WOMAN WANTS TO BE GOVERNOR

Kansas Will Have First Feminine Candidate for High Office This Fall.

(By Associated Press)
TOPEKA, Kan., Apr. 12.—A path-finder rather than a politician, is Mrs. W. D. Mowry, of Kansas City, Kan., whose name will go on the primary election ballots next August as the first woman gubernatorial candidate in Kansas. In filing her candidacy Mrs. Mowry also was the first person to register her intentions for the August primaries.

"Someone had to be the pioneer. I firmly believe that some day a woman will sit in the governor's chair in Kansas," declared Mrs. Mowry. "I admit that I am not over-optimistic about my prospects for victory at the primary election, but I at least will blaze the way for some more successful sister, later."

Mrs. Mowry asserts that a greater "value received" for the salaries paid state officials and strict economy in expenditure of state funds are the "main planks" in her platform. "As to my platform, it seems to be self-explanatory," Mrs. Mowry said. "Everybody knows that some of our public officials might as well be on a lye-cum course. I am in favor of less oratory and more office work. Knifing has been the first in most things; I would like to see her first in electing a woman governor."

Mrs. Mowry is not a native Kansan, but she has spent most of her life in this state. She was born in Columbus, Indiana, coming to Kansas as a child and receiving her early education at the Osage Indian mission school, St. Paul, in Neosho county. She later taught school in St. Paul and in Parsons, Kansas. She has lived in Kansas City, Kan., for sixteen years and is the wife of a wholesale druggist.

Although active in local affairs, Mrs. Mowry expressly asserts that she is not "a society woman." She was president of the first Wyandotte (Kansas City) Republican club some years before national suffrage was enacted. She is a past president of the History Club of Kansas City; chairman of the legislative committee of the Kansas City, Kan., federation of women's clubs, and has been affiliated with other women's suffrage and literary organizations. As one of her qualifications, Mrs. Mowry asserts she is "old enough," frankly admitting "this side of forty, and always will be."

"I will take a course of education to persuade women to accept the fact that a woman is perfectly capable as a man to fill the office of governor," Mrs. Mowry asserted. "Too long have they confined their thought to things strictly domestic. I do not advocate that they should desert their household cares. But they should expand mentally and realize in their wonderful opportunity to participate in public affairs. Womanhood will not have come into her own until they take a more active part in civic and political matters and have convinced themselves as well as the men that women are competent to handle any public office as well as the men can handle it."

POLITICAL SCOUTS TRAIN THEIR EYES ON EASTERN OREGON

measure, which Mr. Kitchin considered important.

The speaker advocated a change in the auto license law and a tax on mortgage notes, also abolishment of many offices. He demanded "square shooting" in all appropriations, claiming that the 1921 session of the legislature appropriated more than $7,000,000 of state money, which, according to his judgment, was too much.

Forming Kitchin Club.
Today it was announced that some of the friends and supporters of R. J. Kitchin for senator were forming a Kitchin club to promote his candidacy.

Hinkle Issues a Reply.
J. T. Hinkle, candidate for joint senator in this district, has issued a reply to a recent challenge to joint debate made by R. J. Kitchin in La Grande to his opponents. In part the reply reads:

"Replying to your challenge for joint debate on tax issues by the candidates for senator in the 15th senatorial district, I shall be in Union county the week beginning April 24th and will be glad to see yourself and Senator Eberhard at such times and places as you may appoint."

"With yourself I appear to have no issue as I heretofore have to all the generalities set forth in your platform. However, the way to reduce taxes is to cut down the expense budgets and if you will kindly publish a list of the specific cuts you propose to make, some real issue might appear upon which we could join in public debate."

"With Senator Eberhard I have a direct and positive issue based upon his legislative record in the past four years. He held an important position on the ways and means committee which was directly in charge of all appropriations. His committee recommended the entire program of what I term extravagance, making the last general session a record breaker for high taxes."

"The Oregon Voter says of that session: '1921 legislature appropriated $7,250,896 which was $758,462 more than asked in the budget and $2,188,846 more than for same purposes in 1919-20.'"

"Generalization and platitudes will not go in this campaign. We must point out the specific items we propose to cut. This involves the jobs of many and a reduction of salaries and expense accounts for all. This makes the 'average' candidate squirm because, directly and indirectly, there are about as many people in office as there are out and the politician hesitates to antagonize such a large and united voting power. If the cuts are fairly well divided at the polls the 'average' chair brigade, pampered and fed by the public purse, can swing the balance of power and so the mad loot of the public treasury will continue until the common taxpayer is taxed to death. By all means fix the dates and let the taxpayers hear the glad news."

