ELINOR GLYN PRAISES

HEROINE AND

"An extremely attractive heroine and hero!"

Thus does Elinor Glyn, famous British novelist, characterize Gloria Swanson, the star and Rodolph Valentino, leading man in "Beyond the Rocks," a superb Paramount feature which comes to the Arcade theatre Thursday.

Madam Glyn made a rush trip from Europe to Hollywood in 12 days, for the purpose of aiding and assisting director Sam Wood in the making of the new picture, which was adapted from one of her most popular novels.

"It seems so good to see you all again—after the many pleasant memories of 'The Great Moment,' recalled Miss Swanson. It will be recalled that that picture was also based on one of Madam Glyn's stories.

The noted novelist remained on the set every day until the picture was completed, giving many valuable suggestions drawn from her knowledge of the places and people concerned and from the fact that she, being the author, had visualized exactly the characters she had drawn.

"THE LOST ROMANCE" BEAUTIFULLY STAGED

A beautiful setting, built after the Spanish type of architecture, and costing several thousand dollars, forms the background for the principal scenes in William de Mille's latest Paramount production, "The Lost Romance," which is at the Arcade theatre today and Wednesday.

The setting is supposedly located in the mountains of California and consists of three large rooms, with a beautifully finished exterior and gardens. These gardens are the perfect handiwork of skilled landscape decorators. Climbing vines, flowers, graceful trees are beautifully arranged, and a pretty fountain graces the center of the little patio. All of this was set up on the studio stage floor.

Romance is the outstanding theme of the picture, and the setting, which is supposedly the home of Aunt Betty, a pretty woman of mature years who has been disappointed in love in her younger days, in design and effect is such that it inspires romance.

The story was written by Edward Knoblock, author of "Kismet" and other famous stage successes. Olga Printzlau wrote the scenario. The principals in the cast are Fontaine La Rue, who portrays Aunt Betty, Lois Wilson, as the girl, and Jack Holt and Conrad Nagel as the rivals for her love.

Lois Wilson, Jack Holt and Conrad Nagel will be recalled for their splendid work in William de Mille's production "Midsummer Madness."

"KENTUCKY SUE" IS TAYLOR

"KIOSK" SHOW FOR TONIGHT

A drama of the Kentucky hills is "Kentucky Sue," tonight's show at Taylor Brothers big tent theater. Based on a famous and widely read book this story is well known to thousands throughout America and Taylor Brothers started this morning that it is one of their best bills.

The different members of the company appear in roles different from any so far presented and "Toby," the funny comedian has an especially good comedy part. With clear weather it will not be an easy job to find a seat tonight unless you get around a little early.

SIX MARRIED COUPLES IN THIS NEW COMEDY

There are six married couples represented in the cast of "The Matrimony a Failure," the new Paramount special comedy, directed by James Cruze which comes to the Sherry theatre today and tomorrow.

As suggested by the title, this is a comedy of matrimonial errors and although the picture presents and discusses in a highly humorous vein, the question, it doesn't attempt to answer it, but closes, as it begins, with a large interrogation point.

The six families are played by the following well-known screen artists: T. Roy Barnes and Lila Lee, Lois Wilson and Walter Hiers, Zasu Pitts and Arthur Hoyt, Lillian Leighton and Tully Marshall, Sylvia Ashton and Otto Harlan and Charles Ogle and Ethel Wales. In addition to these there are several other important characters, which make this cast one of the largest assemblages of screen luminaries ever seen.

The stage success "The Open Door" was the basis for this new comedy, which was scripted by Walter Woods.

Also showing "The Deserter," a comedy.

We wish to announce that Howard Grayley is no longer employed by us.—W. A. Benham. 5-8-21

Is Your Car Short of Breath?

WHY MOTORS NEED NEW PISTONS

Piston wear occurs in every motor. And, with the wearing of pistons, the piston pins and rings also wear. No wear in motor, or car, makes itself so thoroughly evident as does the wear in these important parts. This is why replacement of pistons, piston pins and rings has become so universal—why so many good shops, and so many good mechanics, now make a specialty of regrounding cylinders and the replacement of pistons, piston pins and rings.

Despite the best lubrication possible, each of your pistons, as it travels up and down, wears against the cylinder walls. Have you ever thought how fast, and how far, these pistons travel in going back and forth, back and forth, up and down, millions of times through the cylinders? One "mathematical sharp" figures that in 10,000 miles of automobile travel a single piston in the average six-cylinder motor makes over 50,000,000 strokes up and down the cylinder walls. Therefore it is easy to understand why pistons, piston pins and piston rings wear—even with the best of lubrication.
