The Screen

THREE FAMOUS STARS IN "THE SLEEP WALKER."

"The Hennessey troupe" That's what facetious persons called the Constant-Hinney company as it made "The Sleep Walker" for Famous Players-Lasky Corporation. The remark was called for by the fact that the production has "three stars," same as a well-known pre-Volstead drink manufactured by a certain "Hennessey."

The "three stars" of "The Sleep Walker," which comes to the Arcade Theatre Thursday only, are Constance Binney, star of the production; Florence Roberts, famous old-time stage star in "Zaza," "Sapho," and "The Eternal Madelon"; and Cleo Ridgely, star and co-star in Paramount pictures, who, after a prolonged plunge into private life, recently returned to the screen.

The story deals with the experience of an innocent convent girl suddenly drawn into a vortex of intrigue, complicated in a thrillingly dramatic manner by her own habit of sleepwalking. The fact that it was written by Aubrey Stauffer, former theatre owner and manager, is offered as proof of its possession of audience quality. Wells Hastings wrote the scenario while Edward La Saint directed. The supporting players are excellent.

A two-reel comedy will also be shown.

AT SHERRY'S LAST DAY.

One of the most unusual roles ever seen in a motion picture is that portrayed by Betty Compton, new Paramount star, in her first starring vehicle, "At the End of the World."

Miss Compton is seen as a broken-down Englishman who runs a cafe and gambling palace in Shanghai, China. She grows up in the atmosphere of the gay resort, serving as a lure for her father's establishment, yet, taking perfect care of herself and possessing fine qualities that are still dormant. Then comes romance, and into this romance breaks the emotions of the lives of other men who are made desperate by her charms. The role is a severe test of the emotional powers of any actress, and Miss Compton is said to have executed it with the same skill and in the same convincing manner in which she portrayed her exacting part in George Fitzmaurice's "The Miracle Man."

TAYLOR BROTHERS' COMEDIANS SCORE ANOTHER HIT.

"Marion Grey," a four act comedy drama, highly pleased another crowded house at the big tent theatre last night, where Taylor Bros' Comedians are appearing all this week.

The show for this evening is a farce comedy, "Some Baby," and the management of the show states that they'll give one dollar for every minute any spectator can prove they are not laughing during the entire four acts.

New vaudeville specialties will be offered by Jack Taylor, "Toby" West, and Grace Fields.