Eberhard's Position.
Senator Eberhard stated this morning that he had been too busily lately to give any time to politics, but that, whenever the time arrived for any elucidation of his record, a proper showing would be made. "I feel the people will be rather slow to accept from opponents any suggestions that my record as a member of the 'Faithful Fiddlers' is unsatisfactory," he said. "I feel that most of my constituents are satisfied with my record on that subject as well as on the thousands of other votes I have cast as state legislator. This includes my vote against the present schedule of license fees for autos, my support of numerous other important and economical movements, which my opponents ignore. The splendid support being accorded me from all over the district, including that of many newspapers, confirms me in the belief expressed."

OLD TUB IS DOOMED NOW

(By Associated Press)
PHILADELPHIA, Apr. 12.—Preparations are going forward at the Philadelphia navy yard toward placing the old battleship Iowa in condition for the day shortly when she will be sent to Davy Jones' locker some place off Cape Henry. Besides having the reputation of an old fighter, the Iowa may be better known as the radio controlling vessel, or the ship without a crew. The radio-controlling apparatus is being removed from the Ohio, the Iowa's mother ship, and being placed aboard the destroyer Dickerson.

Escorted by the Dickerson, some time the latter part of this month, the Iowa, under her own steam will take her place in view of the whole Atlantic fleet, it was stated, and then be sunk. The idea of dismantling a vessel that has held its own at sea is to navy men just as gruesome as an execution. Sinking a ship in its own element with big shells is another matter and when the Iowa takes her last long dive into the deep there will be no mourners.

It has not been determined exactly how the old man of war is going to be sunk, but it probably will be done with big guns from the dreadnoughts of the fleet.

Tests of the armor-plating qualities of new projectiles and new guns are to be made in addition to the tests of the radio control. The old vessel is slow and to a certain extent unwieldy.

For two years the Ohio has been the control ship of the Iowa but with the little Dickerson usurping her place, the Ohio will be stripped of all removable parts and probably placed on sale with others of the fighting ships that were.

RESTORATION OF FORT URGED

(By Associated Press)
HAVANA, Apr. 12.—Voluntary subscriptions are pouring into Diaro De La Marina from Spaniards throughout Cuba for the restoration of the port known as "El Viso," near Santiago, capture of which by American forces on July 1, 1898, resulted in heavy casualties.

The restored structure will also serve as a memorial to General Vara del Rey, who lost his life in the fighting as Caney. Initiation of the subscription has resulted in the battle of Caney being fought all over again in minutes, detail by contributors to Diaro De La Marina.

MANY RUSSIAN FURS OFFERED

(By Associated Press)
MOSCOW, Apr. 12.—A huge quantity of new Russian furs, stored in a warehouse near the Kremlin and regarded by the Soviet government as part of its national treasury, is expected to be placed on the market early next fall.

The immense stock, consisting largely of astrachan, sable and ermine, is the largest single supply of furs in Russia, and will be held in reserve until the Soviets have re-established their world trade sufficiently to obtain a good market.

While this supply is not for sale, the national treasury continues to operate a retail department where mink, fox and other of the cheaper skins are sold. The public has unshaken confidence in this branch of the government, for it has found the furs to be in good condition, well tanned and reasonable in price. A monkey skin large enough for a man's overcoat could be had last winter for about $20 and other furs were in proportion. A few hundred miles from Moscow, however, the prices are 50 per cent lower, as money is scarcer.

Many of the skins selling at high prices in Central Europe or the United States have no special value in Russia. One of the is sable marten. A fair grade of this fur may be had for $2 and an entire coat, consisting of 60 or 70 skins, will sell for $40 or $50. While silver fox is relatively rare here, it may be had for approximately the same price as sable, which sells for about $7.

All these skins bring five times as much as soon as they cross the frontier.

HUGE HOTEL IS ON WHEELS

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Apr. 12.—A modern hotel on wheels with a capacity of 6,000 guests will be operated by the Illinois Central system in the heart of downtown New Orleans during the triennial convocation of the Grand Commandery, Knights Templar, April 24 to 27. The hotel will consist of 250 sleeping cars. The yards of the railroad are being enlarged to provide parking space for the cars, and eleven new tracks are being built and three of the permanent tracks extended.

The sleeping cars will be operated on the plan of a miniature city, with each car a house. Walks will be laid, lights installed and a water supply arranged for. Dining cars will be parked about the "city" to furnish meals and a warehouse adjoining the yards will be converted into a temporary club house.
