

Chairman Nelson Comes Out for R. J. Kitchen

When seen today Senator Eberhard said he had heard something about the Nelson message and that he was not alarmed about the matter at all. He said Mr. Nelson and some of his friends had left the Eberhard camp all right but that the loss would not be heavy and would be replaced by other support.

Political War Rips Umatilla. Probably the fiercest political struggle ever witnessed in Umatilla is on right now, and it is reported that the religious fight has swept Eberhard to the whirlpool over in that county, placing his name along with Charlie Hall's for governor.

J. T. Hinkle, who had been counting on the support which has now apparently gone to Kitchen in Umatilla county, will probably have to replace the votes he will lose at home with votes elsewhere if the present situation does not change before Friday.

During the few years just preceding the Revolutionary War while the colonists were heavily burthened with taxation of all kinds, "Poor Richard's" axioms of thrift helped many a man to make ends meet.
