OPENING BILL OF TAYLOR BROTHERS WILL BE "SAINTS AND SINNERS"

Taylor Brothers' comedians have announced "Saints and Sinners" as their opening performance in our city at their big 10th theatre next Monday night.
This play is a four-act comedy drama and "shows off" each member of the company to good advantage as well as putting into use of some nice stage settings. The show carries a carload of scenery and electrical effects and therefore is able to stage their plays as they are staged in the largest cities.
A new play will be presented each night of the company's stay in our city and the doors will open each evening at 7:30, while the performances will commence at 8:15.
Taylor Brothers' comedians in the one show on the road that guarantees to please or refund any admission price.

The Eustachian Tube.
The Eustachian tube gets its name from an Italian physician to whom Pope Pius IV granted permission to dissect human bodies in the furtherance of anatomical knowledge. Original manuscripts of his works have just come to light.

Mrs. Harriet McDonald has charge of the program at the Neighborhood Club Tuesday afternoon and it promises to be a very good one.
This is English Literature day and Mrs. McDonald will give readings from that most popular of English novelists, Charles Dickens.
Each reading will be illustrated by a tableau, under the direction of Mrs. Donald Parue.
There will be "Little Nell and her Grandfather" in their wandering.
The Fat Boy, wakening long enough to show himself.
The pathetic death of "Little Paul," as he goes out with the tide.
"Mow" waiting for something to turn up.
David Copperfield's early love, the child-wife, Dora, and Agnes, the wife of his heart.
All these will step before us in Tuesday's program.

Now that the Lenten season is over the Elks will resume their dances given in the Elks Lodge room. The first of the series will be held on Tuesday evening.
