Saves Precious Radium.
The radium used in making luminous paint may amount in a year to a whole grain. Even that is really a heavy drain on our tiny supply. Luckily, science has discovered a substitute in mesothorium, a by-product in the manufacture of incandescent gas mantles.

It's Fun to Refinish It Yourself
—We'll Tell You How

Personal Observation. "More money at home and defying poverty," advises an advertisement. We know a man who took this advice too literally and found it impossible to defy the law regarding counterfeiters.

Beware of Carelessness. The unusual man is sometimes careless; the average man is frequently careless; the shiftless man is habitually careless. Don't indulge in carelessness; it breeds ruin and disaster.
