"BEYOND THE ROCKS" SCREENED UNDER SUPERVISION OF ELINOR GLYN FAMOUS AUTHOR.

The verandah of the Cafe Ritz in Paris affords one of the many intensely interesting scenes in "Beyond the Rocks," the Paramount picturization of Elinor Glyn's famous novel, in which Gloria Swanson is starred and which is screening today, Friday and Saturday at the Arcade Theatre. Here at the customer's tables are grouped exactly the types that one would find in this exclusive establishment for satisfying the inner man and also pleasing the eye and ear. At one table is seated a couple of the bourgeoisie, as is plainly discernible by their appearance and dress and parvenu is stamped in every thought; their expensive attire, over elaborate; their way of eating and talking. But between them sits the daughter of the house—and the excuse for their presence in the Ritz select confines—for she is lovely and refined and sweet as a rare flower. At another table is a typical continental woman in perfect taste, with a gentleman apparently of some foreign court. At another table sits an elderly man with startling whiskers who laughs and indulges in repartee with his vis-a-vis. Over there is Rodolph Valentino—looking his part of the young English baronet with Spanish ancestry. He rises as Alec Francis, playing the father of Theodora, enters accompanied by Gloria Swanson, who has the stellar role of the last named character. They meet and Valentino takes all in perfect taste—and extreme care was exhibited in this as in every phase of the story, Mme. Glyn being present to care for every bit of detail, and assist Sam Wood, the director, in.

matters which her long association with people of the types herein described has rendered second nature to her. And she personally supervised the rearrangement of the coiffures of several of the people who played atmosphere—and very important atmosphere—in the scene. On one occasion she took a paint brush and went over the hair of a butler to make it conform to what she felt was the proper effect. Never did anyone take a keener interest in these matters than the distinguished British author. She was on the set early and late, always ready to advise and actually jump in and do the work if necessary of rearranging minor or great details. In this picture which Jack Cunningham adapted and Thompson Buchannan supervised, Gloria Swanson is cast in a role that is romantic in the extreme and affords her unusual opportunities for the display of her skill and talent in emotional acting and enables her to wear exquisite gowns and look her loveliest. The story is one of love, fervent, enduring, romantic. It is the tale of a mismatching, of the undeniable demands of real love for a bearing and the call of youth to youth. It is Elinor Glyn at her best and it points, faithful, to a moral that is strong and useful, that none may scoff at love and escape unscathed. "TOM MOORE IN "FROM THE GROUND UP" AT SHERRYS One of the happiest and breeziest comedies in which laughing Tom Moore has ever appeared, Rupert Hughes' new Goldwyn comedy, "From the Ground Up," is coming to the Sherry Theatre today for two days. Mr. Hughes wrote the story around the genial personality and the acting ability of Tom Moore and it fits him perfectly. The star gives a delightful impersonation of an Irishman who comes to this country and can't be kept down as he did in the other Hughes comedy, "Hold Your Horses," adjudged one of the star's ablest and most popular impersonations. In "From the Ground Up," Mr. Moore acts the role of Terence Gully, valet to a steam shovel, who soon becomes a contractor and wins for his wife the daughter of the man who planned the giant skyscraper about which much of the action hinges. Helene Chadwick, who has appeared in a number of Rupert Hughes' photoplays, is cast as Phyllis Mortimer, daughter of the builder, and keeps that character always interesting. Others in the cast are Hardee Kirkland and Darrell Foss. E. Mason Hopper directed. Also showing "Miracles of the Jungle."

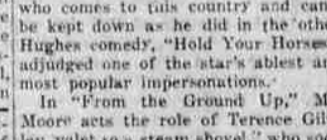

Round-Up," a western comedy-drama in four acts. Though its locale is that of the west, it also has its city ride and gives the company another chance to "dress up," some fetching gowns being worn by the women, while the men's attire will be in keeping with the latest styles. Some very good comedy in the play is handled by "Toby" West, the popular comedian, and the rest of the company all have good roles, and the play is staged correctly.

WHY MOTORS NEED NEW PISTONS. Piston wear occurs in every motor. And, with the wearing of pistons, the piston pins and rings also wear. No wear in motor, or car, makes itself so thoroughly evident as does the wear in these important parts. This is why replacement of pistons, piston pins and rings, has become so universal—why so many good shops, and so many good mechanics, now make a specialty of regrounding cylinders and the replacement of pistons, piston pins and rings. Despite the best lubrication possible, each of your pistons, as it travels up and down, wears against the cylinder walls. Have you ever thought how fast, and how far, these pistons travel in going back and forth, back and forth, up and down, millions of times through the cylinders? One "mathematical sharp" figure that in 10,000 miles of automobile travel a single piston in the average six-cylinder motor makes over 50,000,000 strokes up and down the cylinder walls. Therefore it is easy to understand why pistons, piston pins and piston rings wear—even with the best of lubrication.
