTED

(By Associated Press)

CONSTANTINOPLE, Apr. 18.—The largest nut crop Asia Minor has produced in eight years is harvested and ready for shipment from this port. Fully a third of the crop which is chiefly filberts, will go to America, while the balance will remain in Turkey.

Much of the crop is grown in the interior and brought to Trebizond by nomad camel trains. Shelled filberts are sold here at about three cents a pound, competing successfully with all other food products. The nuts are used both as vegetable and dessert.

NEW YORK, Apr. 18.—The condition of John McCormick, noted Irish tenor who has been dangerously ill as the result of throat trouble, was pronounced tonight as "favorable" in a bulletin issued by two attending physicians.

KRYLENKO IS SMALL MAN

(By Associated Press)

MOSCOW, Apr. 18.—Nicolai V. Krylenko, Soviet Russia's Attorney General, is probably the smallest in stature and one of the largest in popularity among the leaders of the bolshevik regime.

He stands about five feet in his boots, but, with his sturdy physique, grizzled tangle of iron gray hair and firm jaw, Krylenko is the terror of offenders against the soviet laws and of the game birds, wolves, foxes and all other wild game in the vicinity of Moscow.

Krylenko is an enthusiastic huntsman, as is Nikolai Lenine, the soviet premier and they frequently go shooting together.

"I can hit a bird with a rifle and don't need a shotgun," Krylenko told the correspondent in an interview in his office, which is decorated with wolf pelts and other hunting trophies.

Immediately after the bolsheviki gained power, Krylenko was made commander of the Russian army. Later on when Trotzky, now minister of war, took command of the army, about the time of the treaty of Brest-Litovsk making peace with Germany, Krylenko was appointed to the supreme revolutionary tribunal and has since held that post.

Krylenko is married and has two children. He lives in Moscow in a big, well furnished house where he also has his office. He wears rough corduroy jacket, baggy trousers and soft colored shirts. He had at least a weeks growth of beard on his face.

He was very active in bringing about the abolishment of the "Cheka," or committee to combat counter-revolution.

SETTLEMENT SCHOOLS MANY

(By Associated Press)

PEORIA, Ill., Apr. 18.—There are at least 15 settlement music pupils in the United States, in addition to 23 or more settlement houses in which music is taught, according to a report by Mrs. W. B. Nickels in the bulletin of the National Federation of Music Clubs. The Cleveland Settlement Music School, she added, is supported by the community chest, while two schools in Kansas City and one in Buffalo are supported by music clubs. Mrs. Nickels as chairman of the department of music settlement schools of the federation is working for the extension and development of such schools.

A conservative estimate of the loss was $500,000.

BUFFALO WILL ROAM AT WILL

TACOMA, Wash., Apr. 18.—Buffalo will roam in the foothills of the Cascade mountains this summer, a grazing permit for buffalo having been granted to Gibson brothers, of Yakima, Wash., by G. F. Allen, superintendent of the Rainier National forest. This firm has a herd of nearly 60 of these animals which are now practically extinct and their permit enables the herd to graze on government land in the park, in the shadow of Mt. Rainier.

OPERA RATES ARE LOWERED

(By Associated Press)

ODESSA, Apr. 18.—It costs 25 cents, the price of two pounds of bread for an entire loge at the Odessa opera. The musicians wear gloves while playing their instruments to keep their fingers from freezing in the heatless halls but the music is exceptionally good.

Long lines of starving people wait in line daily before food stations and many are to be seen lying in the streets too weak from hunger to solicit food yet the opera house is well patronized. The bill at a performance witnessed by the correspondent was "The Huguenots." The voices were hangovers from prosperous days—were as good as many seen in American opera houses.

Several performances are given each week in a varied repertoire of Italian German Russian or purely local Ukraine operas.
