ANDERSON QUILTS THE TERRITORY

For years V. H. Anderson has traveled through this territory representing the Forster Paper company of Portland, but he will travel no more. He made a resolution the first of the year that he was going to spend his time with his family in Boise and yesterday he made his last trip over the trail telling everyone goodbye. He will enter the job printing business in Boise.

Mr. Anderson is succeeded by L. W. Lowry, a veteran paper salesman, who will take up the work where Anderson quit. Mr. Lowry will fall heir to all the troubles of Eddie Brown, who years ago was a stunning character among the traveling men and also the troubles of Mr. Anderson, who followed Brown's tempestuous career. Both Brown and Anderson were good business getters and the Zelle-tachs of San Francisco have counted many a dividend from the work of these two gentlemen in the sage brush country. No doubt Mr. Lowry will keep up the old time business record for the house that once honored the sight drafts drawn by Brown and Anderson.

RESTAURANT IS OVERHAULED

The City Restaurant, owned by John Anthony, has just undergone a complete renovation and is now "spick and span" and is open for business again. Mr. Anthony has been proprietor of the establishment for the past three years and is striving to give his customers the best and cleanest service possible.

The restaurant has been repainted, the counters and fixtures re-varnished, new linoleum has been laid and the show window has been improved. New electric lights have been installed and Mr. Anthony announces that he has ordered a large seven-foot electric sign to erect over the door. The kitchen has also been thoroughly gone over and presents a much improved appearance.
